SENATORS RUSH RETIREMENT PAY FOR HIGH COURT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—While voting to postpone until March 9 the public hearings on President Roosevelt's judiciary reorganization bill which would permit him to pack the Supreme court with six New Dealers, the senate judiciary committee today reported favorably the Sumners bill authorizing voluntary retirement on full pay of Supreme court justices 70 years old. Full pay would be $20,000 a year.

Edward A. O'Neal.

The strategy of the administration leaders is to rush the voluntary retirement measure, already passed by the house, to final action in the senate, this week if possible, in the hope that two or more of the six justices now over 70 years old will take the hint and leave the bench.

After the passage of the voluntary retirement bill hearings will begin on the President's plan to appoint a new justice for each member of the court over 70 who refuses to retire.

Delay on "Cracking Down."

The administration then will wait "a reasonable" period of time, thirty to sixty days, according to senators with the best information, and if none of the present members of the court takes advantage of the retirement privileges the President again will "crack down" on the judiciary, reminding congress that the justices have had their opportunity. Then the final drive to put over the "packing" bill will begin.

While the meeting of the judiciary committee was in progress, Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace took Edward A. O'Neal of Chicago, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, and other leaders of that group to the White House, where the entire legislative program demanded by the farmers was discussed. It was expected that the farm bureau federation would come out with a statement indorsing the President's plan to pack the Supreme court and thus offset the opposition already expressed by the National Grange, oldest nonpartisan farm organization.

O'Neal Noncommittal.

However, Mr. O'Neal was noncommittal on the Supreme court scheme, saying:

"The American Farm Bureau federation has taken no action on the President's plan for judical reform. Some state organizations are for it and some are against it.

"We talked to the President about our whole agricultural legislative program, including finances, crop insurance, tenant farming and crop control. The constitution and the federal judiciary reform issue was up for discussion as part of the whole legislative program, but there was no consensus expressed during the conference."

Seeks Farm-Labor Aid.

The administration is appealing primarily to organized labor and the farmers for support of the President's scheme to pack the Supreme court, but so far most of the farmers have been openly hostile or noncommittal. Organized labor, however, has acceded to the President's wishes and both the A. F. of L. and John L. Lewis' organizations are circularizing

EX-STABLE BOY CALLED RIVAL OF EXILED KING

Admirer 'Rushes' Edward's Fiancee.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CANNES, France, Feb. 22.—Edward, the duke of Windsor, has a would-be rival for the affections of Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson in the person of Nicolas Zographos, famous Greek gambler, who has become her ardent admirer.

This news has had the Riviera humming with gossip since a party ten days ago, when Zographos sat next to Mrs. Simpson at her table, danced with her, and would not quit her side until she rushed home for the nightly phone call from Enzesfeld, Austria, where the former king of England is in voluntary exile.

Appear at Cafés Together.

There has not been the slightest evidence of any change in Mrs. Simpson's affection for the ex-king, but she has appeared on two or three occasions with Zographos at restaurants here.

Mrs. Simpson is continuing to shop at establishments of smart dressmakers and jewelers, presumably for her trousseau, but Riviera residents confidently predict that she will never marry Edward. Interrogated, these residents shrug their shoulders and say, "Wait and see!"

If pressed for explanations, they admit that no concrete evidence exists to support their predictions, but insist that time will tell they are right.

Zographos, who is in his middle forties, is not especially handsome, but is said to have remarkable charm. He retired from active gambling three years ago with a fortune reported to be $25,000,000. Many of his relatives still gamble for him and he is said to have a share of every baccarat game played in French casinos.

Has Social Aspirations.

During his gambling career he attended strictly to business and never mixed socially with his clients. He dined nightly with one or two business associates — always the same ones. Since his retirement from active gambling he has acquired social aspirations.

"He never wastes time," say those who know him. "He gets what he goes after—always."

On Feb. 12 Henry Clews, youthful American resident of Cannes, gave a dinner for Mrs. Simpson at one of the leading restaurants. Among the twenty-three guests were Zographos and his favorite nephew, who plays for him at a casino here.

Ears were pricked up in Cannes at news that Zographos sat next to the guest of honor, for at least half a dozen others normally would have been placed ahead of him. And the Riviera notices such points!

One rumor had it that Zographos inspired the party, but did not give it himself because he did not feel in a position to invite Mrs. Simpson. A storm was created when a news photographer managed to snap a picture of Mrs. Simpson dancing with Zographos. The photographer escaped with his plates.

CLEANED OUT KING MANUEL.

If Nicolas Zographos, the former Athens stable boy who learned the French language in a Cairo dive, feels that he can win the heart of Mrs. Simpson, he may be counting on the star of fortune which shone on him for so long behind the green tables.

Around Deauville, France, they still talk about the night in 1929 when he cleaned out King Manuel of Portugal, André Citröen, "the Henry Ford of France," and August Homburg, the Parisian banker, and then ordered a bottle of champagne with no more show of satisfaction than one of those animated figures they use in show windows of which onlookers are reminded when they watch his deliberate movements.

At the height of his gambling career, Zographos had a lucky streak which lasted thirty consecutive nights, seldom winning less than $500,000 a night. At the tables he talked in monosyllables and his voice sounded as if he had a cold. His impassiveness bordered on grouchiness.

Somerset, Pa., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Police had trouble handling Frank C. Monaghan, 64 year old hotel keeper, when they arrested him in Uniontown last fall on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He stabbed the arresting officer, Detective John C. Wall, but finally was lodged in jail.

The elderly prisoner still was belligerent the next day when officers questioned him but they subdued him with a "third degree" that killed him, it is charged. He died shortly after his drubbing in which doctors said he incurred fractures of the skull, nose, and jaw, and eleven fractured ribs.

Spectators Stand on Chairs.

Today a strapping young state trooper, on trial for the hotel proprietor's murder, described how he manhandled the old man during the jail fracas which resulted in the indictment of five policemen and District Attorney James A. Reilly and his assistant.

Spectators stood on their chairs to watch the officer, Stacey Gunderman, who was suspended for his part in what his superior termed "a most atrocious crime against justice," willingly demonstrate how he threw the 64 year old man over his head, jumped on him, and struck him in the face. The young man said he acted in self-defense.

Gunderman used a brother officer graphically to show how he defended himself. Expertly seizing Sergt. James Pierce with a jiu-jitsu hold, the burly defendant tossed him into the air. Pierce came down with a thud, lay still for a moment, and then was led out of the room for air.

Strikes Prisoner in Face.

The courtroom was quiet as Gunderman told the story of how the old man died while being questioned.

"He jumped on my back," the officer related, "but I threw him over my head with a jiu-jitsu hold. Then I jumped on him, my knees hitting him in the ribs and chest.

"He rolled out from under me but I pinned him down on the hard surfaced floor. I kept on top of him. He kicked me and I hit him twice in the face. He staggered back against the wall and fell down.

"I got him up and put him in the washroom. I had him there a couple of seconds to wash the blood from his face. He was standing by the wash bowl, leaning on it. When I went to get a towel he fell. He evidently fainted or something."

"Was it necessary to jump on him?" asked Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, prosecuting the case.

"He was a vicious man," the trooper replied.

Settle Strike Where Detroit Boss Also Sat

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 23 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Alfred R. Glancy, volunteer mediator, announced the settlement early today of the four day sitdown strikes of President Walter L. Fry and 110 of the employés of the Fry Products company.

Glancy, until 1930 president of the Oakland Motor Car company and vice president of the General Motors corporation, in a statement said:

"The strike was settled at midnight after a four hour discussion with representatives of the company's employés. We will not mention the terms of the settlement. All we have to say is that it has been amicably settled by both parties and work will be resumed Thursday.

First Employer to Sit Down.

"All parties have agreed to refrain from making any further statements or discussing the terms of the settlement."

Previously Fry, who achieved the distinction of being the nation's first employer to engage in a sitdown strike when his employés sat down, had said he was in search of some method to end the epidemic of sitdown strikes by labor.

"First," he said, "I want to work out some plan to prevent this thing ever happening again in my own plant.

"We must do more than organize, however. There is something basically wrong when workers who have been as close to me as my own family can be turned against me overnight. I'm not interested in any organization to fight labor, but I will take off my hat and coat to fight for labor."

Begin Sitdown Friday.

Fry's company is Fry Products, Inc., which manufactures automobile seat covers. Approximately 110 of the 350 employés, most of them women, began a sitdown strike Friday.

Fry, president and chief salesman, began his own sitdown strike at the same time, announcing to his employés that "if you won't work, then I won't go out and get orders to provide you with work."

"In this strike of mine," Fry said, "I have tried to demonstrate to my workers, who seem to believe that I can't get along without them, that they can't get along without me, either."

Charge C.I.O. Double Cross on 'Sit' Parley

Representatives of the strikers and of the company were speeding to Springfield early today for a peace conference with Gov. Horner in the sitdown strike of the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation plant at North Chicago.

But the company representatives, when informed as they boarded an Illinois Central train here that the sitters' delegation is composed of Committee for Industrial Organization leaders, exclaimed that they had been double crossed. Robert J. Aitchison, president of the company, said the company representatives would never meet with the C. I. O. group, even if refusal meant failure to see the governor.

Company Proposes Parley.

With the strike in its sixth day yesterday, Aitchison telegraphed Martin P. Durkin, director of the Illinois department of labor, who was in Springfield conferring on the strike with the governor, proposing that a committee of three company men meet with the governor and a committee of three actual sitters. Aitchison emphasized that no outsiders [meaning professional labor organizers representing the C. I. O.] be present.

On receiving the message the governor issued an invitation for a conference at Springfield at 11 a. m. today. Aitchison accepted and left for Chicago with Dr. Frank H. Driggs, the company research director, and H. A. Anslem, plant superintendent, to take a train to Springfield.

Meyer Adelman, C. I. O. organizer, conferred with Thurlow Lewis of Springfield, counsel for the Illinois division of the United Mine Workers of America, who came here yesterday to join the strike's board of strategy, and Joseph Jacobs, attorney for the strikers' union. After a half hour telephone conference with Durkin they accepted the invitation.

Pick C. I. O. Representatives.

The three then drove to the plant and told the sitters of the plan. The sitters, however, instead of naming three of their own number, approved the three C. I. O. men as their representatives in the parleys. These three then started to Springfield by automobile.

The governor's invitation duplicated the situation of last Saturday night. At that time Aitchison said the company would confer with the governor and a committee from the ranks of the actual sitters. But when Adelman insisted on representing the sitters Aitchison declined the invitation. Last night, however, Aitchison accepted, in the belief, he said at the station, that the sitters would speak for themselves.

Aitchison and his group, when informed of the C. I. O. coup, only had two minutes to decide whether to go on to Springfield or cancel the trip. They decided to go on, they said, to show good faith.

Two more strikers left the plant last night, Chester Hook and Edward Lindberg, both of Waukegan. There are believed to be about seventy strikers in the plant. They are members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and are demanding recognition of the union, a C. I. O. affiliate. Distributor points for automobiles and fine wire for radio equipment are manufactured in the $1,500,000 plant.

INQUIRY AIMED AT UNION FOE OF BOSS HAGUE

Rosoff Still Dodges Jersey Officials.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Political reverberations in this city and neighboring New Jersey became evident tonight in the investigation of the murder of Norman Redwood, official of a tunnel workers' union. Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, state Democratic boss, ordered authorities to press the investigation.

Frank Hague.

Joseph Fay, one of the most powerful labor leaders in New Jersey and head of the Hoisting Engineers' union, which had been embroiled in a violent jurisdictional fight with Redwood's union, is a political enemy of Hague. The bitter rivalry between the two unions is figuring prominently in the slaying investigation.

On the other hand, heading the inquiry is a Hague henchman, John J. Breslin, prosecuting attorney of Bergen county, New Jersey, in which Redwood was slain last Friday night.

Rosoff Defies Prosecutor.

Rosoff, who was having trouble with Redwood's union and is wanted as a material witness in connection with the slaying, has refused to go to New Jersey on the grounds that the prosecutor would put him in jail. Rosoff's attorney is Jonah J. Goldstein, a former judge of the New York Supreme court.

Rosoff rose from a newsboy to the world's biggest builder of subways. His contracts for this construction work in New York have reached a total of 40 million dollars. Such municipal contracts are usually the result of political affiliations. Rosoff has declared that he contributes both to Tammany hall and to the Republican party.

Vote $25,000 for Inquiry.

The freeholders of Bergen county, at a special session, today blamed New York politics and gunmen for Redwood's slaying. They voted $25,000 for Breslin's investigation and the prosecutor announced that he would ask a detail of six trained detectives from Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia to help in the inquiry since "New York is responsible."

Redwood, president of the executive board of the Compressed Air Workers' union, local 102, was shot to death in the driveway of his home at Teaneck, N. J. The slayer or slayers fired four shots from ambush as the union official opened the door of his automobile. Then the killers fled in an automobile.

Police found a .38 caliber revolver about 600 yards from the scene of the murder. Tonight it was identified as having been once owned by Carroll Potter, chief of police at Demarest, a town near Hackensack, N. J. Potter, now dead, purchased the gun from a police supply shop in Manhattan.

Tracing of Gun Thwarted.

When the gun was bought it bore a two inch barrel. When the police found it a four inch barrel had replaced the original one so that the ballistic markings would be different from the gun bearing the serial numbers. Four shots from this pistol ended Redwood's life.

Prosecutor Breslin's hopes that the weapon could be promptly traced were shattered tonight when Potter's son, Ben, was unable to shed any light on how the pistol found its way into the killers' hands.

When his father died, young Potter said, he left three pistols, one of which was the property of the Demarest police department. This one, the son said, he returned to the police. The other two he still has in his possession.

Convinced young Potter was telling the truth, investigators said the probable explanation of the mystery was that the police chief bought the weapon used in slaying Redwood for an unhamed friend instead of for himself.

Breslin holds the theory that a gang of four or five hired killers committed the murder. One of his witnesses is a 12 year old girl who saw several men drive away from the scene in an automobile following a salvo of shots.

Official attention was centered on Rosoff in the early stages of the investigation when authorities learned that members of Redwood's union have been on strike at the Wards Island sewer job, a Rosoff project. Breslin announced he had in his possession an affidavit in which Rosoff was accused of threatening to kill Redwood.

Rosoff insisted, however, that he harbored no ill will against Redwood, and to demonstrate his friendship has offered to pay a reward of $5,000 "for the arrest and conviction of the killer or killers."

Doubt Rosoff Will Cross Line.

Breslin on Saturday issued a warrant for the arrest of Rosoff as a material witness. The contractor was arrested in New York and paroled to the custody of Attorney Goldstein. Tomorrow Rosoff is scheduled to appear before Supreme Court Justice Aaron Levy, when Jersey officials will demand his surrender. The hearing is on a writ of habeas corpus.

Doubt has been expressed, however, that Jersey authorities will be able to "persuade" Rosoff to cross the state line. He is not extraditable as a witness, a fact brought into prominence a few months ago when Gov. Harold Hoffman of New Jersey refused to authorize the extradition to New York of witnesses wanted in the Paul H. Wendel kidnaping case.

Rosoff stayed in his hotel apartment here most of the day today. His only appearance was when he came out of the building in riding togs and went for a short canter in Central park.

GANGLAND 'RIDE' RELATED

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The story of a gangland "ride" was retold in court today by one of eight defendants indicted on charges of participating in a $2,000,000 a year restaurant extortion racket.

The story came from Irving Epstein, an official of Local 302 of the Delicatessen Countermen and Cafeteria Workers union, as the trial entered its sixth week. He said it was the deathbed description given him by Abe Borson, another union official, fatally wounded by hoodlums who took him for a "ride" Nov. 11, 1933.

Epstein, who testified that he fled to California because of the fear of gangsters who threatened to "take over our union," first told how he was taken by state police to a Mt. Kisco hospital, where Borson, mortally wounded, gasped out his story.

Phone Call Recalled.

"I asked him what happened," Epstein said. "He said 'before I tell you, how did you get here—did you get a policeman? They were after you, too.'"

Epstein said he told Borson he came with a policeman.

"He told me he was at home when he got a phone call from a man who said he was a secret service agent," Epstein continued, "and he told Borson to come downstairs to identify a picket they had under arrest.

"Borson told me he didn't even take time to put his jacket on, just a topcoat, and that the men showed him a badge. They took him to a car in which was one of our men who was picketing the 42nd street cafeteria. One of the men showed the badge and stuck a gun in his side and told him to get in.

Told to "Say Prayers."

"They took him [Borson] up to Bronx River parkway and when he asked where they were going they said Albany. 'Don't worry,' they said, 'you are going where you won't be dead.'"

Then, Epstein testified, Borson told him the gangster car turned off on another road and stopped.

"The car stopped and they told him to get out," said Epstein. "He and the picket got out and they were told to say their prayers.

"The picket began to run in one direction and Borson in another and they shot Borson. The picket got away."

Borson died three days later.

Epstein testified that his union, during his absence, assessed each member $5 to make up a $2,500 fund to pay off hoodlums attempting to "take over the union."

WIFE IS FOUND DEAD IN MYSTERY; HUSBAND HUNTED

Carl E. Olson, former manager of several small hotels in the city, was sought by the Hyde Park police last night for questioning in connection with the mysterious death of his wife, Marie, 38 years old, in their room at the Boulevard Manor hotel, 1430 Hyde Park boulevard.

Mrs. Olson was found dead in bed at 3:30 p. m. yesterday by a hotel maid. A bottle which had contained chloroform and a box with two sleeping tablets remaining in it were found on a table beside the bed. Police said they learned Olson had bought the chloroform Sunday.

Olson, who is 45 years old, has been missing since Sunday morning when he left his dog with the engineer of the South Lake hotel, 4711 Kenwood avenue, which Olson and his wife managed until Olson was discharged on Feb. 14 for drinking, according to the police report.

Mrs. Olson's mother, Mrs. Marie Ketcham, 11216 Vincennes avenue, gave the police a letter which she received from Olson yesterday. In it he wrote that his wife had been friendly with Robert J. Cristin of the Lake Ridge hotel, 4665 Lake Park avenue, who formerly lived at the South Lake hotel. Cristin was also sought for questioning last night.

Freak Wind Causes Plane Accident; Flight Canceled

A freak gust of wind swung an Eastern Airlines Douglas DC-2 airliner against a hangar wall at Chicago airport yesterday and damaged the leading edge of one wing. Although less than four feet of the wing was dented by the impact, and none of the plane's essential structure was injured, the pilot and operations officials canceled the regular 2 o'clock departure of the Miami Flyer. "The airplane could have been flown but an absolutely safety first policy dictated that we should not take any chance, however remote," said Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, the concern's general manager, who was in Chicago yesterday.

DIVORCED PEER REWEDS; DREAM BABY'S FATHER

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Lord Ampthill, recently divorced by the wife with whom he waged a fight over the legitimacy of their son a decade ago, today was married to Miss Sibell Faithfull Lumley in the Kensington Registry office.

Baroness Ampthill, proprietor of a fashionable Mayfair dress shop, was granted a final divorce decree last month. Lord Ampthill's engagement to Miss Lumley was announced the first of this month.

Divorce proceedings were instituted by the present Lord Ampthill in 1922. He contended that Geoffrey Russell, "dream baby" now 16, was not his son. He obtained a decree nisi, but the baroness succeeded in an appeal to the house of lords in 1924 and two years later established the legitimacy of her son in court.

PARK POLICEMAN DIRECTING TRAFIC IS KILLED BY CAR

Driver Fails to Heed Signal to Stop.

Bernard Klinke, 40 years old, a park policeman, was struck and killed last night by an automobile while directing rush hour trafic at Cornelia avenue and Sheridan road.

As many policemen do where there are no signal lights, Klinke was handling the trafic with a red lantern in his hand. Witnesses said he blew his whistle to stop the north bound lane, and swung the lantern, then started to the curb to escort Mrs. Lee Schliff, 609 Stratford place, and her daughter, Gladys, across the street.

Driver Held for Inquest.

At this moment a north bound car, driven by George H. Gamber, 57 years old, 4444 Monticello avenue, a retired mail carrier, struck Klinke, dragging him 60 feet. Gamber said he failed to see the lantern or hear the whistle. He was held for the inquest today.

Policeman Klinke lived at 2805 North Kedzie avenue and had been on the force thirteen years. In 1933 Klinke won the first $25 weekly award made by THE TRIBUNE for outstanding acts of courtesy among city and park policemen. He showed unusual zeal in aiding visitors to A Century of Progress exposition. He was cited for bravery in aiding in the capture of one of the Drake hotel robbers in 1925.

Killed on Walk by Cab.

Mrs. Minnie Gross, 40 years old, 4321 Lemoyne street, was fatally injured last night by a cab which plunged over the curb at Kildare and Grand avenues and struck her on the sidewalk. The cab, driven by Thomas Sloan, 45 years old, 4229 North Keystone avenue, was knocked out of control when an to driven by Carl Larson, 41 years old, 3618 North Lotus avenue, collided with it. Mrs. Gross died at Danish-American hospital. Mrs. Violet Duckworth, 42 years old, 3170 West Monroe street, passenger in the cab, was treated at the hospital for shock.

Two men were killed yesterday afternoon when their automobiles, traveling at high speed, collided at Plum Grove and Golf roads three miles south of Palatine. The victims, only occupants of the cars, were Jacob Tay, 68 years old, 1413 Millard avenue, a medicine salesman, and Louis A. Benhardt, 54 years old, of Roselle, a railroad employé.

Dead When Police Arrive.

Benhardt's machine overturned, and he was pinned beneath it. Tay was thrown fifteen feet from his car. Both men were dead when county highway police arrived from Morton Grove.

At the request of Martin McNally, attorney for the estate of Mrs. Susan Van Allen, who was fatally injured by the automobile of Policeman Joseph Connelly on Saturday, the inquest into her death was continued yesterday until March 5. The attorney promised Deputy Coroner Chris McGarigle that he would then produce witnesses who would testify that Policeman Connelly was intoxicated when his car ran over the curb at

From Jan. 1 to 4 p. m. yesterday 146 persons were killed by motor vehicles in Cook county, according to the coroner's office. In that period 118 were killed and 2,943 injured in Chicago.

Your Nose Is a Safeguard from Millions of Germs!

Don't Let It Fail You!

Everybody knows that when your nostrils are stopped up with mucus and you have to breathe through the mouth, it's mighty unpleasant. But what is still worse, it actually endangers health.

Do you know that your nose has countless tiny hairs which actually filter out millions of germs as well as other impurities in the air and keep them from entering your system? And that the nose also has intricate passageways that warm the air and keep it from entering your lungs too cold.

That is why you cannot risk neglecting your nose as a safeguard bestowed on you by Mother Nature. If your nostrils are stopped up with mucus, open them at once. You can do this quickly with Mentholatum. It breaks up the accumulated mucus, enabling you to breathe more freely through the nostrils, thus getting the vital protection that Nature has planned for you.

CHRYSLER NEXT, HEADS OF AUTO UNION DECLARE

General Motors Parley Moves Slowly.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—The powerful auto workers' union pointed its next drive for recognition at the Chrysler corporation tonight as its representatives sought to negotiate unfinished business left by the huge General Motors strike.

R. T. Frankensteen. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, said a telegram would be sent some time this week to Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board of his big company, asking that the union be recognized as the sole bargaining agency for all Chrysler employés.

Martin asserted that the union does not seek a closed shop at Chrysler plants. Richard T. Frankensteen, organizational director of the union, however, said the only demand made on the company would be sole recognition of the union.

Claims Control of Groups.

The U. A. W. A. already claims control of most of the employé representation groups, which it terms company unions, in the Chrysler plants.

The company employs about 77,000 persons, of whom 50,000 are hourly production workers. Although the concern has plants in nine cities 60,000 of its workers are employed in Detroit in the general offices, the Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge and De Soto plants, and parts units.

What effect the union's proposed demand on Chrysler will have on the General Motors negotiations was a matter of speculation. Anyway, the negotiators have been making very little progress.

In nearly a week of conferences they have disposed only of the question of how different grievances may be adjusted. Still to be settled are the all important questions of wages, hours of employment and the "speed up" in the asembly plants.

Seniority Rights Discussed.

The conferees today continued discussions of seniority rights. The union still seeks seniority based only on length of service while the company persists in its demand for a seniority based on dependents and skill. However, both sides agree to the placing of highly skilled "key" workers in a special classification.

The union has asked wages "commensurate with an American standard of living," a thirty hour work week and six hour work day, and mutual agreement on production speed in each plant.

Other labor controversies in this strike afflicted city included a lockout of 300 workmen in a steel castings plant and a strike of 300 women employés of a laundry.

FIFTH WEST SIDE APARTMENT SET AFIRE BY THIEF

An incendiary fire was set last night in an apartment at 311 South Springfield avenue, apparently by the same burglar who has ransacked four other houses and set them ablaze in the Fillmore district during the last week. The interiors of the five, all apartments within an area of a few square blocks, were ruined by the flames and the amount of the burglar's loot has not been determined. The apartment which was burned last night is on the first floor of a three story brick building at the Springfield avenue address and is the home of David Jacobson. The burglar, entering in the absence of the family, set fires in two closets. Smoke drove occupants out of thirty other flats in the building before the fire was brought under control by firemen from the 18th battalion.

Last Thursday fires were set a few hours apart in apartments at 4004 West End avenue and 3912 Jackson boulevard. The next day the incendiarist set ablaze apartments at 3459 Monroe street and 8 South St. Louis avenue. Fire Attorney Thomas Sheehan was coöperating in the investigation last night with Capt. John P. Ryan of the Fillmore police.

Seek Divorces in Hollywood Today

MRS. WESLEY RUGGLES (ARLINE JUDGE).

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mankiewicz.

Film Folk

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Two screen romances are due to reach an official end tomorrow when Arline Judge, movie actress, and Mrs. Elizabeth Mankiewicz appear before Superior Judge Fletcher Bowron in quest of divorces from Wesley Ruggles, motion picture director, and Joseph L. Mankiewicz, screen writer and producer.

Demanding a decree from Ruggles, Miss Judge complains that he neglected her and their son Charles Wesley Ruggles, 4 years old, and that on one occasion he left her at home to keep an appointment with another woman.

Mrs. Mankiewicz charges that her husband was overcritical of her household management and that he often told her he no longer loved her.

NEW MARRIAGE LAW PROPOSED FOR WISCONSIN

Will Require Tests of Both Parties.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—A bill proposing to make it compulsory for both parties to a contemplated marriage in Wisconsin to take the Wassermann test for syphilis will shortly be introduced in the state legislature.

The measure, regarded as a significant step in the renewed fight against this dreaded social disease, will be presented, it was learned today, by Assemblyman Vernon Thomson [R., Richland Center], who is serving his second term in the lower house. In support of the bill he is drafting, Thomson pointed out that it would not only be more effective, but that it also would be minus features which brought defeat to a similar measure during the 1935 session.

Omits Objectionable Feature.

That bill proposed to extend the mandatory pre-marriage physical examination, now required only of the male, to both contracting parties. Its defeat was attributed to the necessary physical exposure required for such an examination. Thomson's bill, it is believed, will be invulnerable to such an attack since its Wassermann provision requires nothing more than a blood test.

An official of the state board of health, who preferred not to be quoted, said today that he regarded Thomson's proposed bill as an important step in the right direction in the fight to blot out syphilis.

"It does not involve the requirements that proved so objectionable two years ago and it provides the most effective weapon at our command in checking the spread of syphilis—the Wassermann blood test," he explained.

Present Law Affects Males.

Wisconsin's present pre-marriage law, passed in 1913, provides that only the male present a clean bill of health.

Wisconsin launched its first concentrated drive against venereal diseases in 1919 under the Chamberlain-Kahn act.

The records reveal a story of slow but steady progress. The number of reported venereal disease cases in the communicable stage dropped more than 30 per cent from 1922 to 1936.

Ex-Mayor of Ashland, Neb., Swallows Poison in Hotel

Carl W. Harnsberger, 40 years old, identified by papers in his possession as a former mayor of Ashland, Neb., attempted suicide last night by swallowing poison in his room at the Y. M. C. A. hotel, 826 South Wabash avenue. He was taken to the County hospital, where his condition was reported as critical. Police were unable to question him last night.

MONEY MACHINE GRINDS FOR DUPE WHO BUYS NOT

Two swindlers who tried to sell a money-making machine to Harry Metropoulos, 2175 Warner avenue, an auto salesman, were in jail last night and Metropoulos was $5 richer. A man who called himself Oscar Howard demonstrated his machine to Metropoulos on Feb. 10 at the Morrison hotel. In went a blank piece of paper—out came a crisp $5 bill, which was given to Metropoulos to test its genuineness. He arranged a meeting with Howard for yesterday and then reported the case to Lieut. Edward Kelly of the detective bureau.

Sergts. Nicholas Downey and John Warren seized Howard, who is 52 years old, and Thomas Robinson, 73, in a hotel at 929 Wilson avenue. They did not find the money machine. Robinson said Metropoulos ought to be arrested for getting the $5 by false pretenses.

ROUTED BY FIRE

Twenty of the 150 residents of the Wayne Manor apartments at 6928 Wayne avenue escaped down firemen's ladders early yesterday during a fire that caused $5,000 damage to the building. The fire, of undetermined origin, started in the second floor apartment of Charles Bemis, filling corridors of the six story structure with dense smoke. Firemen who responded to a 2-11 alarm helped trapped residents to safety.

COOL WIFE GIVES MATE COLD RIDE TO A WARM CELL

Oak Park Finds Its Tears Wasted on Husband.

Walter W. Meyer, clerk in a loop department store, was free on bond yesterday after a night spent in the Oak Park lockup as central figure in a mystery. The mystery was why a husband should ride the running board of an automobile on a cold winter night while inside, with windows shut tight, his wife talked with a stranger.

The version circulated during the day was that Meyer happened to approach his mother-in-law's home at 1036 South Taylor avenue in Oak Park Sunday evening just in time to find his wife, Kay, 28 years old, and the other man in the triangle.

A Spectacular Leap.

She came down the steps and, with a stranger, entered a car which Meyer recognized as his own. Faced with the loss of both his wife and his automobile, he ran to the car and with a flying leap landed on the running board just as it pulled away. The car gathered speed. Meyer had been angry. Now he was scared and cold.

"Stop! Let me off! Help!" he shouted.

But the car went on. Meyer could see his wife and the stranger talking animatedly. They paid no attention to him.

Leave Meyer in Cell.

There Mrs. Meyer and the stranger had Meyer arrested for disorderly conduct. Then they drove away, leaving the chilled Meyer in a cell. Such was the version of the mystery, with public sympathy going to the husband who was left out in the cold.

But Mrs. Meyer's story, as she related it to Judge Martin McGrath of Oak Park did much to clear up the mystery.

"We separated last October," she said. "I live at mother's and he at 6910 Lowe avenue in Chicago, but he has been coming around here annoying me. I needed money and decided to sell the car, which is in my name. A salesman drove it around to take me to see a prospective buyer. Walter interfered, so we took him to the police station."

IDENTIFY BABY LEFT AT HOME; FATHER IS HELD

The 3 month old baby boy who was abandoned on Feb. 13 at the Home Club for Working Mothers, 6625 South Racine avenue, was identified last night as Kenneth Wayne Schue. His father, Fred Schue, 25 years old, 4150 Monroe street, a stockyards clerk, after being arrested earlier in the day, said his wife, Frances, is a patient at Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium.

The child was placed in a private home by the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society two weeks after it was born, but Schue took the boy away and left him on the doorstep of the club because he was unable to pay the society $18 a month for the child's support. The boy now is back in the private home.

Hold Davenport Woman on Bad Check Charge

Miss Lee Bedell, 35 years old, was arrested last night in her apartment at 4526 Sheridan road and held at the detective bureau for authorities of Davenport, Ia., where she is charged with passing worthless checks. Miss Bedell said that she is to be arraigned here Friday before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a charge of possessing narcotics.

FATHER OF TEN IS SLAIN IN HIS RIFLE GALLERY

Julius Rohde, 67 years old, father of ten children, was found beaten to death last night in an office adjoining the shooting gallery which he operated at 1616 Madison street. A .22 caliber target pistol was missing from the gallery racks. Wounds on Rohde's head indicated, according to Sergt. John Racek of the Warren avenue police, that his assailant clubbed him to death with the weapon.

The motive for the slaying puzzled police. They inclined to a robbery theory, but they found $4 in Rohde's pockets, and the contents of the cash register in the gallery offered no convincing clew. One of Rohde's sons, Bruno, said he did not know that his father had any enemies. The slain man formerly was in the concession business.

A target rifle which lay at Rohde's feet was examined for finger prints last night. The condition of the targets indicated that the assailant was shooting at them just before Rohde was murdered. Rohde lived at 6836 South Artesian avenue with his wife, Josephine.

Drop Hunt for Girl's Killer, Mother of Victim Urges

An inquest was held yesterday over Helen Shimanski, 20 years old, 908 North 21st avenue, Melrose Park, who died Sunday in the Chicago State hospital. A medical report showed that death was caused by blood poisoning from injuries suffered while fighting off a rapist shortly before last Christmas. A skull fracture suffered in the same encounter left her insane. The girl's mother, Stella, a witness at the inquest, asked that the search for the rapist be dropped, but the inquest was continued until March 9.

BRITISH SCIENCE GROUP DEBUNKS ANTI-GAS PLANS

'Gasproof' Rooms Called Death Chambers.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—A group of skeptical Cambridge scientists has splashed the first cold water on Britain's new enthusiasm for anti-gas and anti-air raid precautions.

Scoffing at the patriots who pass around gas masks at tea parties, the scientists published a book on experiments they conducted to test the home office's suggested safeguards.

Masks Only Partly Efficient.

They declare:

1. An average person could remain alive in the ordinary "gas proof" chamber only about three hours.

2. If the room were made "gas tight" it would be too small to live in for 12 hours.

3. The gas mask will give only a limited amount of protection—and that only to healthy adults with cool heads.

4. The cost of making buildings impenetrable by incendiary bombs is prohibitive and even an improved fire department could not cope with such an attack.

Censure Measures for Children.

The doubting scientists also censured the government's plan to protect children, contending the "gas proof" baby carriage has the same limitations as the "gas proof" room.

The "gas proof" room suggestion by the home office was tested by two volunteer debunkers. They released deadly carbon monoxide in a "gas proof" room and found the fumes leaked out so fast they did no harm. Hence, they figured, gas fumes would leak in just as fast.

Smoking cayenne pepper in a closed garage helped challenge the infallibility of gas masks. A masked volunteer coughed when he stood within a foot of the smoking pepper.

Supreme Tribunal Is Sole Guard of Liberty.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Dictator Hitler's move to impose a single church upon the German people has furnished a text for the opponents of the legislation proposed by President Roosevelt to enable him to pack the Supreme court with a majority that will decide his way on the laws.

Hitler, backed by a majority of the German population comparable to the proportion of the American people that reëlected Mr. Roosevelt, has subjected the legislative and judicial branches of the German government to his will. Germans can no longer look to the courts to protect them in worshiping God according to the dictates of conscience.

If the Roosevelt judiciary bill should be passed, say its opponents, the Supreme court will be subordinated to the executive and legislative branches and will cease to be an effective protection of rights transgressed by the President and congress.

It Could Happen Here.

In view of the ascendancy of the Ku Klux Klan in congress barely a decade ago it is no far-fetched suggestion, it is contended, that at some future time an executive and a congress might set up a state church and deprive all but its communicants of the rights of public worship. With the Supreme court reduced to an appendage of the executive, the constitutional safeguard of the freedom of worship would be invoked in vain.

Throughout our history the Supreme court has been a bulwark against all sorts of persecution and intolerance. In our own generation it struck down the Oregon law discriminating against parochial schools. The Nebraska, Iowa and Ohio laws prohibiting the teaching of German in public schools was a manifestation of war born intolerance that received short shrift from the tribunal.

The anti-German laws were invalidated for violation of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution providing that "no state . . . shall deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law."

What Court Said.

In the decision delivered by Associate Justice McReynolds the court said:

"While this court has not attempted to define with exactness the liberty thus guaranteed, the term has received much consideration and some of the included things have been definitely stated. Without doubt, it denotes not merely freedom from bodily restraint but also the right of the individual to contract, to engage in any of the common occupations of life, to acquire useful knowledge, to marry, establish a home and bring up children, to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, and generally to enjoy those privileges long recognized at common law at essential to the orderly pursuit of happiness by free men."

Parochial Law Opinion.

Also delivering the court's decision knocking out the Oregon anti-parochial school law, Justice McReynolds said that "the fundamental theory of liberty upon which all governments in this Union repose excludes any general power of the state to standardize its children by forcing them to accept instruction from public teachers only. The child is not the mere creature of the state; those who nurture him and direct his destiny have the right, coupled with the high duty, to recognize and prepare him for additional obligations."

The church affiliations of members of the court follow: Hughes, Baptist; Butler, Roman Catholic; Brandeis, Jewish; McReynolds, Campbellite; Cardozo, Jewish; Roberts, Episcopalian; Van Devanter, Methodist; Stone, Episcopalian; Sutherland, unknown.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—With her mother, Mrs. Eugene du Pont, at her bedside after a hasty trip from a North Carolina resort, Miss Ethel du Pont, 21 year old fiancée of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., today was reported as "doing very well." She was operated for acute appendicitis yesterday. Commander Morton D. Willcutts, chief of the surgical staf at the naval hospital, said his patient had spent a comfortable night.

Miss du Pont, a member of the famous Wilmington family, was stricken at the White House shortly before noon yesterday. Mrs. Roosevelt and young Franklin accompanied her when she was rushed to the hospital in a naval ambulance.

Dr. Willcutts said he expected no complications although the attack was acute. He said the operation was performed in time to preclude unfavorable results.

TWO SCOUTS SAVE LIFE AT RISK OF OWN; GET MEDALS

For saving a life at the risk of their own, Philip Mitchell, 17 years old, a Boy Scout of Rock Island, Ill., and William Richardson, 16 years old, a Sea Scout of Davenport, Ia., were each presented with the James C. Russell medal last night. It was the fifth award of the medal by the Combat Medal Men's association for "the outstanding act of heroism of the year" by a Scout or a son of a war veteran.

The presentation was made by Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, world war ace, and Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, U. S. A., retired, in the Morrison hotel. More than a thousand guests, including hundreds of Scouts in uniform, were present.

Last May 30 Mitchell and Richardson plunged into the Mississippi river from the deck of a fast cruiser to save a cabin boy.

BAR PRESIDENT HITS PACKING OF SUPREME COURT

Would Mean Tyranny, He Declares.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Frederick H. Stinchfield of Minneapolis, president of the American Bar association, said today President Roosevelt's plan to reorganize the Supreme court would establish a "tyranny."

F. H. Stinchfield.

In a Washington's birthday address Stinchfield asserted:

"The proposal made by the President will destroy the Supreme court. From that destruction will come fundamental changes in the constitution of the United States.

"For every judge over 70 who won't resign, the President will appoint another of his own choosing, an offset, as it were, to the man whose interpretation of the constitution he doesn't like. If the President can accomplish his purpose in no other way, he will have 15 judges on the Supreme court.

Will Pick His Men.

"It is as certain as anything mortal can be certain that the men selected will be those whose views indicate with utter directness their willingness and intention to support the laws which congress, under the instructions of the administration, have or shall pass. The result is necessarily clear.

"To uphold those laws the constitution would then be so construed as to sustain all the legislation asked for heretofore or hereafter by the administration. The constitution would have been changed just as completely as if by the way of amendment; except, however, that if amendment were undertaken, you and your state could have a voice and the Supreme court would not be violated."

Recalling Supreme court invalidation of New Deal legislation during the last four years, Stinchfield said:

"With the declaration by the Supreme court of the invalidity of these laws, the President has been utterly dissatisfied. He has been angry, as other Presidents have seldom been, that his will has been thwarted. Law followed law out of congress, forced by the executive.

Determination Increases.

"Some men said that the plan was so to load the statute books with invalid laws, each, please note, pleasing to certain large groups of voters, that the Supreme court would be so harassed that its sound judgment would be influenced. That hope has not been realized. But the determination to have all their laws approved has not lessened with the administration; the determination has increased.

"Concentration of power has always meant disaster to the common man. Why should we believe the result will be otherwise now?"

Warns of Dictatorship.

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Dictatorship is just around the corner, George Tracy Buckingham, Chicago attorney, said in attacking President Roosevelt's Supreme court proposal in a speech at the 39th annual Creve Coeur club Washington day banquet here tonight.

"It is easy, a step at a time, by easy stages, to establish a dictator, but once established, it is impossible to get rid of him," Buckingham declared.

"But, says some optimistic soul, 'that can't happen here.' And to this I answer, measuring my words, it is happening here."

MUSSOLINI DECREES DEATH FOR ETHIOPIANS WHO BOMBED VICEROY

ADDIS ABABA, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Italy's makers of a new Roman empire, stung by an assassin's attack on their new viceroy, ordered the firing squad instead of the peacemaker for unruly Ethiopians tonight. The attack was made during a celebration to honor the birt of a son to the Italian crown princess at Naples.

From Rome Premier Benito Mussolini decreed:

1. Summary execution for the natives who, on pretense of receiving gifts, threw hand grenades that wounded Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, the viceroy.

2. Death for every native chieftain or officer who opposes Italian troops, even in the territory yet unoccupied.

Already, 2,000 native suspects and witnesses in last Friday's bombing have been rounded up; 30,000 troops are in the Addis Ababa garrison and speedy court martials are to function. Italian troops today tore into various sections of the capital city in mopping up operations. Besides the viceroy, believed more seriously wounded than first indicated but reported "improved," those hurt Friday included the Abuna Cyril, Coptic bishop of Ethiopia, and Aviation General Aurelio Liotta.

Central Illinois Voters Oppose Court Packing

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Central Illinois voters, according to a newspaper poll, are opposed to President Roosevelt's proposed changes in the Supreme court. Balloting, which came to an end today, showed 3,623 for the plan and 4,197 against it.

BAR MEMBERS OF INDIANA AGAINST ALTERING COURTS

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Attorneys and judges of Indiana are overwhelmingly opposed to President Roosevelt's proposed legislation that would increase the number of judges in the United States Supreme court and in federal district courts, it was disclosed today with the announcement of the results of a state-wide poll taken by the Indiana State Bar association.

A vote of 4 to 1 was reported against increasing the number of Supreme court justices, while the ratio against increasing the number of judges in federal district courts was 2 to 1.

Thomas C. Batchelor, secretary of the bar group, said this is the first time an effort has been made to sound the sentiment of the entire legal profession in any state. He said 4,500 questionnaires were sent out.

their memberships, urging pressure on members of congress.

The judiciary committee's vote reporting the voluntary retirement bill was 13 to 5 against the proposition. Senator William H. King [D., Utah], Burke, Key Pitman [D., Nev.], William E. Borah [R., Idaho], and Frederick Steiwer [R., Orc.], voted against reporting the bill. Senator Pittman, the president pro-tempore of the senate and a supporter of the President's bill to add six justices, voted against the voluntary retirement measure because the committee rejected an amendment he proposed. It would have authorized the Supreme court, by a two-thirds vote, to call back retired justices, with their consent, for service on particular cases. The bill authorizes the chief justice to assign retired justices, with their consent, to Circuit court duty.

Borah's Change Beaten.

Senator Borah offered an amendment striking out the provision for Circuit court duty, but it was rejected by a vote of 12 to 6.

Senator Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.], served notice that, at the proper time, he would move to separate section 1 of the President's bill, which would permit him to name six new justices, from the other provisions dealing with direct appeals to the Supreme court and intervention by the justice department in cases involving the constitutionality of congressional acts.

Senator Van Nuys has no objection to the minor procedural reform provisions of the bill but wants the Supreme court packing provision, which he vehemently opposes, to be considered separately on its own merits.

Senator Pat McCarran [D., Nev.], chairman of the subcommittee which first considered the retirement bill, was authorized to report it and he said he hoped it could be called up for action Wednesday.

CITE WASHINGTON AGAINST PACKING SUPREME COURT

Birthday Is Occasion of Solemn Warnings.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington's birthday celebrations were given an unusual significance yesterday by the Supreme court issue, which was made the subject of several addresses in memory of the first President.

In a discussion of "The President and the Supreme Court," at the City club, Attorney Walter F. Dodd, constitutional lawyer and former professor of law at Yale, quoted from Washington's Farewell Address in support of his views on the issue now before the country. The excerpt follows:

"If in the opinion of the people the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for though this in one instance may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed. The precedent must always overbalance in permanent evil any partial or transient benefit which the use can at any time yield."

Finds Striking Parallel.

This expression, Mr. Dodd said, is strikingly applicable to the present situation.

"There is no need," he said, "for more judges to do the work of the Supreme court. Stripped of statements which seek to tell the American public that there is such need, and that at least six of the present justices are incompetent because of age, the President's deliberately stated proposal is to pack the court in order, through opinions obtained from a subservient court, to obtain results which otherwise would require constitutional change. This is the first time in history that such a proposal has been made.

"It may be that the President, congress, and our state legislatures can be relied upon to determine what individual rights are to be protected against national and state impairment, yet I, for one, am unwilling to surrender to these political departments, or to a subservient court, the protection of freedom of speech and of the press so ably maintained by the Supreme court."

"The present plan, if once successfully used by an executive to accomplish his purpose, will continue to be employed. And if the courts may be controled in this manner as to public issues, they must cease to be trusted as impartial arbiters of private rights."

Gathers Public's Opinion.

Wilbur Helm, former president of the Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution and secretary of the conference of Methodist laymen, spoke on the "Spirit of the Constitution" before the Order of American Kindred at the Sherman hotel. While preparing his address, Mr. Helm said that he discussed Roosevelt's Supreme court scheme with scores of business, professional, and tradesmen and that what he had written was a cross-section of their opinions.

"All of them," he said, "seemed surprised and shocked that the President should make such a suggestion, and particularly that he should do it so suddenly and secretively, in view of his failure to discuss it during the campaign and in view of certain statements indicating that his policy toward the court and the constitution would be conservative."

A resolution was passed authorizing William C. Wakefield, president of the order, to send this telegram to the President:

"As an organization of Americans who are descendants of first citizens under the constitution to you, our President, likewise under obligation to defend institutions created by our forefathers, we implore you to heed the dictates of unselfish patriotism, as did he whose birthday we this day commemorate, and to temper any urge of ambition for a larger measure of personal power than the spirit of our constitution justifies."

Preservation of the integrity of the Supreme court was the keynote of speakers at a luncheon held at the Hotel Stevens by the Daughters of the American Revolution. Ferre C. Watkins, past commander of the Illinois American Legion, the principal speaker, declared it was the foremost duty of every patriotic organization in America to halt the Roosevelt move to pack the court.

Patriotic Groups Meet.

The Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Oak Park chapter, and the George Rogers Clark chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held a joint meeting in Oak Park last night. Floyd E. Thompson, former justice of the state Supreme court, and Attorney Frederick C. Harbour were the speakers.

Dr. Horace J. Bridges spoke at the program given by the Chicago Woman's club. Members of the Boy Scouts of America, Chicago council, gathered before the statue of Washington at the Art institute, repeated the pledge of allegiance to the flag and placed a wreath there.

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR DRINKING

DRINKING A FINE ART, BUT IT'S A SHUDDER IN U. S.

Liquor Official Deplores Bathtub Gin Hangover.

Americans own a free style, catch-as-catch can technique of drinking which is a holdover from the prohibition era, or the bathtub gin days. Instead of enjoying their liquor and wine they suffer a series of shuddering jolts and await results, never long delayed.

In other words drinking has fallen from its high estate as an art, a solace, and a pleasure, and has become crude and rude.

These are the views of Harry L. Lourie, executive secretary of the National Association of Alcoholic Beverage Importers, one of the delegates to the convention of the National Retail Liquor Package Stores association at the Hotel Sherman. Mr. Lourie, an accomplished drinker himself, views with alarm the increase of what he calls the "clothespin drinker."

The "Three Shudder Trend."

This, Mr. Lourie explained last evening, is also known as the "three shudder trend."

"A clothespin or three shudder drinker is one who picks up a shot glass full of a fine old rye, Bourbon, or corn in his right hand, gestures vaguely with his left and then tosses it off with an expert flick," said he.

"The fine old liquor splashes against the back of his throat, gushes down into his stomach and begins to burn. Here the drinker gives three shudders, wipes his lips with the back of his hand and announces: 'There was a drink.'

"The drinker might just as well have clamped a clothespin over his nose for all the pleasure he gets out of a drink taken that way," insists Mr. Lourie. "He couldn't possibly have tasted the drink. All he got was the shock of its arrival in the stomach.

Get Flavor by Sniffing.

"It's my contention that any liquor fit to drink is fit to sip. You only get the flavor of a liquor by sniffing its aroma.

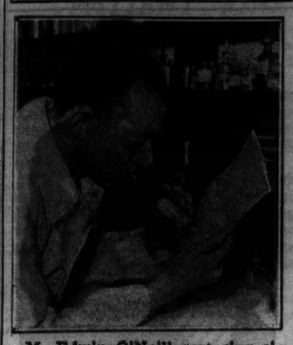
"The average American drinker thinks the bartender is cheating a little if he fails to pour a wine glass completely full. No. It is the custom to leave an inch or so of rim above the wine so that the drinker can get the concentrated aroma."

VICTORY DINNERS TO PAY DEFICIT FOR DEMOCRATS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—(AP)—W. Forbes Morgan, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, appealed to loyal Democrats tonight to help pay off a $430,000 party debt by attending victory dinners throughout the country on March 4.

President Roosevelt will address a $100 a plate dinner in Washington and his speech will be broadcast to all of the other dinners. Prices range downward from the Washington $100 top.

RESTORES INK



M. Edwin O'Neill restoring signature with his funnel. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

A device to make restoration of obliterated writing a matter of seconds rather than hours has been perfected by M. Edwin O'Neill, an instructor at the Northwestern university crime detection laboratory, it was announced yesterday. Using sulphocyanic acid, O'Neill has developed an applicator which can be carried easily in a coat pocket for field work. By applying vapor from the acid original writing in any of the blue black or black inks commonly used can be quickly restored, he said, because the acid is a sensitive reagent in testing the iron components of these inks.

ROOSEVELT GETS 'LOST,' BUT POLICE FINALLY FIND HIM

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt got "lost" today on his way back from Mount Vernon, where he laid a wreath on the tomb of George Washington on the 205th anniversary of his predecessor's birthday, or maybe it was his escort of motorcycle police who went astray.

At any rate, the President and Mrs. L. C. Hambley, wife of one of his distant relatives and old neighbors in Dutchess county, N. Y., rode for several miles without benefit of cycle escort on the trip toward Washington.

The President's car left the main highway at Alexandria to drop Mrs. Hambley at her home in the country near that Virginia city, a proceeding which caused considerable confusion. The motorcycle escort went in one direction and the President's car proceeded in the other. It was several minutes before they got together again.

Mrs. Inez Greer, 42 years old, of Dixon, was given a chance last night to recover from injuries incurred in a plunge yesterday morning from the ninth floor of the Mozart apartments, 102 East Chestnut street. A wire netting covering the skylight to the building's basement engine room broke Mrs. Greer's fall and prevented her death. At Passavant hospital she was found to have two broken legs and an injured spine.

Mrs. Greer came to Chicago Saturday with her daughter, Imogene, 19 years old, a student at Illinois Wesleyan university, and went to the apartment of a sister, Miss Edith Walker. She was dressing preparatory to entering Presbyterian hospital for a heart ailment when the plunge occurred, the daughter told police.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MOTHERS ARE RESPONSIBLE

The family looks to you to aid your doctor in keeping them well. You can help prevent much illness and poor health by guarding them from common constipation.

Most constipation comes from faulty diet — meals low in "bulk." This condition can be corrected so easily and pleasantly.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides the safe way to prevent constipation by putting "bulk" back in the diet. Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft mass which gently sponges out the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron. It is so much better for your family than constant dosing with artificial pills and drugs.

Two tablespoonfuls daily as a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes, are enough for the average person. Three times daily in severe cases.

SHARPENED APPRECIATION

By CALEB

"FOR over three days I had not a drop to drink, no water, no milk, no tea, no coffee—nothing! Oh, a few teaspoons of maddening medicine, yes. And I had nothing to eat!

"I would sleep fitfully, dreaming of sherbets, waterfalls, and torrents of water. And awaken to a torment of thirst.

"I felt as though, through this dehydration process, I was being shriveled and dried to the state of a mummy. Have you ever been thirsty? Really thirsty? Have you ever stopped to think what a magnificent and superb thing a glass of water really is? Talk about appreciation! A drink of water to me now is a great boon—something to be taken reverently and with thanksgiving. My appreciation has been sharpened!"

THUS did a friend relate the story of his enforced privation. We look around us and see people in good health with robust bodies, normal appetites, and sound minds, who could live with great satisfaction—but they get practically no excitation or satisfaction out of life because they overlook the value of "normalcy."

People who drive matter-of-factly along our lake shore to work in the morning are driving where visitors from across the continent pause and drink in the ever-changing beauty to delight their senses. We who see this every day fail to really see it, for our appreciation is dulled.

Let the man whose diet has taken from him the privilege of eating a steak or chicken dinner tell you what a blessing you have in normal digestion.

Man and his little circle of activities on earth are packed with things miraculously enjoyable and beautiful. It is too bad that the rush and routine of modern living dulls our sensitiveness.

If everyone in merchandising could appraise from a detached viewpoint the satisfactions there are in serving as part of the vast mechanism of merchandising which moves the world's products into the hands of consumers, it would be seen that that, too, is a boon and a blessing. Merchandisers are the funnels through which flow a high percentage of the things which make life pleasant and enjoyable.

In our business there are always some people who can stand off, as it were, from time to time and see what the sale of satisfying merchandise means in perspective. Those people take pride in their positions and in their privilege of passing good things along to you. They are the people whose appreciations are not dulled.

PLEA FOR FRESH CORONATION CASH STARTS A RUMPUS

Scheme to Spend Large Sum for Show Attacked.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The prospect of a coronation fiasco such as was theatened by the abdication of King Edward VIII. of England in December was raised in the house of commons tonight by Labor members of parliament. They challenged the government's supplementary estimate of 152,000 pounds sterling [$760,000] for expenditure by the office of works in connection with the coronation of King George VI. on May 12.

The money is required for the erection and decoration of public stands along the procession route, flood lighting buildings, and other paraphernalia usually associated with a royal show.

Object to Funds for Seats.

Headed by Joseph Batey, left wing Laborite who represents Spennymoor in the hard hit Durham textile area, extremists criticized the government's proposal to spend about £140,000 [$700,000] in providing 85,000 seats on the procession route. These seats would be sold at 15 shillings [$3.75] and 22 shillings 6 pence each [$5.50], showing a loss of nearly 50 per cent to be met by taxpayers.

Batey demanded a guarantee that the coronation really would take place.

"I want to ask the financial secretary to the treasury if he can assure the house that the coronation is coming off this time," Batey said. "Is there any likelihood of a hitch? Is there any danger that after all these arrangements there will not be any coronation?"

Hints It's a Political Trick.

The fiery Laborite then accused the government of having staged the late King George's silver jubilee celebrations to help it win the general election. He asked whether it proposed to use the coronation in the same way.

He contrasted the expenditure on the coronation to the treatment meted out to the idle and concluded:

"It would be in far better taste to abolish the 'means test' [requirements made in administering the dole], then the government might safely ask the house to agree to the coronation expenditure."

Other speakers protested against the profiteering that is going on among private speculators and suggested a special tax on coronation profits. Willie Gallacher, the communist, argued that any public money spent for erecting stands should be used to provide free accommodation for the idle.

Demands Entertainment Tax.

"That does not mean that the unemployed have any special desire to see the coronation," he added, suggesting that the losses which the government faces in selling seats for approximately 50 per cent below cost would have been better employed in providing meals for the idle to celebrate the occasion.

He demanded that sightseers be charged an entertainment tax.

Opponents of the government's proposals mustered only a handful of votes, however, and the supplementary estimates were approved by a vote of 238 to 11.

Earlier in the evening Viscount Cranborne, undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, disclosed that Haile Selassie, exiled emperor of Ethiopia, and the Madrid Popular Front government had been invited to send representatives to the coronation.

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—The American humorous weekly magazine Judge has been barred from Germany until further notice. Heinrich Himmler decreed the prohibition as German police chief under the "law for protection of the people and state." According to the propaganda ministry, the principal cause of the prohibition was a special Jewish number issued recently. Attacks on German state and its leaders also brought complaints.

GAMBLING KING WOOING WALLY, RIVIERA HEARS

Always a Gambler.

"What's the use of talking?" he would say. "I have no secrets. I was born in Greece. I learned my French in a dive, but I can't write it. I have always gambled. That's why I came to France. I'll go on gambling until I die, I guess."

At that time, when it was his custom to spend his summers in Deauville and the winters in Cannes, his friends called him "Nickey, the world's biggest gambler." In the fall he usually went to Baule, on the Breton coast.

At Deauville he used to arise at 3 p. m. After having breakfast he would walk, with a step that was rather a trot, to the casino, arriving at 5 p. m. It was said that he always took a dip in the sea and drank one glass of strong liquor before seating himself at the gaming table. From then on he never spoke a word until it was time to break up the play.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars might have been at stake, but his hand never wavered. He dealt cards as if he were a robot.

Played $4,000 Stacks.

Small fry had no appeal for this frail, short appearing gambler, whose large head was bald in front, but he began to show some interest when the croupier called: "Messieurs, en taille a banque ouverte! Tous les enjeux tenus!" This meant that the play was to be with open bank and that any one who desired to venture as much as $500,000 on the green cloth could have his turn. "Nickey" would play $4,000 stacks of chips if he could find an opponent of that caliber.

When he trotted back and forth between the hotel and the casino, he caused as much excitement in the streets as half a dozen visiting statesmen. And if one cared to bribe a liveried bellboy at the casino in order to be permitted to tiptoe up to a vantage point from which to see the master gambler at play, it took a sizeable sum.

Zographos, although holder of one of the greatest known gambling fortunes, was never known to frequent Monte Carlo. He has been married, and it was said that only once did he ever permit his wife to gamble. When she ventured a few thousand francs and lost, "Nickey" did some kibitzing and she won back all she had forfeited.

MUSHES ACROSS LAKE SUPERIOR TO AID 2 BIRTHS

Bayfield, Wis., Feb. 22.—(AP)—In the face of a blizzard Dr. M. J. Robertson of Bayfield, Wis., aided by two men, early today mushed a dog team across treacherous Lake Superior ice to Madaline Island to bring two babies into the world. He attended the birth of a son to Mrs. Reuben Bissell and a daughter fifteen minutes later to Mrs. Charles Gootchie. Gootchie and Howard Russel, a settler who owns the dog team, called for the doctor. He returned here by mail sled to resume his regular practice. Madaline Island is the largest of the Apostle group.

Happiness Told

The inquest over the body of Miss Maxine Duval, 30 years old, 425 Englewood avenue, a divorcée, was continued yesterday until March 3 to give Dr. C. W. Muehlberger, coroner's chemist, an opportunity to examine a white substance which she ate a short time before she was fatally stricken.

Miss Duval never appeared happier than shortly before her death Saturday night, according to the testimony given yesterday by Willard Lenz, 4937 Northwest highway, who was to have married her next Saturday. Mrs. Alice Curran, 425 Englewood avenue, her sister and copartner in the Duval Photo Service shop, 344 West 63d street, also said her sister appeared happy and cheerful as she discussed the purchase of her trousseau.

Mrs. Curran, with whom her sister lived, said she believed death was due to heart trouble of which her sister recently complained.

DIES AT 79 AFTER FALL.

James Gould, 79 years old, 7503 Yates avenue, died yesterday in county hospital of heart disease, complicated by injuries suffered in a fall.

JEWS IN POLAND LASH DICTATOR'S NATIONALIST AIM

Assert 'Moral, Cultural Ghetto' Is Planned.

WARSAW, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Active support of more than 4,000,000 Poles for the country's new Nationalist movement was indicated tonight.

At the same time, opponents of the new cause outlined in a radio broadcast yesterday by Col. Adam Koc, spokesman for Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, Poland's strong man, sharply criticized the pro-government movement. Jews, whom sources close to Col. Koc made clear today are not wanted in Poland, were among the critics.

The few Jewish papers published in Polish recorded their disappointment, pointing out that while Col. Koc's speech was indefinite and veiled regarding the Jewish question it was clear an economic boycott against the Jews will be fostered, although violence will be frowned upon.

"Cultural Ghetto" Predicted.

[Col. Koc in his broadcast said "we cannot permit anti-Semitic acts of violence . . . but one must understand our instinct for self-defense and the struggle of Polish people for economic independence." He pleaded with the people to unite and build a strong Poland.]

A number of prominent Jews in Warsaw privately said they regarded the outlook as black and described the new movement as the first step toward the establishment of "a moral and cultural ghetto" as well as an economic boycott.

Catholic Comment Favorable.

Comments in the Catholic press, however, generally were favorable.

They stressed Koc's clear reference to the "special place" to be occupied by the Roman Catholic church "to which Poles have been faithful throughout the centuries."

DYNAMITE RAID SMASHES REBEL GRIP ON OVIEDO

City in North Spain Called "Second Alcazar."

BILBAO, Spain, Feb. 22.—(AP)—A bloody struggle raged tonight in the streets of Oviedo, "Alcazar" of the Asturian minelands in northern Spain.

Paced by reckless dynamiteros, brawny miners who light dynamite fuses from their dangling cigarets and then throw them, ten thousand government militiamen were said by President Juan Antonio Aguirre of the Basque regional régime to have seized eight streets east of the Oviedo North station.

Other government troops pushed an offensive southward on Leon, 55 miles away, to prevent help from reaching the Oviedo insurgents.

Bull Ring a Prize of Battle.

The Oviedo bull ring, a reservoir, and an asylum were captured by the government militiamen. Government guns and planes made an inferno around Pelayo barracks, chief insurgent fortress in the "martyred city" of the Asturian plain. The flames were reported spreading.

From the heights above Oviedo, medieval haven of priests from ravaging Moors, the action was viewed by the loyalist governor-general of the Asturias, Leon Belarmino Tomas.

He telegraphed Aguirre that Col. Miguel Aranda's insurgents in the stark city of war ruined churches and industrial, buildings lying but 14 miles inland from the Bay of Biscay, were cut off from food and munitions and had become "desperate."

For sheer duration the intermittent siege of Oviedo had far exceeded that of Toledo's Alcazar, where 1,200 insurgents held out for 10 weeks before they were rescued by their comrades. The city has been besieged since the start of the war.

Throw 35,000 Into Battle.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Feb. 22.—The government today threw 35,000 militiamen into the battle raging in the Jarama river sector 15 miles southeast of the capital.

Disputing the Fascist insurgents' claim that their troops had captured four and a half miles of the vital Madrid-Valencia highway between Vaciamadrid and Arganda, the government command declared loyalist troops had broken the rebels' grip on the road and had driven them back as far as San Martin de la Vega and La Maranosa.

Madrid papers asserted 450 rebels were captured Sunday and four rebel planes were shot down.

The two week's fighting for control of the road was conducted today with all the implements of war—rifles, machine guns, artillery, tanks, and planes.

Get Help from South.

The rebels apparently have been reinforced by shifting of the German and Italian troops which aided in the capture of Malaga to the Madrid sector.

On the Teruel-Saragossa-Huesca front, rebels made a thrust north of Teruel in their campaign to battle through the seventy mile stretch from Teruel to the Mediterranean sea and isolate Barcelona from the rest of loyalist Spain.

Blast Guadalajara Highway.

BEHIND THE INSURGENT FRONT NEAR MADRID, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Airplanes and artillery of the insurgent besiegers of Madrid today blasted great holes in the highway running northeast from the city to Guadalajara, making trafic hazardous along this last trunk road linking Madrid with the rest of government-held Spain.

The Guadalajara highway apparently has become the next main objective of the insurgent forces driving up the valley of the Jarama river, which flows southward east of Madrid and cuts both the Valencia and Guadalajara roads.

DOG HELPS SELF

The large German shepherd dog, which climbed on the running board of an automobile on the south side Sunday night seeking aid for an injured paw, waited unclaimed yesterday at the Animal Rescue league, 157 West Grand avenue, where the motorist, William Burger, 9921 Avenue H., took him. Several persons visited the shelter yesterday, but because of the holiday they were told to return today to see the dog.

ITALIAN YOUTH JAILED AS SPY BY MADRID COURT

MADRID, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Alejandro Pistolesi Manzoni, 17 year old son of the former secretary of the Italian air attaché, was convicted of espionage today in the "peoples' court" and sentenced to six years forced labor.

The youth was accused of receiving radio reports of both government and insurgent army movements, and of keeping a map marked to show where insurgent bombs fell on Madrid. Manzoni contended he followed the war's progress merely as a pastime.

Two others, former Deputy Miguel Carrera Castro and Alfredo Munoz Martinez, were taken into custody today on charges of signaling with lights to the Fascist air raiders that bombed Madrid last Wednesday.

Condition of Dr. Dafoe Is "Definitly Improved"

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The condition of Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, physician to the Dionne quintuplets, is "very definitly improved," his physician said tonight. However, Dr. Dafoe, suffering from influenza, probably will spend the rest of this week in the hospital.

TROOPS END WILD VIENNA WELCOME TO NAZI ENVOY

One Dead, 28 Hurt, 200 Jailed in Rioting.

VIENNA, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Seven truckloads of militiamen were rushed into Vienna tonight to forestall further demonstrations after a riotous welcome given today to German Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath during which one woman died, 28 Nazis were injured, and 200 jailed.

More than 300 fully equipped soldiers were brought from the suburbs and quarters in the former Heimwehr barracks in the center of Vienna while hundreds of government supporters staged counterdemonstrations before quiet settled on the capital.

Baron von Neurath.

While police considered means of halting a Nazi torchlight parade scheduled for tomorrow night, it was disclosed more than 400 provincial Nazis were turned back at the city limits to prevent further disorders.

Probe Report of Clubbing.

The woman victim, who was middle aged, was said to have died of a heart attack, but officials inquired into reports she had been clubbed while police curbed a slight disorder before headquarters of the Fatherland Front, which is determined to keep Austria on the "Dollfuss" road of authoritarian independence. The Nazi extremists want "Anschluss," or merger with Germany.

Rain dampened the demonstration before it reached really serious proportions, but not until it had taken on a slightly anti-Semitic and anti-communistic tinge.

Police were in firm control, though inclined to be tolerant. Police President Skubl said during the hullabaloo: "Let them howl their heads off." Yet 8,000 officers were on duty. Police estimated that 300,000 took part in the demonstration.

Economic Teamwork Urged.

In official circles, all was amiability. Guido Schmidt, who handles foreign affairs for Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, told Baron von Neurath at a luncheon that the cultural and economic coöperation of Germany and Austria was much to be desired and observed the Austro-German friendship accord of July 11, 1936, was a start in the right direction.

Baron von Neurath replied: "This demonstration that Austria will identify herself as a German state is a worthy continuation of the work of Hitler [Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler] and Schuschnigg."

PETRIFIED WALL OF HEART CUT; PATIENT 'FINE'

It was the first time the delicate operation had been performed in San Francisco by the surgeon who first dared to attempt it—Dr. Claude S. Beck of Cleveland, O.

Fifteen surgeons watched Dr. Beck literally cut a hole in the calcified pericardial sack, which was beginning to pinch Moore's heart as it hardened and gradually tightened its grip. The operation relieved pressure so the blood could flow freely again.

The operation required about two hours. The patient's condition was reported "fine."

SENATOR WHEELER'S OUTLINE OF AUTOCRACY.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana does not need an introduction as an extremist among the Democratic supporters of Mr. Roosevelt. Sometimes he is out in front waiting for the administration to catch up. He spoke Sunday night over the radio from Kansas City, Mo., against the President's court bill. It was a speech which would repay the close attention of people who have supported the present policies of government.

Mr. Wheeler, after a few unexpected references to the advantages of viewing a great national question in the surroundings of a typical American prairie state, drew an outline of the development of executive government, principally as proposed in the present session of congress. First he called attention to the President's plan for the reorganization of executive departments, which went to congress before the message and the bill regarding the federal courts were submitted.

Senator Wheeler said that the President proposed to bring under his personal control the independent commissions congress had established to administer affairs which in detail were too much for direct congressional attention and action. Included are the interstate commerce commission, the federal trade commission, and the communications commission. They are agencies set up by congress with regulatory authority. They have been largely independent. When Mr. Roosevelt wanted to remove a member of the federal trade commission because that member was not in sympathy with the administration policies the Supreme court said that the commissioners were protected during their term of office from arbitrary dismissal.

Under the executive department reorganization plan these commissions would be brought, in part at least, under the direct control of the President, and Senator Wheeler wished his auditors to consider first this proposal for concentrating power in the chief executive and consider it in relation to the bill which would give the President control of the Supreme court. It must be remembered that these are the words of a senator who was a vigorous campaigner for Mr. Roosevelt in the election. The executive has complete control of his cabinet, and, as Mr. Wheeler said, the cabinet officers do exactly what the President tells them to do and nothing else.

The Montana senator then made an observation often made before but never so unqualifiedly by an administration member of the United States senate. He said that Mr. Roosevelt completely controled the house of representatives and a large part of the senate. He said that if members of the house and senate voted their own convictions there would not be a handful of either who would support the court bill as it applied to the justices.

The President, he said, being already the master of congress, seeking control of the independent commissions which now have powers of regulation—part administrative, part legislative, and part judicial—over transportation, communications, and trade, needs one more measure to gather into his hands the power of a dictator. It would be his with command of the Supreme court.

The senator, having said that Mr. Roosevelt's control over his cabinet officers was absolute, that they did nothing he did not want and everything that he did, also said that if he believed that the desire to dispose of the Supreme court in the manner provided in the bill sent to congress was the wish of Mr. Roosevelt and not of his attorney general, Mr. Cummings, who has argued for it, his fears of dictatorship, now grave, would be infinitely greater. Senator Wheeler knows that Mr. Roosevelt has proposed the court bill as of his own will and wish and that the attorney general has merely obeyed orders in finding reasons to make the subordination of the court appear something other than it is intended to be.

The description of present administrative purposes and the consequences to which they lead is given to the American people by one of the extreme New Deal senators and is to be considered as coming from an informed and heretofore sympathetic source.

"We had better have no Supreme court at all," said Senator Wheeler, "than to have a Supreme court which is subservient to any one man."

IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

What was probably the greatest mobilization of transportation rescue and relief work ever known was carried out by the railways of the United States in their effort to meet the emergency created by the unprecedented floods along the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. Special trains rushed seamen, coast guards, police, Red Cross workers and United States army engineers to the scene. Perhaps a quarter million refugees were evacuated to cities where food and shelter were available—the exact number will never be known because no effort was made to collect tickets.

Boats, fire apparatus, tents, clothing, and medical supplies were carried to the front on special trains without regard to cost. Long lines of new tank cars were brought from distant Philadelphia to supply drinking water, while in the flood zone locomotives furnished rations from their tenders. An engine coupled to a steam line heated an emergency postoffice. Lounge cars were stripped of their furnishings and fitted as hospitals—in one instance patients as well as an entire medical staf were transferred from a hospital within the danger zone to another located on higher ground.

Trucks, automobiles, and all manner of floating equipment did their share of heroic work, but were severely handicapped by inundated roads and flying fields as well as lack of capacity to undertake the tremendous task. Back of all, from the supply of food for the workers to the transportation of sand bags for strengthening levees, was our magnificent railway system with its tremendous resources. And Washington politicians continue to bedevil them as public malefactors—in the public interest.

ON GETTING ABOUT IN CITIES.

In pursuing their excavations, archæologists frequently discover that ancient cities were built on the ruins of older settlements. The details of the transition are a matter of conjecture, but it seems reasonable to suppose that reconstruction was dictated by local transportation conditions. The most primitive town was a group of huts huddled around some central place of worship or seat of government without rhyme or reason. Then came the more general use of beasts of burden to necessitate wider and straighter lanes, the first traces of city streets.

Wheeled vehicles followed. At first they were the chariots of the soldiery, but later the ox carts of farmers commenced to penetrate the settlements with their loads of produce. A general street widening plan must have been a natural sequence. The most modern improvement was the sidewalk for the protection of the pedestrian. It seems awful to contemplate that none of these changes were made until countless lives had been sacrificed on the altar of tradition and inertia. Aristocrats' carelessness in riding down the citizens of Paris appears to have been one of the underlying causes of the French revolution.

Civilization has reached another epoch in city planning forced upon it by the development of the motor vehicle. That life is still cheap is evidenced by the killing of 800 and the mutilation of 20,000 citizens on Chicago streets last year. As in the past, the city must be made over for the protection of its workers. Otherwise pursuits and industries will drift to other locations, as was frequently the case with ancient or medieval cities.

Many cities both in America and abroad have made a start, but their problems are all dissimilar. Eastern cities, with the possible exception of Philadelphia, have grown up hit or miss, with such planning as may have been conceived in colonial times badly warped by topographic barriers. In Chicago, on the other hand, there are no confining physical features except perhaps to preserve the center of the city at its present location. It is in a measure "virgin territory." If a perfect ultra-modern city can be devised it will not be impossible to adapt the plan to Chicago's metropolitan area.

Do we need subways? Perhaps, but not merely because they have solved vexatious problems in New York. It may surprise some readers to learn that the Illinois Central offers better dispatch than is available in any New York subway where the optical illusion of flashing lights gives the impression of speed that does not exist. There is a six mile, four track Broad street subway in Philadelphia that has never developed sufficient trafic to necessitate car operation on more than two sets of rails—and Philadelphia's layout is more nearly comparable to Chicago than is that of New York. Should buses replace street cars? Perhaps, but not because of Mayor La Guardia's ballyhoo when the Madison avenue street rails were removed. This much touted line saves little time over walking and it is significant that several hundred streamlined street cars patterned after those in operation on Chicago's Madison street have been ordered for service on Brooklyn, N. Y., thoroughfares.

In their practical application there is no difference between elevated highways and subways, and the latter may not be adapted to motorized trafic because of fumes. They certainly will be more healthy, and Chicago has an automobile problem that does not exist in Boston, New York, or Philadelphia. It is the purpose of this and succeeding editorials on the subject, however, not to hew to any definite line, but merely to discuss the subject of making over Chicago's street plan for the purpose of inviting public discussion.

BROWN GRAVY?

[Carmi, Ill., Democrat-Tribune.]

The greatest flood in history has visited the Ohio valley and has put to test man-made walls and levees. Some withstood the flood and others crumbled.

These levees and walls were created because of man's desire to push nearer and nearer to the fertile lands close to the rivers. Naturally after man had an investment and a livelihood there he wished it protected. Then came the need to handle the commodities that were produced and towns, large and small, sprang up close to the edge of the water. These, too, needed protection against annual high water and vast sums were spent in the construction of protecting levees, dikes, and walls.

The construction of these was based on man's knowledge of the highest water recorded. Yet this year came the greatest flood this vast valley has ever known and a million persons were driven from homes and farms.

Years ago, before the white man knew of these fertile valleys, there were floods, but floods of a different type. They had their purpose in nature's plan. The river was not a narrow built up ditch and when waters arose they spread out into low areas where they awaited the falling of the main stream and then followed the crest of the torrent toward the sea.

Soil gathered from upstream was generally deposited over these lowlands and floods took care of themselves. But when man began to hold the water out of these natural reservoirs with levees, then the main stream began to rise to new levels. This year, 1937, finds all records gone. What is there to prevent higher water in the future? Will man continue to build protecting barriers against flood, or will he eventually restore these lands to their first owner, the river, and move elsewhere to seek a livelihood?

An inexperienced cook started to make brown gravy. She discovered she needed more flour and added it. Much to her consternation she discovered she had too much flour and added more milk. Too much flour again and then too much milk. Soon she had a dishpan full of a useless concoction.

RETROSPECT.

Crooning the soft sweet strains you used to know
As through these grassy glades they purl along;
The bursting buds that fringe these forest rills
Have caught the fleeting fragrance of your hair.
And drowsy dusk brings back a thousand thrills
That whisper of your presence everywhere.

Some time, perchance, you may return again
To seeks these scenes you loved in other days,
I wonder will your heart know joy or pain
In pondering upon our parted ways;—
And will you smile or shed a silent tear
Musing upon the hours we squandered here?

CLASSICS OF CRITICISM.

If you are making a collection of eccentric criticisms of performances of Hamlet, you might include the affirmation of a certain New York scribe (probably a recent importation from the west) that "So-and-So played the King as though he was afraid somebody else was going to play the Ace." . . . Also, you had better add the classical retort of W. S. Gilbert when Beerbohm Tree asked him what he thought of his (Tree's) rendering of the part: "Don't be discouraged, Herbert; it was funny without being vulgar." . . . My favorite, however, concerns the old lady from the country who had never seen the play before. Asked what she thought of it, she said: "Well, there was some good parts, but I didn't think much of it because it was such a mass of quotations." Respectfully, James Pontifex.

I am reminded of a criticism by Percy Hammond when he was with W. G. N. Says he: "One of the Garden's hurly-burly reviews opened last evening at the Studebaker. It is this kind of a show: You say 'There is one that is not so bad'—referring to the choristers. Your friend turns to you and, searching the lines, retorts: 'Where?'" Wag.

REVIVAL WITH TEETH IN IT.

Reverend Blankman, who could have given Billy Sunday pointers on how to conduct a revival, usually started off with the announcement that the season would last two weeks in Hometown. But many times it would run along for two months, the period depending on the number of teeterers undecided whether they would join the church. . . . One night, when he was going at his best pace, he announced he would sing a solo titled "Papa, What Would You Take for Me?" This was one of those soul tearing things that would lift a sinner from his seat and start him down the sawdust trail. In the midst of his song he opened his mouth to its widest extent and out popped his false teeth. They sailed a dozen feet and landed in the lap of a sister in the front row. After a moment of startlement, Brother Blankman climbed down, retrieved the teeth and returned to his post. "Now," said he, "let us all sing 'There'll be No Parting There.'" Jin-Jin.

DO NOT MINIMIZE MENTAL ILLNESS.

MUCH has been accomplished in spreading information about tuberculosis and, while the disease is far from conquered, great progress has been made. The symptoms are fairly well known and there has been built up a hopeful attitude as to cure because most of these patients can recover with good management.

But what about mental health? We read each day of the destruction of life and property at the hands of insane persons most of whom—had they been examined earlier—would have shown symptoms of disease sufficient to warant treatment, if not institutional care.

Here is a case in point. A mentally warped man applied for a job only to learn that additional help was not needed. Instead of pursuing his search he sat down to brood, kindling a fierce hatred for the particular industry involved and every one connected with it. During the ensuing weeks he indulged in a considerable amount of vitriolic criticism of the company, its officers, and employés.

He then began to set fires. One conflagration was followed by another until he had become the unknown terror of a great city—an insane pyromaniac. Apprehended—as he was finally—the diagnosis was not difficult. A careful study disclosed that he had formed the habit—all through life—of blaming some one else for every failure. Thinking had become so distorted that ideas finally burst forth in acts of criminal violence.

Not long ago—without warning—a college girl shot and killed her best friend, maintaining in defense that she had an overwhelming and overpowering desire to take life. There was a certain amount of deliberation about the whole affair but the incident could not be explained on the ground of pure malice. Jealousy and disappointment had mixed the colors of character until an unstable personality became a homicidal maniac.

Every community probably numbers among its citizens several paranoiacs. Some may be relatively harmless; in others the disease may proceed to the "killing" stage. An instance is reported from a moderate sized town where almost every one knew the patient. His employer had observed certain evidences of peculiar behavior and had requested him to consult his family doctor. Alert to the situation, the physician was able to draw the man out with the result that he disclosed deeply rooted hatreds and grudges so pronounced that confinement in a hospital for the mentally ill was advised.

When the matter was broached to the family the very thought was so abhorrent that no action was taken. Promises were made that the sufferer would be watched at home and given the best of care. Under the coddling and sympathy of relatives the victim became outwardly arrogant. He openly declared that "Dr. B. is a fool."

A few weeks later he attended a social gathering where he remained for several hours under the stimulus of considerable excitement and hilarity. Returning home between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning he was unable to sleep and about daylight attempted to commit suicide. The situation was discovered by his wife, who endeavored to restrain him. He turned on her and probably would have succeeded in taking her life had not neighbors, aroused by the commotion, interfered.

This time he was institutionalized and then the facts came out—namely: that family pride had been concealing for years symptoms which pointed definitly to insanity.

Most of us have little quirks of one sort or another—idiosyncrasies, we call them—none of which even in minor degree suggest mental illness. It is well to be individualistic. What a funny world we would live in were we all molded from the same mental pattern! But we must not be blind to those evidences of deep seated emotions which dominate every waking moment—those that plow such deep grooves in personality that resulting behavior may injure others.

Successful living depends upon good mental hygiene, but we must begin treatment before ideas of persecution become fixed.

ENCEPHALITIS.

Mrs. L. M. writes: When I was 17 years old I had encephalitis. I came out of it mentally and physically intact, but it seems to me there has been a gradual slowing up of memory, mental alertness, and general efficiency; also instable nerves that keep me underweight. I am 32 years old. Do I have to take this "lying down" or is there some way I can ward off such after effects of this illness? Is memory a matter of habit, or is it something you just have or do not have? While I have always been known to possess intelligence above the average, yet now I have to tug at my memory to recall facts given in a lecture I have just heard.

REPLY.

It is not uncommon for memory to slip a little following the intensive strain of school days. Mental alertness requires constant practice and one must adopt numerous devices in order to be able to retain needed facts. Don't burden your memory with useless material. It is just possible that your attack of encephalitis is partly responsible. The best plan is to maintain your general health at par. Get plenty of rest and cultivate equanimity. Should you develop an obvious tremor consult a skilled neurologist.

HAVE EXAMINATION.

D. M. E. writes: When the skin becomes slightly discolored around the region of a tumor does this mean that it has become cancerous? A few small moles have also appeared. I am 25 years old and have had a tumor in my breast for the past five years.

REPLY.

The chances are that you have a noncancerous cyst which may require removal if it becomes bothersome. At any rate, have an examination by a skilled physician.

NAILS AFFECTED.

M. F. writes: A few months ago the nails on my hands and feet stopped growing. They turned yellow and black and are quite painful. What is the cause?

REPLY.

You may have ringworm of the nails. A skin specialist can tell you. Treatment consists in destroying the fungus. X-rays have been beneficial in some cases and various chemicals are employed, such as tincture of iodine or hyposulphite of soda.

From the Tribune's Columns

20 Years Ago Today

FEBRUARY 23, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—The arm of Uncle Sam swung into action to break the grip of hunger on the nation's poor. Practically every branch of the federal government bent its energies to checking the climb of prices, which has reached its climax in food riots in several of the country's larger cities.

CHICAGO.—Congestion practically closed the Chicago grain market. Potatoes sold at 85 and 90 cents a peck, sugar at 7½ and 8 cents, and cabbage at 13 and 15 cents a pound retail. Higher prices are predicted.

WASHINGTON.—The attempt to confer indirectly upon President Wilson blanket authority to employ the armed forces of the United States in almost any manner he sees fit in the submarine controversy with Germany failed in congress. The senate judiciary committee refused to report the bill.

BERLIN.—The center of diplomatic interest, which has shifted to Vienna, should remain there until Austria's answer to President Wilson's note is completed. The Frankfurter Zeitung asserts that the nature of that reply is known in Berlin. That newspaper predicts that a breach of relations between Washington and Vienna is inevitable.

WAR SUMMARY.—Liner Celtic struck mine and was towed back to Liverpool, passengers on the Philadelphia say. Paris reports repulse of German sortie on left bank of Meuse. London says enemy attempts to advance near Neuve Chapelle failed. Berlin chronicles defeat of British south of Armentieres. Russians beaten back southwest of Riga, Berlin says. Britain arrests Sinn Fein leaders in Ireland under defense of realm act.

LONDON.—The death knell to Germany's colonial possessions has been sounded, so far as the entente allies can effect that result, by the almost simultaneous announcement by representatives of the governments of Great Britain, Japan, Australia, and New Zealand. Together they declare there will be no return to Germany of its colonies in Africa, Asia, or the Pacific.

WASHINGTON.—The army appropriation bill was passed by the house without a dissenting vote after Chairman Dent and his pork pacifist followers had blocked efforts to make a necessary increase in the general staf of the army and provide a system of universal military training.

ANN ARBOR, MICH.—The University of Michigan board in control of athletics passed a resolution asking the board of regents to take the necessary action to permit Michigan to reënter the Western conference.

Streator, Ill., Feb. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Husband and wife make a joint or reciprocal will in which this statement appears: "Upon the death of either of us, after payment of such deceased one's debts, we give to the survivor of us, for and during the period of his or her natural life, all the rest, residue and remainder of the property of every kind and character whatsoever which we may then jointly or severally own, etc." In this estate are notes, a part of which were payable to the deceased and a part to the survivor.

1. Can the survivor give these notes to an heir or [2] are they classed as remainder of the property of every kind and character, and [3] must be divided share and share alike as stated in the will? H. L. H.

1. Yes, if other assets are sufficient to cover the debts and administration expenses so that these notes come intact to the survivor.

2. Yes.

3. The wording which you quote says nothing about a division share and share alike. We see no reason why the notes should not be regarded as a part of the estate of the person to whom they are payable.

THE TRUE ROLE OF GOVERNMENT.

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 18.—Executive desire to control legislative assemblies and the courts has behind it an element, sometimes weak, sometimes strong, of personal ambition to acquire and maintain political power. In primitive races power was obtained by physical combat and by force of will. In a politically organized society it is occasionally obtained by the use of armed force. On a still higher level it is realized by maneuvers appealing to self-interest and carefully screened by all the idealism and aspiration current at the time and place. This need not be so and is not at all times in the front rank of political method, but it is a prominent motive in the world today.

No government can be the primary cause of the salvation of civilization, nor be primarily responsible for the realization of the highest degree of attainable happiness and well-being. These things come from mankind's inner nature and capability, from applied science, from man's intelligence, judgment, his consciousness of responsibility to his fellow man, his ideas of fairness and honesty; in a word, from character and ability. Government must preserve the peace, it must keep oiled the friction points in society to keep them from bursting into a blaze. There is a small band of activity surrounding this circle of function where government can render a real service to humanity. Beyond this zone it can only make a noise as if it were rendering a major good, but the noise is a powerful generator of political power.

America can stend more economic and political punishment than any other nation on earth. But any country that has been democratically organized for 150 years can be depended upon, after the shoe of personal government begins to pinch, to throw it into the back yard of forgotten blunders and return to law, formulated by cooperating departments of government.

James I. tried to tell Lord Coke how to run the law courts, but the Stuarts passed into history with James II.

AFTER HEARING SOME SENATORS.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—I listened to Senator McAdoo's argument a few nights ago in favor of sandbagging the Supreme court and was amazed to hear him base almost everything he said on "let us assume" and "suppositious facts." Just when supposition became "facts" is not clear to me, but I have no doubt the senator can explain that, too—at least as convincingly as he did the subject of his address.

I also heard a discussion between Senator Thomas of Utah and Senator Van Nuys of Indiana, during which the former asked his listeners to study their history. After hearing Senator Thomas I should like to suggest that he study his grammar. Lewis E. Myers.

ENHANCING THE ARCHBISHOP'S DIGNITY.

Fort Atkinson, Wis., Feb. 18.—In The Tribune of this date an editorial writer, unusually ill informed or facetious, even for an employé of W-G-N, indulged remarkably bad taste or ignorance in "An American Churchman Will Help Crown a King."

Interested persons will recall that his grace of York invited the Rev. James De Wolf Perry Jr. to act as one of his two chaplains at the forthcoming coronation ceremonies in London. Father Perry was asked as a gesture of friendliness to Anglican church people in the United States, and chosen because he happens to be a personal friend of the archbishop.

His part is purely passive; he will attend the archbishop only as priests are often chosen to accompany prelates to enhance their dignity on ceremonial occasions. The matter has no political significance of any kind, and it was simply ridiculous to suggest that the archbishop and Mr. Baldwin might "require religious assistance from the United States to assure them that in the choice between kings and queens they had the sympathetic understanding of the American people."

If "it is comprehensible that the archbishop of York might like to have subordinate to him a representative of the American Protestant Episcopal church" it is likewise comprehensible that American churchmen who are in communion with the primatial sees of England might like to have that fact recognized by an act of courtesy such as has been made. Many of them will deeply resent the unwaranted intrusion of outsiders in matters which can be of no possible concern to non-Anglicans.

It is extremely unlikely that either Father Perry or his diocesan bishop will welcome such a display of thoroughly bad manners by The Tribune, which presumes to offer unasked advice and direction in a domestic and private matter.

Pastor, St. Peter's Church.

AMBULANCE CHASING.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Much public indignation is being expressed via a well intentioned press concerning the tactics of lawyers in personal injury claims. Lest an unsuspecting public be entirely deluded one further point must be forcibly made.

The sensational exposé is unquestionably sponsored by a group of insurance companies and transportation companies whose purpose it is to frighten the public away from lawyers generally in the handling of such claims. Once this is accomplished, and it may be accomplished, the insurance companies and the common carriers will have a free hand in adjusting claims against them directly with the injured parties, forcing their own terms and driving their own bargains.

It is earnestly recommended that an investigation be made into the practices of these poor and exploited insurance companies and transportation companies to learn what dubious tactics they employ to effect their deplorable settlements. Undoubtedly a career of cruel exploitation of public ignorance and underhanded threats will be revealed surpassing anything found thus far against these so-called ambulance chasers.

HOUSE SPEEDS BILL TO CONTROL COAL INDUSTRY

Designed to Replace Act Outlawed by Court.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—A new act providing for government regulation of the soft coal industry, to replace the law declared unconstitutional last year by the Supreme court, was reported favorably to the house today and leaders planned to bring it up for speedy passage.

Although the bill contains new language and some amendments designed to meet the high court's objections to the old act, several members of the ways and means committee predicted that it could obtain the Supreme court's approval only if President Roosevelt's proposal for enlarging the membership to 15 should become law.

Representative Fred M. Vinson [D., N. Y.], co-author with Senator Joseph Guffey [D., Pa.], of the bill, avoided the direct question: "Will you need six new justices to get this act past the court?"

His cautious answer was: "I think the bill meets every test of the law."

Opposes Cost to Consumer.

But Representative Harold Knutson [R., Minn.], declared flatly: "It is such lepislation as this bill that creates the demand for six new judges. Without passing on its constitutionality, I am opposed to its enactment because it will increase the cost of coal to the consumer."

The committee vote was 19 to 6 in favor of the bill. The minority plans an adverese report which will be submitted to the house. There is no doubt of the bill's passage, however. Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], let slip the information that President Roosevelt had asked for consideration and passage of the bill before April 1, when wage agreements between employers and employés in the bituminous coal industry expire.

Sets Up a Commission.

The bill establishes, in the department of the interior, a national bituminous coal commission, composed of seven members to be appointed by the President for a four year term. Their salaries are fixed at $10,000 a year. A "consumer's council" also is to be appointed by the President, whose duty shall be "to appear in the interest of the consuming public" in any proceeding before the commission.

All soft coal is to be taxed one-half of 1 per cent of the sale price at the mine. This was a reduction from 1½ per cent, which was the tax originally proposed. Vinson explained that the former tax would have raised $12,000,000, whereas the commission is not expected to spend more than one or two millions a year for salaries and expenses. The lower tax still will raise $4,000,000, much more than should be required, it was pointed out.

A penalty tax of 19½ per cent will be imposed on the sale price of coal mined by a producer who refuses to comply with the act.

SPRAINS ANKLE

ELEANOR POWELL.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 22.—[Special.] Eleanor Powell, dancer, was removed to her home today from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio with a sprained ligament in her ankle which she suffered while performing on a set. Production on the movie will not be delayed.

EAST HARASSED BY SNOW, COLD, WIND AND RAIN

State troopers searched the vicinity of Silver lake in Wyoming county, N. Y., for James Warren Jr., 10, believed lost in a snowstorm.

A 54 mile wind storm in New York's metropolitan area smashed electric light poles on Welfare Island and plunged four hospitals with 3,000 patients into darkness.

Snow at Elmira, N. Y., put seventy per cent of the long distance telephone lines out of commission.

Heavy thunder accompanying a shower at Binghampton, N. Y., rattled dishes and windows so much alarmed residents believed it to be an earthquake.

SUFFERING FROM FLOOD GROWS IN BITING BLIZZARD

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Flood waters in the south and blizzards in the north of the north central states area left three dead, hundreds homeless, and much monetary damage and suffering tonight.

In most districts the floods, which flowed over parts of southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois after a heavy week-end rainfall, receded almost as rapidly as they had come. Snow quickly followed the recession of waters, thirty inches falling at Hurley, Wis.

But there still was threat of damage and further inundation at Freeport, Ill., on the Pecatonica river, and cities on the Rock river downstream from here.

Dixon May Lose Power.

Loss of power and light threatened Dixon, Ill., where at least three score homes and buildings are flooded and the high school surrounded by water.

After high water yesterday forced the shutdown of the Illinois Northern Utilities company hydroelectric dam at Dixon, the city obtained current from Sterling. But today engineers said further rises in the Rock river at Sterling might cause that dam to be put out of operation.

More than 100 homes were flooded at Freeport and the waters threatened to inundate an area occupied by 2,500 residents and half a dozen big industrial plants.

The greatest havoc caused by the rampaging waters was at Galena, Ill., where three persons drowned and many thousands of dollars property damage resulted. The Galena river had returned to normal after rising to an all-time flood high of 27.58 feet. Zero weather hampered efforts to repair the damage, which was estimated at $250,000.

As the river fell at Rockford it revealed that about $75,000 damage was caused at the scene of a highway bridge being erected across the river in the northern residential district. A locomotive, crane, and pile driver were swept away and the span's preliminary falsework left a twisted mass of timber and metal.

Blizzard and Flood in Wisconsin.

Wisconsin had the two tone misery of flood waters in the south and blizzards in the north. The Rock river reached a new high at Beloit, flooding basements in the business district. The Pecatonica isolated Darlington, northwest of Beloit, and at Waukesha 400 men were made idle by a flood caused explosion in an iron mill.

The west side of Fond du Lac, Wis., was flooded by two branches of the Fond du Lac river, 150 persons being forced from their homes.

Battle Drifts in Iowa.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Flood waters pouring through a levee break on the Skunk river isolated a woman and two children in Lee county tonight as highway commission snow fighters battled drifts in northeast Iowa.

Although freezing temperatures tonight were expected to decrease the danger of a further spread in the flood, farmers patroled the levee in an attempt to prevent further breaks.

ADAPT U. S. ARMY BOMBING PLANES AS TWA LINERS

Coup Seen in Air Giants' Race for Big Ships.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

The new airliners ordered by Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., from the Boeing Airplane company of Seattle, will be commercial conversions of the giant four motored Boeing 299 bombers built for the army air corps.

It became known here yesterday that the new ships, purchase of which was announced in New York on Sunday, will differ from the army's fighting planes only in that the fuselage will be enlarged slightly to accommodate passengers, mail, and express instead of bombs. The wing areas and span, and the engines, 1,205 horse power Wright Cyclones, will be identical with those of the 13 Boeing bombers already being delivered to the government.

Repeats the Army Job.

It is understood that the Boeing company designed the bomber with the commercial plane in view. When the stress analysis and engineering of the bomber was completed, the company repeated the job, working out the problems involved in balancing a commercial plane with a fuselage of greater diameter and a larger distribution of the load.

This is the commercial plane sold to TWA.

Total payload [revenue producing cargo] of the new Boeing transport will be 5,200 pounds and with the maximum load it will have a range of 1,400 miles.

Purchase of these new ships is a new indication of the bitter competition among the country's large air lines. A rate war already is being waged by TWA against the other operators.

Less than a year ago TWA joined the country's other four large operators, American Airlines, Pan-American Airways, Eastern Air, and United Air Lines, in ordering an experimental four engined Douglas airliner which was to weigh 60,000 pounds, carry 40 passengers, and heavy mail cargoes. The Boeings will each weigh 43,000 pounds, carry 20 per cent fewer passengers and less cargo.

Contract Splits Cost.

In the contract a year ago all the lines agreed to split the cost of the first Douglas and to allow all the other operators equal rights in buying large airplanes weighing from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds as produced by any other manufacturer than Douglas. According to that contract TWA was to be about the last company to receive delivery.

It was pointed out here that TWA has avoided the terms of the contract because the new Boeings weigh only 43,000 pounds. TWA now will be able to "jump the gun" on other operators because, by buying Boeings, the company will be assured of obtaining delivery early in 1938.

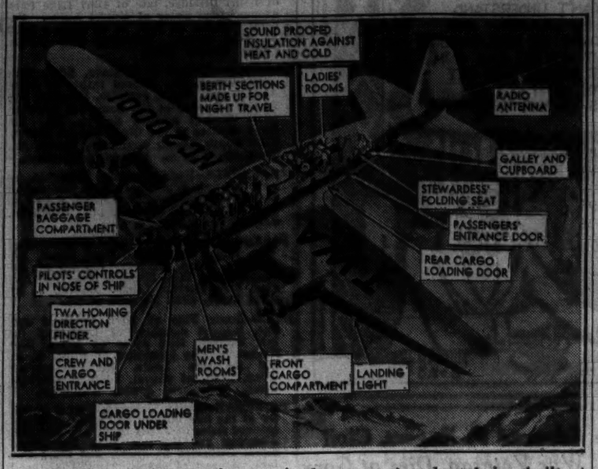
Plan for Huge U. S. Passenger Plane



Drawing of the new four engined commercial plane being built at Seattle, Wash., plant of Boeing Aircraft company for Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., cross-country service. It is an adaptation of the Boeing 299 bomber built for the United States army. It will carry a pay load (revenue producing) of 5,200 pounds, with a maximum range of 1,400 miles. It will be capable of a speed of 250 miles an hour and will carry 32 passengers. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

N. Y. CATHOLICS SLAP ROOSEVELT ON CHILD LABOR

Bishops See Menace in Amendment.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Calling the proposed child labor amendment an unwaranted invasion of parental rights and a menace to the welfare of children, the Most Rev. Edmund F. Gibbons, Roman Catholic bishop of Albany, today opposed ratification at a hearing before the assembly judiciary committee.

"This unanimity of condemnation results from no prearrangement or even mutual consultation, but simply and solely because every Catholic bishop of this state feels that the broad power granted congress by this measure has potentialities of grave injury to the interests that the clergy are bound to protect," he said.

Declares Public Disregarded.

In ratifying the amendment, he said, the state senate disregarded public sentiment and, once given power, congress might do likewise in exercising it.

President Roosevelt stepped into the fight with a telegram to Gov. Herbert Lehman which proponents of the amendment read at the hearing. The telegram of the President said in part:

"The measure has passed the senate and I sincerely trust the assembly will take similar action as quickly as possible. I hope very much my own state will be prompt in ratification."

La Guardia Backs Roosevelt.

As soon as the President's telegram was read Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York pleaded with the assembly for immediate ratification.

Eugene Warner, Buffalo attorney and philanthropist, who will lead the debate for the friends of the amendment, indicated the major line of attack would be based upon an institute of public opinion poll, published in yesterday's newspapers, showing that 83 per cent of the people of the state of New York favor adoption of the amendment.

Twenty-seven states had approved the amendment up to 1935. Two have rejected it this year.

PALL MALL
THE MODERN BLEND

What should a cigarette taste like?

According to the English tradition of blending, the only flavour of a cigarette should be that of fine tobaccos. The Turkish Pall Mall, long famous as "A Shilling in London, A Quarter Here," has always observed that tradition.

The new Pall Mall, at 15¢ for 20, is blended in the same simple manner. There is no artificial flavouring in Pall Mall—no sweetening under which to mask imperfections. Pall Mall brings you the flavour of selected domestic tobaccos, enriched by fine Oriental types. It is the only cigarette of its type without artificial flavouring.

The special English wrapping provides a tab on the back with which to open the corner easily. This leaves the remainder of the cellulose for protection.

JAS. P. BUCHANAN, LEADER IN HOUSE, IS DEAD AT 73

Foe of Roosevelt "Lump Sum" Appropriations.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Representative James P. Buchanan, 73 years old [D., Tex.],economy advocate, who held chairmanship of the powerful house appropriations committee, died tonight following a heart attack.

JAS. A. BUCHANAN.

Buchanan's death took from the congressional finance post a frequent critic of the administration's "lump sum" appropriations. Despite his personal penchant for economy, however, the veteran Democrat had accepted responsibility for winning house approval of huge sums requested by the President. He piloted through the chamber the $4,880,000,000 work relief appropriation, largest single money measure in the country's history.

Post Goes to Coloradoan.

Buchanan will be succeeded as appropriations chairman by the oldest member of the house, Representative Taylor [Dem., Colo.] Taylor, who will be 80 his next birthday and has not been in the best of health.

In 1913 Buchanan was elected to succeed Albert S. Burleson, whom President Wilson appointed postmaster general and the 10th Texas district sent him back in each election thereafter. He took the chairmanship of the house appropriations committee at the start of the 73d congress in March, 1933, when the late Speaker Joseph W. Byrns relinquished that post to become Democratic floor leader.

Born in South Carolina.

Born in South Carolina in 1864, he was the son of a wealthy plantation owner who believed the south would win the civil war. Afterward the elder Buchanan started back to his home, but learned some persons accused him of being a spy, and he decided to leave the state.

The father headed west by one route and Mrs. Buchanan and her two children went another. At the age of 8 James P. Buchanan was picking cotton on rented acres in central Texas.

Buchanan is survived by his widow and one son, James P. Buchanan Jr., both of whom were present when he died.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: He Hasn't Changed a Bit

CAPT. KILLEEN, POLICE RECORD EXPERT, DIES

Noted Also for Work with Boys.

Capt. William H. Killeen, who gave the Chicago police department an efficient system of records as director of the bureau of criminal information and statistics, died yesterday of pneumonia in the Evanston hospital.

Capt. W. H. Killeen.

Capt. Killeen was 60 years old. He lived at 1200 Jarvis avenue with his wife, Anna, and their one child, Leona. A brother, Dr. J. J. Killeen, also survives.

Born in Milwaukee, Capt. Killeen received his education at St. Ignatius college, now a part of Loyola university, and at St. Mary's college in Kansas. He then went to work for the Commonwealth Edison company, becoming a clerical expert.

On Oct. 10, 1910, he joined the police department, received three citations for meritorious service, and in 1926 became a captain.

Before going to the detective bureau, Capt. Killeen commanded the Austin, Lawndale, West North avenue, Woodlawn, Racine avenue, and Des Plaines street police districts. At the Austin station he started a system of crime prevention by trying to keep neighborhood boys off the street.

In 1931 Capt. Killeen took command of the newly formed statistical bureau, which also gave him supervision over the police radio and telephone communication system.

Saved by Playmate

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Richard Smith, 13 years old, 5919 Walton street, probably would not be alive today except for the heroism yesterday of his playmate, Donald Seaverg, 12, of 333 North Central avenue. Because of the holiday the two boys had a chance to take a walk. As they were playing along the Des Plaines river between Lake street and Chicago avenue in River Forest, an unidentified boy pushed Richard onto the ice, which broke beneath his weight. As the boy fled Donald dived into the river and hauled out his sinking playmate, then dragged Richard to a nearby home, where River Forest police gave first aid and later took the boy home.

ROLLO OGDEN, 81, CHIEF EDITOR OF N. Y. TIMES, DIES

Rollo Ogden.

Mr. Ogden's death closed a long editorial career which absorbed him so intensely that he had prolonged it more than a year after eye trouble had made it necessary to have the news read to him.

After 29 years as editor of the New York Evening Post, and thereafter for 17 years as editor of the New York Times, he was reluctant to halt the daily exercise of judgment on public affairs in which he was engaged to the last.

At the age of 31, Mr. Ogden turned from the Presbyterian ministry to journalism. After four years as a literary free lance, he became in 1891 a regular member of the editorial staf of the New York Evening Post under Edwin Lawrence Godkin.

He came to the New York Times in 1920. In 1922, on the death of Charles Ransom Miller, he succeeded to the post of chief editor.

The editor's son, Nelson Ogden, mechanical engineer of Philadelphia, and his daughter, Mrs. John Marshall Lindley of Wellesley Hills, Mass., survive. His wife, the former Miss Susan Mitchell, died last spring.

C. J. Welford, Ex-Chicagoan, Will Be Buried Here Today

HUGO UHLEMANN, RICH FURRIER, SHOT TO DEATH

Note by Body Reads: "I Am Very Sick."

Hugo P. Uhlemann, 65 years old, wealthy furrier, was found shot to death yesterday in his twelfth floor apartment overlooking the lake at 3000 Sheridan road. On the dresser in his bedroom police found a note scrawled in pencil reading, "I am very sick." A revolver was found near the body by the housekeeper, Mrs. Katharine Salar, 6431 North Artesian avenue, when she returned from a shopping trip at noon. The bullet had entered his right temple.

Hugo P. Uhlemann.

Employés of the apartment building told police that Uhlemann had seemed depressed since his wife, Louise, went to Miami, Fla., about a month ago. Relatives said they had been happily married for 32 years, although newspaper clippings showed that she had sued him for separate maintenance in 1920.

Louis H. Uhlemann, who with his brothers, Hugo and Edward, has operated the R. G. Uhlemann Fur company at 7 West Madison street, said the business has been satisfactory.

Besides Louis and Edward, two other brothers, William R. and R. H. Uhlemann, survive. They operate the Uhlemann Optical company with stores in Chicago and Evanston.

In the early 1870's Mrs. Hawes moved to Chicago. She was active in the Chicago Woman's club, the West End Women's club, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the 19th Century club of Oak Park, and the First Presbyterian church there.

OUST THAT COLD

—Roots and All—Give It No Chance to Sprout Anew!

Take no cold lightly! The so-called "common cold" is often the start of more serious trouble—flu and pneumonia, for example.

Treat a cold to rout it, not merely to subdue it!

Depend on no half-way measures. A cold, being an internal infection, must be got at from the inside.

Expressly For Colds!

It is also internal treatment and of four important effects.

First, Bromo Quinine opens the bowels, a desirable step in the treatment of colds.

Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

The Action Called For

These are the four effects a cold calls for and in Bromo Quinine you get it in the form of a single tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain.

The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

Be wise—play safe! The moment you feel a cold coming on, go right to your druggist for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

Begin taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. That procedure will often break up a cold in 24 hours.

Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. Ask for, and insist upon, Grove's Bromo Quinine. The cost is small, but the stake is large.

VANCOUVER SHIPS SAIL 7 SEAS IN HUNT FOR TRADE

Canadian Port Enters Race for Pacific Markets.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 22.—In fifty years Vancouver has grown from a sawmill village into Canada's third largest city with a population of 250,000 and shipping that extends to the seven seas.

As the dominion's gateway to the Pacific it is a key port on British channels of trade and commerce to the far east and the antipodes. Just now there is agitation to bring the port closer to the streamline age by getting bigger and faster ships and airplane service.

Subsidies are being sought for new liners for both the China and the Australia-New Zealand routes. Four new fast "Empresses" to cost $30,000,000 are to be built if the proposal is accepted in the race for the Pacific markets. It is the theory that faster ships and the great circle route will place Vancouver on better competitive basis, particularly in the passenger and mail carrying business, with California ports, which connect with transcontinental lines that are faster than those of Canada.

Becomes Trans-Shipping Center.

The port rapidly is growing as a trans-shipping center for commodities which arrive here by rail or through the Panama canal consigned to the orient. It is also distributing center for goods brought by water through the canal destined to the prairie provinces. No less than fifty-three steamship lines make Vancouver a regular port of call.

To be statistical: There are 21 deep sea lines to the United Kingdom and continental ports; 30 lines to the orient, Australia, Atlantic ports of the United States, South America, South Africa and West Indies, and two lines to California ports. In addition there are 13 steamship coastwise lines. The port is connected by ships on regular schedule to 47 different countries.

Home Port of 1,939 Ships.

It is the home port of 1,939 deep sea, coastwise, river, and lake vessels, according to the shipping registrar. Next highest in Canada is Montreal with about 650 vessels registered.

The Vancouver fleet ranges from magnificent deep sea liners, such as the Empress of Japan, to lumber scows and harbor tugs.

Air transportation as a modern adjunct to an all-British commerce route is as yet a dream. Vancouver has perhaps the finest airport in Canada, built on an island eight miles from the center of the city, with a mile of river frontage for seaplanes, at a cost of $600,000.

There is daily seaplane service to Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, and to Seattle. Planes run to the Yukon and northern British Columbia, carrying prospectors and supplies. A transcontinental air service, that would range 3,500 miles from the Atlantic to Vancouver on the Pacific, is under contemplation by the government.

Build New Airports.

Bases are being built here and there, and reports are the system may be underway within a year or two. At present air service in Canada extends north and south instead of east and west. From Winnipeg there is an air service to Minneapolis and St. Paul, from Montreal to New York, while from Edmonton, Alta., sixteen or more planes operate into the frozen reaches of the north and do heavy freight business with valuable ores. But cross-continent service is still to be developed, and from eastern Canada travelers make great savings in time by taking air routes in the United States to the Pacific and then to Vancouver.

As somewhat of a paradox Vancouver boasts it is as British as any city in the dominion and in the next breath it remarks it is perhaps the most American city in Canada. Victoria, 80 miles away, is "a bit of England." Vancouver in many respects is more like a British version of Seattle so to say. Its allegiance is deep to the empire but it has close contacts with the United States — Seattle is its next neighbor city of size, aside from Victoria.

Shop windows are filled with goods, marked "London made" and "British made," and pictures of the king and queen and notices of the coronation ceremonies hit the eye everywhere. But the ordinary man one meets talks English in the same vernacular as an ordinary American.

"Paradise of Sportsmen."

Radio, the movies and the tourist trade into the "paradise of sportsmen" are accounted an influence. The folks in a casual way talk of American politics with as much facility and understanding as of dominion and British affairs. It's a most friendly city, and year after year the number of visitors is growing until the tourists and the scenery are accounted one of the province's great assets. Visitors spent $11,000,000 in the province last year.

Many industries have located in Vancouver, and there are 30,000 employés in 2,700 industrial plants, including printing shops, laundries, and other small businesses. Strictly, manufacturing plants number 833, with an annual output in excess of $75,000,000. There are twenty-two lumber and shingle mills, great grain elevators with a capacity of eighteen billion bushels, two drydocks, and the city is ranked as the fourth most important manufacturing city in the dominion and the first west of the great lakes.

Toledo, O., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—William E. Lacey, boatswain of the coast guard cutter Frederick E. Lee, drowned early today when his automobile plunged into the Maumee river. CONVICT 5 MORE IN VOTE FRAUDS AT KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A federal court jury today convicted five men of conspiracy to defraud voters, bringing to seven the number convicted in two such trials in less than a week here.

John A. Lutheran.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

The jury deliberated less than three hours on the government's charges of wholesale vote frauds in the Nov. 3 election here and the defense contention that ghost voting and voter bribery do not violate federal laws. Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis deferred passing sentence.

Present No Defense Evidence.

The five convicted today presented no evidence, trusting their case to the jury on argument by counsel that "the federal government has nothing to do with elections."

"The federal government has nothing to do with elections," Defense Attorney William G. Boatright argued. "It is no violation of the United States law to stuff the ballot box. It is no violation of the law of the United States to bribe a voter, to allow ghosts to vote, to write on the names of poll books the names of voters who never voted."

Referring to the fact the polling place of the precinct from which the defendants come was a monument store, Assistant United States Attorney Sam C. Blair said:

"They [the defense attorneys] would have you believe the men saw nothing, heard nothing, knew nothing, and that all was quiet among the tombstones."

The five convicted are Lorne E. Wells, Democratic judge; Frank H. Adams, Republican judge; Joe R. Wells Jr., Democratic clerk; John A. Lutheran, Democratic precinct captain, and Leo B. Roach, policeman.

Government witnesses testified some voters were intimidated, that poll books were signed hours before the polls closed, that ballot boxes were stuffed, and that marks on ballots were erased.

DONALD, 14, BECOMES A DICK TRACY; TURNS IN A WINDOW SMASHER

Donald O'Keefe, 14 years old, 4701 North Winchester avenue, has a brother, Bob, who works in a chain grocery at 3767 North Racine avenue. As Donald went to meet Bob there yesterday he saw a man throw a brick through the store window, then hurry away. His detective instinct aroused, Donald followed, always remembering to stay a half block behind his quarry, in approved Dick Tracy fashion. They went all the way to 2500 Lincoln avenue before Donald saw a squad car and had the brick thrower arrested. The prisoner was Robert Osborne, 32 years old, who said he was hungry.

Minister Tells Benefits of His Preaching Ban

New York Rector Speaker at Lenten Service.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Rev. Dr. Frederic S. Fleming, rector of the famous Trinity Episcopal parish, New York, reiterated yesterday his famed plea of a few months ago for a moratorium on preaching and replied for the first time to the stormy and almost world-wide clerical criticism which his idea aroused. The laity, he said, praised the proposal.

Briefly, Dr. Fleming's retort asserted that as for present day preaching there virtually isn't any, and upon such preaching as there is he blamed the plight of present day Christianity in America and throughout the world. This being the case the Wall street rector argued that it would be better to stop preaching entirely—at least for a time—until the preacher might spare time from movies and automobiles for the full duty of his vocation.

Dr. Fleming, former Chicago rector, outlined his aggressive defense before the Church club of Chicago, Episcopal laymen's group, at luncheon at the Hotel Sherman. He is the noonday Lenten preacher this week at the Harris theater.

"Most young preachers do not know how to study or to plan their work," said Dr. Fleming. "Few preachers realize that they must arise at 6 o'clock to allow four hours of study each day, and that they cannot go to the movies with their wives as much as they would like. Most of them should get rid of their cars because they force responsibilites upon the parson he should not assume.

"But the day when the parson spent four hours a day in his study is 'gone with the wind.' There are no great preachers in America, but plenty of talkers.

"Despite the fact that more than 1,500 persons attend Trinity church daily, we gave up daily preaching except in Lent. The preaching at the daily services was terrible. Now our daily program is largely educational; how to worship, moral problems, and the like, with a clergyman always on hand to assist in individual situations."

Big Dose of Neglect Cures Spoiled Child

Too Much Fussing Over Him Has Upset His Ego.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"I didn't believe you," he said to me. "Somehow what you said didn't seem to make sense, though I didn't want to tell you so.

"But last Sunday morning when things got pretty thick with the kids and I could see that Madge was just about played out, I decided I'd take a hand. I told her to go back to bed and I'd run the show. I didn't know just what tactics I'd use with those two wild Indians of mine, but at least I'd hold the fort alone and give the Sunday paper and Madge a vacation.

"The first 'trial by fire' came when I was giving the children their breakfast. For months Madge had been talking about how frantic they were driving her with their actions at the table and how worried she was about their not eating this or that.

"We sat down and the antics began immediately. I started to coax and argue, and then I caught myself. That's what Madge had been doing for months and where had it gotten her? Suddenly before my mind's eye a signal associated with what you'd said seemed to go up: 'Ignore it.' I did that.

"The children looked bewildered. Babe whined and complained about her food and, ignoring Babe, I fed the cat little bits of my fish! John pushed aside his plate of scrambled eggs. 'I hate eggs,' he said, and looked at me out of the corner of his eye. I took out a cigarette and asked him to get me the matches and an ash tray. When I was ready to clear the table they'd each eaten a decent meal.

"What general was it who said something like 'We'll fight it out along this line if it takes all winter'? Anyway, I decided I'd try out that one line for the day at least, and it worked. So much as it hurts, I have to admit that you're right. A whole lot of naughty things those kids did all that day were done just to get attention, and ignoring them stole all their thunder."

Try it yourself. You will be surprised. Just don't see some of the things your spoiled child is doing. Be really interested in his play or his books or his valid questions about everything under the sun. But ignore his fussing at meals, or his repeated "I won't," or anything that looks like an attention-getter. Don't keep watching every little thing he says and does, whether you intend to praise or blame. Try a big dose of wholesome neglect.

A good antidote for too much fussing over spoiled children is found in our fully written leaflet, "Wholesome Neglect Is Often Cure for Undesirable Behavior." This leaflet will be sent on receipt of a large, 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Good Winter Feed.

One winter we farmers became short of feed for our cows. Finally I got an idea. As there was much snow I bought green glasses for all my cows. Then I let them out in the snow, and the cows, seeing the green snow, thought it was grass and ate all day long.

In the evening when I milked I didn't get milk—I got cream so cool and rich that I sold it for whipping cream at two dollars a pint. The only reason I harvest my hay now is for fear there will be no snow for my cows.—G. A., Suttons Bay, Mich.

Dad Shingles His House.

My father was shingling our house one day, and the fog was the thickest we had ever seen. It happened that he had only a few feet of roof left to shingle when he started. Noon came and I was worried. I went to see why dad hadn't finished. This is what was wrong: The fog was so thick that he had shingled out from the roof for about 15 feet.—G. P., Paw Paw, Ill.

Self-Assurance Never Should Be Confused with Plain Conceit

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"The very core of charm," said Erin O'Brien-Moore over our teacups, "is that complete sex-confidence that some women have who, although possessed of great personal assurance, are without the charm-destroying element, conceit.

"Certain women have the assurance of being attractive, of being desirable, of being what we might call 'sex-sure,' who never offend with a conceited glance, word, or phrase. They are women who have earned their assurance by native wit, charm, and appearance. Or, it may have been lavishly gifted by nature. Or, it may be the result of wise parents whose motto is to build constructively, to foster that grand gift of assurance, as opposed to the devastating influence some parents impart with their heartlessly destructive criticism of a little daughter.

"There's a great difference between this magnificent assurance of which I speak, and conceit. The latter, as every one knows, may have a hideous inferiority complex at its root. Or, it may be a lopsided view of self. In any event, it never registers with the fine poise, the confidence and the charm that emanate from the woman assured that she is attractive, the woman with supreme sex confidence. There are no self-conscious angles, never a gauche mannerism about the latter. She's won her place by wit or native charm, or both. She's sure of her place. Consequently, she can go ahead and forget self and be an individual of great glamor."

Miriam Hopkins, whom Eric O'Brien-Moore admires tremendously, has this great gift of sex-confidence, without a grain of conceit. Consequently, she has glamor and loads of it. Clara Bow had it in a boisterous way. Lillian Gish, with her "fay" quality, is another. And Garbo must have it or she could not be the supreme artist and beauty that she is, thinks Erin.

Nazimova gets Miss O'Brien-Moore's vote for superlative beauty of bodily motion. "Have you ever noticed the way she uses her head? Her shoulders? The trick of neck turning she has? The way her whole body moves when she crosses a stage?"

Judith Anderson's use of her shoulders has the young star's supreme admiration. No shoulders carry so much expression. The use of her neck, too, is a study in beautiful movement.

Shoulders and neck and the turning of the head are features of great interest to Erin. They have strong influence on the beauty of the entire body, of the individual. In Hollywood Miss O'Brien-Moore studies dancing with Carmelita Maracci, who she believes is the greatest of Spanish dancers. Two hours daily is not too much time for Erin to devote to dancing, since she loves to dance and since it does contribute so much to beauty of form.

From all of which above you may conclude that Erin O'Brien-Moore, besides being a young woman cast in a highly pleasing physical mold, has in that well shaped head of hers, set upon a rarely beautiful throat, more than the average mental equipment.

TAKE-OUTS WITH A LOWER RANKING SUIT.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

With a six card suit in the hand the requirements for a take-out into a lower ranking suit are decreased to one honor trick, and sometimes less. With two suits divided 5-5 the requirement also is one honor trick. With two suits divided 6-5, or with any seven card or longer suit, a take-out should be made regardless of honor tricks. The responder should take out partner's opening one spade bid with a suit bid of two on the following hands:

The bidding:

3 spades	4 clubs	Pass	Pass

"Dear Mr. Culbertson:

"I don't care so much for an analysis of the East-West bidding, but I would like an explanation of how North-South should bid the hand.

"As South, I admit that I made a rather weak take-out double. However, I held a freakish hand and always could run to hearts. Over West's one spade, my partner [a charming but inexperienced player] now bid two hearts, thus becoming a free bidder. When East bid three spades I sensed she was trying to shut me out. If my partner's two heart bid were honest I was convinced that there was a small slam in the hand. I could bid five hearts, but I was afraid my partner would pass, and I also was afraid to jump directly to six hearts, which I wished later I had done. I chose to bid four clubs, believing that would force my partner to bid again. However, she afterward explained that opponents were using the artificial one club bid, which was her reason for passing my four club bid. Of course, I made four clubs, but the small slam in hearts is a spread, and unless East opens the ace of spades it becomes a grand slam. Yours very truly,

"N. J. G."

It seems to me that South attempted complicated investigation into a crystal-clear situation. When North put in a free two heart bid over West's one spade the odds in favor of a small slam became enormous. It is true that North could have had a long heart suit headed by the queen, and high card value in diamonds, which would be worthless in a heart slam. But since, according to South's own estimate, North was an inexperienced player, it would have been far better to have taken this gamble rather than muddle around with a bid that possibly could be misinterpreted.

If South wanted to be ultraconservative he could bid merely five hearts over three spades, and North, with the hand actually held, should go to six. But the best of all bids, under the circumstances, was a direct slam call of six hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Partner opened with one diamond. Next hand doubled. What is the proper response for third hand with the following?

Movie Director Roars 'No' Over 'Keep Out' Sign

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—At Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio they still tell with glee about the time Director W. S. ["Woody"] Van Dyke, gruff spoken but intensely human, came off his sound stage at lunch time and discovered that somebody had tacked up a sign: "Positively no admittance on this set." Exploding in rage, "Van" ripped down the sign. Van Dyke charged back inside his sound stage and yelled: "Who put this thing up? A lot of people in the motion picture business aren't aware of the value of good will. If any one wants to come 2,400 miles from Peoria to Los Angeles and gets a chance to see a picture being shot on my set, she can come on my set and I'm going to let her watch as long as she behaves herself. No admittance! Not on my set."

Rough and ready Director Van Dyke has the faculty of concentrating, and getting his players to concentrate so intensely on their scenes for one of his film stories that all are unaware how many people might be looking on. No director is more popular with his force of technicians and players than Van Dyke.

The foregoing is not to be taken to mean that people have not been thrown off Van Dyke's set. Van is an officer in the United States marine reserve, and is as adept and ready a scrapper as you will find around the studios, barring no truck drivers. When the occasion comes for somebody to be ejected from his set, Van will do it and has done the ejecting personally and taken keen delight in making a good job of it.

Elsie Dempsey, sister of Jack Dempsey, has been playing a bit in the fight audience in "Kid Galahad," now being made at Warners. Bette Davis, Edward G. Robinson, Humphrey Bogart and a tall, rugged shouldered, sandy complexion young fellow named Wayne Morris head the cast, whose fringes are embellished by the presence of a large number of gents with cauliflower ears. Mushy Callahan, one time welterweight champion, is technical director. According to Director Mike Curtiz, Morris, who is a Pasadena junior college boy, and William Haade, a New York steel construction worker who recently turned actor, "are actors who make better fighters than the fighters make actors." Among the fighters are Bob Nestell, and Hank Hankinson, coast heavyweights.

The fourteenth Charlie Chan film in six years is being completed at Twentieth Century Fox. It is "Charlie Chan at the Olympics," meaning the 1936 Berlin games. After one more story, "Charlie Chan on Broadway," Walter Oland, who plays the character, and his wife, the one time Edith Shearn, will voyage to his native Sweden, Finland, Denmark, and Norway, and return here in time to make one-third Chan film this year, "Charlie Chan at Harvard."

Robert Ellis, ex-actor, and Helen Logan, ex-stenographer, who have authored many of the Chan mysteries, did the same with the one just winding up.

Gene Fowler, one time New York newspaper editor, recently did the screen play of "All Baba Goes to Town" for an Eddie Cantor comedy, and is now working on the adaptation of "Saratoga Chips," a turf comedy by Irving Caesar and Damon Runyon.

The diamond bracelet initialed "I. L. Y.," which Ida Lupino is wearing, is a gift from Louis Hayward. If you ask Ida why the initial "Y" after her own initials she only answers "why."

They had to reshoot a scene in which Sidney Blackmer impersonates President Theodore Roosevelt in "This Is My Affair" at Twentieth Century, because Blackmer's high, tight collar and the vehement exclamation he was supposed to make, caused his face to turn crimson, and the red, as usual in black and white photography, looked black to the camera. Blackmer put on a larger collar and redid it.

Jane Withers is proud of a crimson ribboned, gold sealed and engraved scroll received from Chicago, which informs her the Chicago Amusement Publicists association have bestowed it on her for "unique talent and personality bringing happiness to millions of people."

Season to Run Six Weeks Next Summer.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT may not be remembered that Ravinia park once was an amusement park instead of the musical center it came to be, but it has not been forgotten that the park was dark for four summers following its thirteen consecutive years as the summer music capital of the United States.

Therefore the announcement made yesterday by the Ravinia Festival association that there will be a concert season at Ravinia beginning July 1 is welcomed by every music lover in the city.

The park was opened last year for five weeks of music played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The same orchestra has been engaged for the coming summer, and Willoughby G. Walling, chairman of the last festival and chairman again for the summer of 1937, plans to continue the association's policy of presenting noted guest conductors.

At the close of the 1936 season it was revealed that more than 50,000 persons attended the twenty concerts. At that time, and because of that encouraging attendance, plans were made for a six weeks' season this year.

Howard R. Will is secretary and R. E. Pritchard is treasurer of the association. Among those on the executive committee are Thomas Hart Fisher, Francis M. Knight, Ralph H. Poole, Howell W. Murray, Renslow P. Sherer, Durand Smith, and George Voevodsky.

The north shore will have a full quota of musical events this year, for the North Shore Music festival is to be held May 11, 13, and 15 at Patten gymnasium at Northwestern university. Many of those supporting the Ravinia festival are assisting with plans for the north shore festival, including Mr. Knight, who is on the executive board of both organizations, and Mrs. Walling and Mrs. Poole, who are serving on committees.

Gives Lecture Tonight on Student Peace Plan.

Donald Watt, director of the Experiment in International Living, will speak on his work and show colored pictures of trips to France, England, Norway, Sweden, Germany, and Austria at the Lake Forest day school tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Day Farwell and the T. Albert Potters are giving dinners and taking their guests to the program at 8 o'clock.

Interest has been growing in the organization, formed three or four years ago, not-for-profit. Its purpose is to increase international understanding. Several north shore families have sent their boys and girls of high school or college age to France or Germany to live in the summer time. In exchange those countries send groups of their own students to American homes.

The Foster Hannafords and the Walter T. Fishers had a youthful Frenchman as their house guest for two weeks last summer, while their own youngsters were living in France and Germany. Unfortunately Chicago seems a bit far for most European students to come after they reach the United States. This year an English group and two groups of German students are expected in the east, and another group will venture as far west as Denver.

Miss Priscilla Hannaford has spent two summers in France following the international plan, and this year she will go to Norway in a group of ten Americans, led by two young men, one of them her brother, Ogden Hannaford, a student at Yale. It will be young Mr. Hannaford's fourth season abroad.

Italy-America Society to Hear Ethiopian Music.

The deep tones of African tom-toms will fill the drawing room of Dr. and Mrs. Otho Fisher Ball's home at 1325 Astor street this afternoon where 60 members of the Italy-America society will gather to hear Laura Boulton's [Mrs. Rudyerd Boulton] "music of the Ethiopian region." The party will serve as a welcome, also, to the new Italian consul general, Franco Fontana, who is replacing Mario Carosi.

Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, Miss Emily Larned, Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mrs. John Crerar, and Mrs. Frank Parker will pour at the tea following Mrs. Boulton's concert of music she recorded in Africa. The Balls' daughter, Mrs. Gerald Wellesley, who lives in England, is traveling now in India and Java.

Friends of China Announce Dinner.

The Friends of China are issuing invitations to a dinner on March 8 at the Arts club for Lin Yu Tang, author of "My Country and My People." Col. George T. Langhorne is chairman of the event.

By that date Mrs. William B. Hale, president of the organization, will have returned with Mr. Hale from a 10 day visit to New York. The Hales' children, George Hale II., a student at Harvard law school, and their daughter, Miss Mary Hale, who is at Dobbs Ferry, joined them for the holiday week-end and tomorrow the Hales will see her sister, Mrs. William Gold Hibbard, and the Frank Hibbards sail on a long cruise.

The Hibbards' trip has an unusual itinerary, including the Barbadoes and Martinique, Senegal in West Africa, several North African ports, Palermo and Naples, and winding up in Marseilles.

Marion Strobel Mitchell [Mrs. James H. Mitchell] and Jessica Nelson North will be the first speakers

Chirico Leaves Classic Realm in New Exhibit

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Horses and more horses, all with flowing tails and full manes, are the fare in the exhibition of paintings by Chirico at the Quest galleries, 810 North Michigan avenue. It is a splendid show, thrilling and exciting.

Chirico has been under the cloud of his noted classicism long enough; these recent pictures carry him well out of the fugue of the statuesque. There are a few relapses into the Athenian age, one amusing Picassoish group, with men in Greek robes wearing eggs for heads, tops this section, but on the whole the paintings are reasonable, alive and beautifully composed.

A stunning composition with fruit, "Tuscan Fruits," gives a glimpse of the artist's ability to handle velvety surfaces with a richness and smoothness of touch that is very like Renoir. This and "Arabian Sunset" are probably the two finest canvases in the exhibit. They are magnificent.

"St. Cloud" reveals still another facet of Cirico's skill, for it is a landscape minus figures, a delightful departure from his usual type of composition. The blended colors in the houses climbing the hill are subdued and delicate.

"Warriors" is an involved painting of decided merit. The entangled figures of horses and men are well drawn and the colors used are stunning. The "Phantom Over Florence" suggests the primitive, the city below the angel that floats calmly through the sky is beautifully painted. There is humor, and a little caustic surrealist touch is also obvious, in "Impression of New York City" and "Mysterious Bath." Puck must have guided the brush when Chirico achieved these puzzling incidents.

Wood carvings by Carl Hallsthammar and paintings by members of the Swedish Art associations are on view in the Tudor gallery, Chicago Woman's club, this week and next.

The Chicago Camera club, 137 North Wabash avenue, is showing prints by the British contributors to the London Salon of Photography of 1936. Camera enthusiasts will find a great deal of material in this exhibit to excite them. It is a most interesting show. The exhibition will continue to Feb. 27.

Find Child Film Stars Have No Appeal for Boys of School Age

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The box-office appeal of child movie stars to boys was described today as almost nil, but with the girls it's different.

The results of a survey made public by the Children's Aid society revealed movies starring the Shirley Temples, Mickey Rooneys, Freddie Bartholomews, and Jane Witherses may attribute their third place popularity to a heavy feminine vote.

Ninety-one per cent of the favorable vote for such pictures came from girls, but from the boys came a grudging 9 per cent, replies to a questionnaire circulated among 10,000 Manhattan boys and girls showed. The majority of the boys and girls who answered ranged from 11 to 13 years old.

The movie preference of this group ran to adult pictures with adult stars, and the G-man film led all the rest. A close second was the mystery movie with only 1 per cent less vote.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The best of all glamor tricks involves the right use of the right scent. For the would-be "gardenia girl" we can recommend three bath aids that lift the spirits and enhance the skin with a lasting perfume—an oil, a soap mitt, and an enchanting friction lotion, all in the same haunting fragrance.

The popularity of the cool, tantalizing scent of gardenia is not hard to understand. It's an aristocratic fragrance, just tropical enough to be excitingly lush, just leafy enough to hit a beautiful balance of restraint.

You simply haven't lived until you've had a gardenia bath that's literally like a dreamy fall into a soft bed of the beautiful flowers themselves. It's all done with the aid of a gardenia bath oil, a gardenia friction lotion and a woolly white mitt filled with Castile soap, herbs and gardenia sachet.

One of Chicago's best dressed women, who always floats her fashionable way in the enchanting fragrance of gardenia, led us to these. Only one shop here carries them, but they're well worth the search. All three are packaged together in one ivory colored box, and all three are preparations made by a New Yorker who is one of the world's cleverest women in creating scents.

The gardenia bath oil is heavenly. The bottle top serves as your measuring spoon. About a thimbleful is enough to make the water so divinely fragrant you'll want just to lie in the tub and let the world go on its crazy course. It makes the skin fragrant, too—and the scent lingers. But the friction is our special love. This bottle has a shaker top—you simply sprinkle the perfumed, refreshing liquid on your skin and then give yourself a rubdown. It's not a drying lotion, either, as many of the bracing, cooling lotions are.

The soap filled mitt is to be used instead of a wash cloth, of course. You can use it repeatedly before exhausting its fragrant contents, and you'll love it for the nice ever so slightly rough feel of it and for the fragrance it carries.

With this bath, triply glorified with gardenia, you'll find your skin stays beautifully scented all day long.

Gadget Hounds Will Like This: Key Flashlight

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Glorified gadgets spring up every once in a while, causing great excitement. For next to an avid collector of antiques or stamps, people with a weakness for these practical but decorative trifles to make life easier rate almost top line for buying the new arrivals. Here's a new idea that ought to keep them all happy, a slick little pocket flashlight and attached key guard.

Designed for both men and women, it's some find. It's called "Luckylight," comes in every imaginable color and combine [to please the ensemble addicts], and can be had for a sum way under a dollar. The flashlight really works, it's no bigger than a round lipstick, to it is attached a sleek patent small fold that will harbor neatly and flatly a couple of important keys, three if necessary.

Refill bulbs can be found at any five and dime store, and besides being practical any exacting shopper will be glad to own it to carry it in the swankiest of imported handbags. Experimentation proves that for finding the time on your wrist in the black interior of a movie house, it can't be equaled. The spot of light illumines the largest watch dials. In the dim light of a phone booth it's an eye-saver. When you're struggling with the keyhole late of nights, with all the lights all out, this double duty gadget really justifies its existence. You can also intrigue bored gentlemen at a stuffy dinner party with the lighter, for no one can resist the fun of pushing the button to prove that it works.

Red, green, yellow, black, blue enamel, and one of the best black and white combines are the colors, with a price that will make you believe in Santa Claus again.

Good Morning!

"Beloved Enemy" is an ardent fictional version of the manner in which peace was restored between the Irish and the English in the days of 1921. An exciting and glamorous web of truths, untruths, and half truths that provides ninety minutes of right good entertainment.

According to this opus, the romance between the leader of the Irish insurrectionists and the daughter of a British conciliator has great bearing on results. The picture was made with two endings. The happy one is on tap in the movie at the United Artists'.

The action starts in Dublin, and here the observer finds himself contemplating with lively interest, hot clashes between the Britishers and the Irish rebels and introduced to the clever, devil may care, incorrigibly humorous young leader of the latter.

Comes the aforementioned conciliator, Lord Athleigh, to see what can be done in the way of pouring oil on troubled waters. With him is his beauteous and peace loving daughter, Helen.

Helen and Dennis meet and love. She goes to his apartment to discuss politics and love. . . . While the two are thus engaged the place is raided.

Lord Athleigh takes his daughter back to London. Later, Dennis and cohorts go there to discuss settlement terms. Dennis makes peace and it is, apparently a popular one. . . . But there are diehards in his own party who acclaim him a traitor. . . . Tragedy ensues that leads up to—the two endings I've spoken of.

You will find Miss Oberon and Mr. Aherne a grand team. Their romantic scenes are charming. Other players are well cast. [Messrs. Stephenson and King look so much alike you're kept agog telling 'em apart.]

The piece is effectively staged and photographed.

See you tomorrow.

A LITTLE girl who lives in Whiting, Ind., who is to celebrate her tenth birthday anniversary April 25 discovered that Princess Elizabeth, heir presumptive to the British throne, is to be 10 on the same day. Overcome by this coincidence, she ran to tell her aunt, who was a visitor in her home, the astounding fact. Her aunt, not seeming unduly impressed with the importance of the matter, the child added impressively, "You know, auntie, Mrs. Simpson's little girl."

A COMMUTER who leaves a western suburb each morning on the 8:05 train has aroused much interest in fellow commuters both because of a certain appeal in his appearance, and because of the sheets of paper he fills up with scribbling, only to crumple up and throw on the floor before he leaves the train. He would be astonished to learn that interest in him reached such a pitch that certain of his fellow passengers have, for the last eighteen months, been retrieving these crumpled bits, which turn out to be word pictures of his fellow passengers, street scenes from the train windows, and similar literary paragraphs. Our bulletineer describes him as follows: "His face is lean and sharp, his gray eyes are sad, he wears his baggy tweeds nonchalantly. On the rare occasions when he addresses fellow commuters we detect a delightful Kentish accent. But it is his hands that intrigue the imagination, long and tapering, the hands of an artist or musician, but unmistakably marked with gear grease and cuts from file or emery wheel."

LAST Friday morning two nuns boarded the train at Wheaton, and the crumpled sheet retrieved by the shameless fellow passengers was headed, "Portrait of a Nun," and read:

"You are beautiful, like the quiet beauty found in a forest. There is a subtle grace in the gesture of your hands reminiscent of the lifted wings of a swallow. A sweet tranquility dreams in your eyes like twin pools reflecting an April moon. The tone of your voice is like the music of the winds in the trees, and your smile is the radiance of a first star. You who have so much of patience, faith, loyalty, and reverence, spare me just your courage!"

IT would be only meet were the crumpled paper scrabblers to pick up—one fine morning—a not too kindly word picture of themselves. And of a columnist who prints their unfair findings.

A FEW days ago in one of our public schools a teacher lost her key to the closet door. She borrowed a hammer from the custodian, but when she was about to break the lock, the class, practically unanimously, cried out:

"Don't break the lock, teacher; we'll pick it for you."

They did, too.

THE Rudolph Reuter concert tonight at the Goodman, which is a benefit for the Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler Fund for Needy Musicians, recalls to musical-minded Chicagoans the famous Sunday night parties at which the late Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler used to preside in her south side home. These gatherings omitted no worth while musical personage, native or visiting, and a part of the evening's fun was when strangers tried to read two-piano and four-handed music with some one who knew the part well, before an erudite group. Often the famous artists would stumble and stagger through their notes to the delight of the listeners, for often, a musician friend says, the greatest soloists are the poorest readers. Mrs. Zeisler, one of America's leading concert pianists, died ten years ago. She willed her collection of autographed manuscripts and books to her husband, the original manuscript of one of Schumann's orchestral compositions to Frederick Stock, and her chamber music to her son, Dr. Ernest Zeisler.

SYNOPSIS.

Adrian Somervell and Diana Lake become engaged when the young scientist learns he is heir to the fortune of his late step-mother, Rose Somervell, ex-star of the theater, who was Diana's godmother. Until shortly before her death Adrian and she had been estranged. Adrian had lunched with her shortly before her death, with Nicholas Blundell, wealthy bachelor solicitor, who lived in the London flat below Rose. Blundell's neurotic secretary, Elsie Dilworth, was madly in love with Adrian, who'd repulsed her. She'd called during the luncheon on business. Blundell is Diana's godfather. She'd always disliked him. An autopsy reveals that Rose was poisoned. Then Diana's actress mother, Margaret Fairlamb, is murdered. Robbery is thought to be the motive. Adrian is arrested. Remnants of the poison, which killed Rose, are found in his pocket. Blundell persuades Diana to move to Rose's flat. He obtains a lawyer for Adrian. Diana sees Elsie Dilworth, who has left Blundell's employ, return and search the premises. Diana hires a private agent, Mortimer Bream. Watching Elsie's lodgings he sees an East Indian trying to break into the girl's room. Inspector Headcorn, assigned to the investigation of Diana's mother's murder, believes there is a link between the two murders. He discovers a secret stairs between Diana's flat and Blundell's. The East Indian is found dead, apparently a suicide. Diana receives a package of papers from Elsie which she states contains clews to the murder. Then Elsie commits suicide.

INSTALMENT XXXVIII.

ONE IMPORTANT HOUR.

Inspector Headcorn was striving to establish beyond a doubt the whereabouts of Nicholas Blundell on the night of November first. If he could find the hour between eleven and midnight suitably occupied he would clear his mind at once of one tentative theory regarding Margaret Fairlamb's murder. A slight haziness about that hour would not, it was true, enable him to make out a case; but still it would encourage him to press further.

Interviewing the solicitor's two servants, he was told, once the date was recalled to their minds, that their master on the stated evening had dined at home, in the company of two of his most distinguished clients — Lord Limpsfield and Sir Norbury Penge, neither of whom had left till about one o'clock. Gaylord remembered this well, for the gentlemen had dismissed their cars, and at the time of their departure he had called them a taxi. During the evening it was quite impossible for Mr. Blundell to have quitted the flat. Gaylord was asked if the clients just named dined here often.

"Not together," was his answer. "I believe this was the first time since his lordship introduced Sir Norbury to Mr. Blundell. That would be about twelve months ago, when Sir Norbury had just got his title."

"I suppose a fair amount of business is conducted in the flat?"

"O, yes, sir. Some of these busy gentlemen seem to prefer it. Come to that, they wouldn't find better whisky and cigars, not even in Buckingham palace — and they get away with a lot, too."

Headcorn remarked that Mr. Blundell seemed a most hospitable man.

"There's nothing small about him," replied Gaylord, "nor underhand," he added with meaning. "I've worked for him four years, and I ought to know."

Now to secure confirmation; but first Headcorn took measures calculated to reveal any concerted attempt to support Blundell's alibi. He arranged that while he called on Lord Limpfield his colleague, Inspector Baynes, should do the same with Sir Norbury Penge. Each officer was to put his questions in a certain way, after which they would compare results. It seemed doubtful if the two visits could be made to coincide in point of time. Actually, they did do so admirably well, in each case the official card ensuring its bearer prompt attention.

The newspaper proprietor was seen at his palatial residence in Belgrave Square. Headcorn was ushered into a handsome but businesslike office and for the first time found himself face to face with the man who, from having begun life as a Natal farm hand, had climbed by his own efforts to the eminence of a power in the British empire.

"Well, inspector!" The plain man's voice, with its subflavor of colonial drawl, addressed him heartily. "And what can I do for you? Smoke?" A big hand, immaculate, but not over manicured, pushed forward a box of Coronas. "No? Duty call, I see! Well——" with a comfortable laugh, "shoot it over."

"A mere detail of routine, sir, which I daresay you'll be able to settle for me in a few sentences. I should like very much to know what you happened to be doing on the evening of November first, with especial regard to the hour between eleven and twelve. Could you tell me where you spent that time, and with whom?"

Lord Limpsfield's gaze, never stirring from the speaker's face, had grown cold and steely, like an iceberg in mid-ocean. Very deliberately the cigar was removed from his lips and tapped against a Lalique ash tray. To Headcorn it seemed as if the brain which was said to keep tab of a hundred diverse enterprises just as a master juggler rotates a dozen plates without letting one fall, was reviewing in lightning succession every eventuality the question involved before committing itself to an answer.

And then Lord Limpsfield spoke.

"November first?" The peer drew towards him a Morocco-bound diary. "In one moment I'll answer your questions."

Silence while he searched and, having found what he wanted, stared hard at the entry. Then, his whole manner noticeably relaxed, he passed the book across the mahogany table for his visitor to examine.

"That's simple," he said with a smile. "I was dining with my legal adviser, Nicholas Blundell, at his flat in Kensington. It comes back to me now. Between eleven and twelve, you said? I was sitting in his library, deep in an interesting discussion. Didn't come away till — O, quite one o'clock."

"So you were dining with Mr. Blundell. I suppose he remained with you the whole evening without break?"

"Certainly he did. See here, inspector, what's it all about?" The magnate's expression was frankly bewildered. "If you doubt my word, consult the other guest who was present at the time. Sir Norbury Penge. O, yes, ——" in reply to the inspector's raised brows. "He's Blundell's client, too — through my recommendation, as it happens. Penge is a busy man these days. Whizzing about all over the country, hard to nail down. As Blundell had a little business to talk over with each of us he conceived the notion of inviting us together for old times' sake. I was much interested to hear the latest details of Penge's development scheme, straight from the horse's mouth, so to speak. Well?" He paused expectantly.

"Am I wrong," ventured the inspector, "or was Sir Norbury once in your lordship's employ?"

"He was," assented Limpsfield. "I'd like to be conceited and call him my discovery. Bright lad, Penge. Best advertising manager The Banner's ever had — which is saying a mouthful. A loss to me when he moved up the ladder, but it's been gratifying to find him sponsoring an improvement plan which has such excellent news value."

Again he paused and, with pretended lightness, returned to the matter in hand.

"Now, then, inspector! Can't you give me some inkling of what you're after?"

However, Headcorn was moving towards the door. With a gesture intended to soften his evasion, he said: "It amounts to just nothing, sir, now I've had your assurance on the point. I'll have to do my duty and get Sir Norbury's statement, of course. In fact, I'll move on to him now; but you can take it from me, it's a washout, and we may leave it at that. Many thanks. I'll not take up any more of your valuable time!"

So saying, he quitted the room, taking with him the strong impression of a man trying to sift out a problem.

"He's stumped," thought Headcorn. "But not for long. He's only got to turn up a few back files of his own papers to see exactly what I'm after — and then what? Now we'll hear if Sir Norbury is telling a like story."

Soon afterward, in a cubbyhole office at New Scotland Yard, he was listening to Inspector Baynes' account of a visit astonishingly similar to his own.

"I put the thing as you advised," said Baynes. "Sir Norbury declares most positively that Blundell never left the premises for the whole of that evening. Says he may have quitted the actual room for a few moments, but that was all. I'll take my oath he was telling the truth."

"Just how did he behave when you first entered his office?" asked Headcorn tentatively.

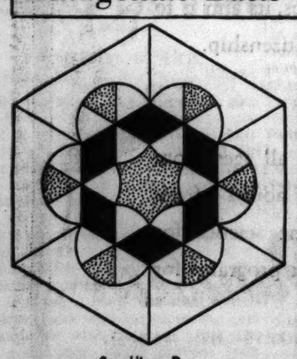
Hexagonals Basis of 'Sparkling Dew'



Sparkling Dew.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

There are only a few hexagonal pieced quilt blocks, and all of them are beautiful. "Sparkling Dew" is a name as charming as the quilt block is scintillating, but it is a difficult pattern to piece and only the most expert needleworkers approach the work without fear and trembling. A quilt diagram accompanying the pattern illustrates how simply the blocks of "Sparkling Dew" may be set together. Crimson, French blue, and white form a gay and cheerful combination.

Stewed Chicken Makes a Thrifty and Tasty Dish

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Chicken with dumplings is economical right now, because poultry is selling at prices which range from 20 to 30 per cent lower than last year's prices, and the supply is plentiful.

The greatest bargain is the stewing hen, which makes an excellent chicken pie, salad, or creamed chicken.

Moist heat is the rule for cooking a "stewing" chicken, since its flesh is somewhat tougher and stringier than that of younger fowl and requires moisture for conversion to tenderness. This means cooking covered, whether in the oven or on top of the stove. Usually some liquid, in addition to the moisture produced by steam, is added. The hen may be cooked in water, baked in milk or cream or "winter fried" [browned and then cooked in its own steam]. There is a new chicken fryer, soon to be featured in Chicago department stores, which is excellent for cooking hens. It consists really of two heavy aluminum skillets, one of which is inverted over the other to make a cover.

But, to return to the stewing hen, the following recipes suggest additional delicious methods of preparation. First the hen is cooked in water until tender. The kettle should be tightly covered, and the heat should be low. Low temperatures are the rule with poultry, especially with the "stewer." Stewed chicken serves a double purpose. The liquid in which it is cooked may be served as broth or in soup, and the chicken meat may be served at another meal.

Chicken Chop Suey.

[Serves 10]

1 cup shredded green pepper
1 cup shredded onion
3 tablespoons butter
2 cups diced, cooked chicken
2 cups shredded celery and leaves
2 cups canned bean sprouts
1½ cups chicken broth
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup toasted almonds
¼ cup soy sauce

Add the green pepper and onion to the melted butter in a skillet. Allow to cook for several minutes without browning. Add the chicken and cook for 5 minutes. Add celery, bean sprouts, and broth, reserving enough broth to make a paste with the cornstarch. Add the paste to the chop suey and cook gently for 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in almonds and soy sauce last. Serve with hot rice.

Chicken a la King

[Serves 8]

1 tablespoon butter
1 cup mushrooms
1 tablespoon green pepper
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
Sprinkling cayenne pepper
1½ cups milk
1 cup chicken stock
2 cups cooked chicken, diced
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

Melt the butter and add mushrooms and green pepper. Cook and stir for several minutes. Add flour and seasonings, and cook for 5 minutes more. Add milk and stock slowly, and stir until smooth. Add the other ingredients and serve as soon as heated.

His topic will be "Broadway in Review." Charlotte Walker and members of the company of "You Can't Take It with You," now running at the Harris theater, will be guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Knorr are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, their first child, yesterday at St. Luke's hospital. The baby is a fourth generation Chicagoan. His mother, the former Jeanné Street, is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charles A. Street and of Mrs. John A. Wakefield. Mrs. Harry L. Street and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Knorr of Wichita, Kas., are the baby's grandparents.

Popularity Is Reward of a Good Listener

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Showing a genuine interest in people is considered the secret of getting on with people.

"How," asks Leon, "can you appear really interested in people without asking a lot of impudent questions that I myself would resent having put to me?"

Is it necessary to ask impudent personal questions of an individual to prove you are interested in him? You certainly wouldn't ask how much salary is being earned, the state of the bank account, whether he or she gets on amicably with the mate. Just simple good taste would prevent such behavior. One doesn't even step up to a person and blurt out a direct query as to what nature of work is his. One feels around until the revelation is made. And people, because their occupations are so all-absorbing, usually make the revelation early in the game. However, these personal angles are not included in the approach known as willingness to show an interest in the other person.

Rather, one begins with one's self in this matter of showing an interest in others. One reviews one's own habits with censure. One asks if he isn't over addicted to the 'I' theme. If, at every opening, it isn't himself he is projecting, rather than listening for a cue to get in on the other fellow's angle on life. Probably the best formula for learning the trick of showing that genuine interest that never fails to create friends, is to swear off the "I," the "me," the "mine." When you catch yourself waiting breathlessly for that opening when you may barge in with your pet I-me-mine theme, stifle the urge. Listen the other person through. Don't interrupt until you are asked to contribute your experience.

Even though you may be bored at first, it is excellent practice to train the ear to listen, and listen attentively. Women, goodness knows, have had this doctrin preached into them by every adviser interested in making them successful with men. And observation proves that the women who do get on best with men are women with the willing ear. The "I" girls are left holding their bag of I's, me's and mine's, while the willing listener is rushed off to dinner, dance and show.

What happens to the reformed "I-er" is that he or she begins to find that other people have interesting things to say. They have interesting contacts on which to report.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Two distinctly different tailleurs may be created with this one pattern. One ensemble is a suit-frock with a peplum, and the other is a tunic suit. Both have smart lapel collars and nipped-in waistlines. The skirts are trimly fitted, although built for action at the hemline. Both wear narrow lether belts in keeping with their colors. Sleeves puffed generously at the shoulderline are shared by both models, too, creating a smart, broad effect which minimizes the waistline by contrast.

The peplum suit-frock has an ascot scarf, in harmonizing shade, tucked in at the neckline, whereas the tunic suit has a tuxedo vestee, a prim, neat and tailored note. The suit frock, in the original, is fashioned of crêpe print in blue and red. The ascot is navy blue, as are the belt and the hanky tucked into the little breast pocket. The tunic outfit may be created in either sheer woolen, rabbit's hair woolen, or heavy crêpe. The original is in heavy silk crêpe in a delectable dark gray. The vestee is pure and shining white piqué, starched.

Style No. 3329 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Your Handwriting Analyzed

Any Tribune reader can obtain a personal graphology chart showing his or her assets, handicaps, talents, and emotions by following these rules:

1. Send a sample of handwriting to Muriel Stafford, Chicago Tribune, postoffice box 1720.

2. Inclose 16 cents [carefully wrapped] for each sample of handwriting you wish analyzed.

3. Inclose a self-addressed, STAMPED envelope, folded once.

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

"I can tell from his handwriting whether he's generous or stingy," said a stenographer. "I seem to be able to tell, though I don't know anything about graphology."

The young lady just uses her very shrewd head. The rules of graphology are based upon plain common sense as much as upon ceaseless experiments with handwritings.

Knowing nothing at all about handwriting psychology, which of these two writers as described would you think to be the generous one? The first has a cramped, careful handwriting with every o and a locked up tight. He starts high on the page and leaves no margin at all. The other starts about half way down the page, his writing is larger than the usual and his a's and o's are very wide open. The margins are irregular but deep.

Which person would YOU think was more generous? Yes, the person who wasted the paper, and you would be correct. If I had room enough in this column I'd show you the extremely generous type of writing. I'll give you an illustration of the other extreme instead.

This is the handwriting of a young lady. Her letters are narrow and unusually small. The words are placed very close to each other to save space, the word "and" is abbreviated twice. The writer is so extremely careful to use every speck of space that she turns her words in the margins, filling them in. This was not necessary, as she had two full pages left when she got through her letter, although she started the letter at the extreme top of the first page as if she were fearful of not having enough room.

Such writers are too thrifty. They do not know they are saving paper. It is the subconscious mind saving and scrimping with paper as the writer does with everything.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Unlike Hollywood contracts, those in broadcasting run for short terms—usually 13 weeks. Some run 26, and sponsors sometimes take options for longer terms. But a contract binding both performer and sponsor for as long as a year is exceptional.

Amos 'n' Andy, Rudy Vallee, Lum and Abner, and Lanny Ross are among the select few who have their names on contracts calling for their services for more than one year and at figures running into several thousand dollars a week. And now Jack Benny is reported closing a new contract with his present sponsor for three years. The salary has not been officially disclosed, but is said to total in excess of a million dollars.

The deal was prompted partly by the fancy offers of other concerns to the No. 1 entertainer of radio. He is said to have been sought by the sponsors of "Do You Want to Be an Actor?" as a prospective master of ceremonies for a Sunday evening revue. This sponsor is a major competitor of the food concern that now has him on the air.

There seems to be some doubt whether NBC will be able to put Bobby Breen, Eddie Cantor's boy singer, on the air in Gertrude Berg's new serial, "The Singing Kid." NBC had announced its intentions of so doing; then Sol Lesser, one of the child's managers, said, "Impossible, Eddie Cantor must be consulted before any contract is signed."

It seems to be a case of conflict between managers and agents.

And how did you like Cantor's characterization Sunday evening of Rubinoff as "The Russian Robert Taylor?"

Ted Peckham, the young New Yorker who paused here the other day to organize a branch of his Guide Escort service for lonely ladies, is to appear shortly on the Bing Crosby show. He is on his way to Hollywood now. Paramount is to make a picture, tentatively titled "Guide Service," using his idea. Peckham is writing the play and may be cast in the production.

Frank Black, conductor of the Contented Hour, missed his train in New York Sunday and arrived in Chicago just a few hours before the program was to go on the air last night. Roy Shield conducted all except the dress rehersal for Dr. Black.

Ethel Shutta is to make a guest appearance with Vincent Lopez and Floyd Gibbons on next Saturday's Speedshow. The Howard Brothers will be on hand, too.

SURVEY REVEALS TRUCKERS NEED A BETTER BREAK

Hurt by Lack of Uniform Laws, Says Foust.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—THE TRIBUNE'S trafic survey truck today has completed a transcontinental study tour of 3,727 miles, visiting eighteen states and the District of Columbia in an even three weeks. If the series of articles written en route has provoked any constructive thinking about the nation's motor transportation system, the trip has accomplished its purpose.

With this much living in the cab of a highway freighter, it might be permissible to draw some general conclusions which may be discounted, if you like, as merely the opinion of one observer.

Trucking Is Neglected.

An outstanding impression from the ride here from New York is that there has been little constructive thinking by the general public about vehicular freighting. As a major unit of the country's transportation facilities, trucking deserves such consideration and is suffering from this neglect.

An irregular pattern of taxation and regulation is growing in the nation, designed not from facts and reasonableness, but from whims, from demands for more public revenue, and from the selfish influence of established common carriers, truckers as well as railroads. The trend toward more rigid regulation is depriving highway freighting of the flexibility that is its main advantage as a supplement to railroads.

Individual states, especially those west of the Mississippi river, have adopted truck laws that raise their boundaries as barriers to interstate highway commerce.

Washington Opposed Restraint.

The date today prompts an historical reference. George Washington as the first President, urged that there should be no restraints in the commercial intercourse among the states. The first article of the constitution of the United States covers this point.

Aside from the taxing and licensing schemes of the individual states, the lack of uniformity in equipment requirements is without sense.

On the broad plains of Texas, for example, a maximum load of 14,000 pounds is permitted when trucking to a railroad and a maximum of 7,000 pounds when passing a common carrier loading point. A much bigger load is permitted in mountainous New Mexico where the maximum, based on gross weight rather than load weight, is 18,000 pounds per axle with balloon tires.

Length restrictions for truck and trailer combinations range from 85 feet in five states to 35 feet in other states. On tractor semi-trailer jobs the range is from 85 feet in four states to 30 feet in Kentucky and 33 feet in three other states.

For single units, it's 26½ feet in Kentucky, 27 feet in Tennessee, 28 feet in three states, 60 feet in Nevada, 50 feet in Vermont, 45 feet in Oklahoma, and 40 feet in four states.

The objections to this variation of the statutes, some states outlawing trucks legal in other states, are palpable. The American Association of State Highway Officials has recommended the universal adoption maximum lengths of 35 feet for single units and 45 feet for combinations.

34 Feet Too Long.

With no less respect than state legislatures have shown for the association's recommendation, it may be reported that the 34 feet of THE TRIBUNE survey truck seemed too long on this transcontinental tour.

The desirability of a shorter maximum is a one man opinion against that of an association of highway officials. However, passenger car operators probably will agree with this reporter. Worth considering in this connection is the fact that new truck designs permit greater loading space per overall lengths.

Talk of Town

Seneca Falls, N. Y., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—This town is still talking about the party given recently by Dr. William L. Clark, a veterinary, in honor of his cat's 22d birthday. There were 300 guests and all the trimmings, including the cat, Tommy, who reposed in a miniature circus cage on the banquet table. Dr. Clark found Tommy on his doorstep one February night way back in 1915. President Roosevelt and Postmaster General Farley were invited to the affair, but failed to attend.

PARK 'PEG LEVY' DATA MARSHALED FOR LEGISLATORS

Needs Cited; Resolution of Inquiry Expected.

On the desk of every member of the legislature today will be a complete summary of the appropriation ordinance passed by the Chicago park district. The district is asking the general assembly to provide money for these appropriations by "pegging" the 1937 tax levy at $9,000,000. The figures were requested following a committee hearing at Springfield last week at which opposition to the bill developed.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the park board, and the office staf worked over the week-end preparing the booklet. Copies were taken to Springfield last night. Coincident with their presentation to the senators and representatives a resolution is expected to be introduced asking investigation of park expenditures before and after the consolidation of three major and nineteen minor park districts in 1933.

Realty Board Offers Resolution.

Representative Calvin T. Weeks, Chicago Republican, was handed the investigation resolution by the legislative committee of the Chicago Real Estate board, of which Lester W. Porter is chairman. Weeks said he would introduce it in the house today.

Most of the opposition to the park levy was directed last week against the "contingent actual requirements" of the district above those listed in the 1937 budget passed last December. The budget totaled $7,774,675.

The additional requirements add $1,835,395 to the burget, making a grand total of $9,610,070. Estimated miscellaneous income amounts to $610,070, so that the "pegged levy" total provides for a flat figure of $9,000,000.

New Parks Swell Total.

The largest item in the additional requirements is $1,339,400 for operation and maintenance of 925 acres of new land acquired by the board, including Burnham park, the Montrose avenue extension, and Calumet, Marquette, Riis, and Avalon parks. Second largest is $600,800 for rehabilitation of 28 miles of shore line bordering the various parks, much of which is described by Ralph H. Burke, chief engineer, as being in "precarious" condition.

To install purification and chlorination equipment in 34 swimming pools the board asks $510,000, and another half a million is required to begin construction of a breakwater at North avenue which, when completed, will create one of the longest bathing beaches in the world.

The park district hopes to start construction of the breakwater this year. Once it is constructed the new beach will take the place of the popular Oak street beach.

UNDER 2 SENTENCES FOR LIFE, HE OFFERS TO BE 'GUINEA PIG'

Julius Bohannon.

"I want to help my children get an education," said the square jawed prisoner, now under two life sentences.

"He wants to be a guinea pig," Colvert said, "and if some medical organization is anxious to perform some experiments with new medicines or drugs I think the way is open."

HINT JAIL PLOT IN GIRL'S VISIT TO LIFER'S CELL

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Detectives sought to determine tonight whether a wrench found in the cell of Dayton Dean, Black Legion trigger man, had any connection with the unofficial visit to him Saturday night by a 17 year old ward of the women's detention home, Lucille Turner, Asheville, N. C., hitch hiker.

John A. Hoffman, chief of detectives investigated the possibility of an escape plot by Dean, who is under life sentence for murder, but has been testifying in several cases involving Black Legion members.

Hoffman said Dean told police he got the wrench from Raymond Andrews, allegedly a former member of a kidnap gang who occupied the cell with Dean several months. The detective chief said Andrews was questioned and said he got the wrench from Joseph [Legs] Laman, reputed former leader of the gang. The police are seeking Laman.

QUIZ 2 WOMEN ABOUT SLAYING OF EX-CONVICT

Jack Cerone, 23 years old, 814 North Avers avenue, and two women who were with John [Little Duke] Dolf, 32 years old, former convict, shortly before he was shot to death early Monday morning, were questioned by the Warren avenue police yesterday in an effort to get a clew to the murderers. The inquest was continued to March 9 to allow the police time for further investigation.

Mrs. Antoinette LaMantia, 20 years old, 3514 West Huron street, and Miss Anne Imbordino, 21 years old, 432 North Ridgeway avenue, testified at the inquest yesterday that they chatted with Dolf in the Marine club shortly before he was killed. Police quizzed the women after the hearing, then released them.

The slaying of Dolf, whom the parole board had treated kindly during his three prison sentences, was a sequel to a dance given Sunday night to raise defense funds for James Barcella, alias Marcella, 22 years old.

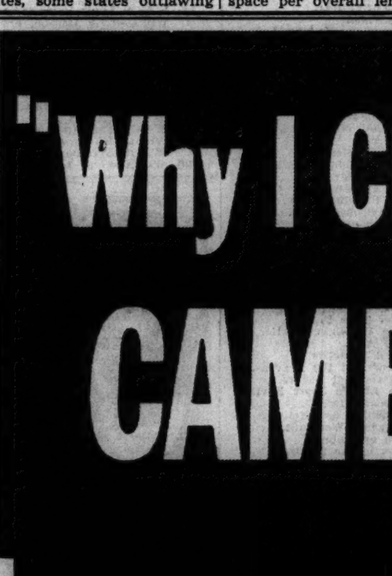
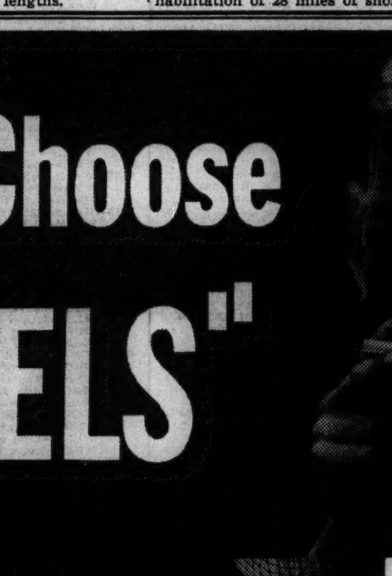
"Why I Choose CAMELS"



THE CHAMPION GIRL broncobuster and attractive rodeo star, Rose Davis, says: "Camels always appeal to my taste, but I think the Camels I smoke with my meals and after are the most enjoyable."



"CAMELS ARE A HELP in keeping me pepped up," this vivacious TWA hostess, Betty Steffen, says. "I see many famous people. And I've been struck by the fact that most of them smoke Camels."

NATIONAL OUTBOARD MOTORBOAT CHAMPION, Fred Jacoby, Jr., faces punishing strain in every race. "My condition is just as important as the engine. That's why Camel is my cigarette," says Fred.

"I'M A SECRETARY," says Joselyn Libby, "and I often eat in a hurry. I smoke Camels. When I enjoy Camels with my food and after I feel on top of the world. 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel.'"

JIMMIE FOXX
slugging first baseman of the Boston Red Sox says:

"I STICK by Camels and Camels stick by me. Camels set me right. I smoke Camels for their refreshing 'lift,' and for the aid they give my digestion. My appetite leans to plenty of good solid chow. Camels help me feel my food agrees with me."

Enjoy Camel's costlier tobaccos the whole day through. At mealtimes Camels are an aid to digestion—speeding up the flow of digestive fluids—increasing alkalinity—bringing a sense of well-being. And when you're tired, get a "lift" in energy with a Camel. Steady smokers prefer Camels. They are so mild!

CHIEF ENGINEER G. J. Buckingham says: "I wouldn't want to be on the high seas without my Camels. It's a strain keeping tons of high powered machinery under control. Camels help ease the tension."

"THE SMART new touch in entertaining is to have Camels on the table," says Miss Dorothy Malone, food editor.

"MARK ME DOWN as another who appreciates how mild Camels are," says all-events bowling champion, Johnny Murphy.

"I WANT A CIGARETTE that doesn't jangle my nerves," says master welder Dan Rafferty. "And Camels don't."

GOING DOWN the compression locks. In the words of Sidney S. Wetzel, tunnel engineer: "My work involves constant danger. That's why I always smoke Camels. Camels do not frazzle my nerves—ever."

THE LIGHTNING SWORD PLAY of Bela de Tuscan, fencing instructor, is faster than the eye. He says: "Believe me, I need every ounce of energy when fencing. So I welcome the 'lift' that I get with a Camel."

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

90 GOLDEN GLOVES FIGHTS TONIGHT IN 3 RINGS

DEFEATS MARS COLT BY LENGTH BEFORE 45,000

Ptolemy Third in $50,000 Race.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Arcadia, Cal., Feb. 22.—Fairy Hill, 3 year old chestnut gelding from William du Pont Jr.'s Foxcatcher Farm stable, came like a projectile in a stretch drive with Mrs. Ethel Mars' Military to win the $50,000 added Santa Anita Derby by a length before 45,000 today.

The unexpected victory of the Maryland gelding returned backers $30.80, $20.60, and $13.20 for $2 tickets.

The stretch tussle between Fairy Hill and Military, which paid $14.80 and $10.40, swept Brown Jade to fourth after Movie Producer William LeBaron's brown filly, racing with blinkers to keep her on the rail, had set the pace for all but the last furlong. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's Ptolemy finished third and paid $13.

Tedious Is Favorite.

Time for the one and one-sixteenth miles was 1:45 4-5, considerably off the track and Derby records.

A. G. Vanderbilt's Tedious, favorite in the field of 21, never figured in the race. Norman Church's Sir Oracle and Mrs. W. H. Furst's $25,000 Gerald, winners in the last weeks' Derby warmups, likewise wound up in the rear. Sir Oracle showed early speed and got to the turn with Brown Jade, Fairy Hill, and Papenie, but fell back as Military pounded up from behind.

Gerald finished fifth, Sir Oracle twelfth, and Tedious thirteenth.

Mutuel Handle Up.

The mutuel handle on the Derby was $183,584. Last year $131,932 was bet on the race. Total handle for the day was $1,177,674, against $732,921 on the same day last year.

The start was delayed several minutes. A roar went up when Gerald and Valdina Farm's Eagle Pass suddenly bolted away. No Dice, Clingendal and Half Time likewise were over-anxious. Five of the horses had to start from outside the barrier. It was the most congested start since Santa Anita opened in 1934.

Clingendal, with the No. 1 post position, was crowded out as the large field left the gate, while Tedious, Maj. Austin C. Taylor's Whichcee, and No Dice, leading candidates forced to start outside the gate, were lost in the early scramble.

Brown Jade Takes Lead.

Brown Jade went to the front, with Mrs. G. J. Chatvaire's Papenie, the Fairfield Stable's Best Beau and Half Time grouped in the lead. Turning into the back stretch, Fairy Hill moved into second place, two lengths behind Brown Jade, with Sir Oracle, third. Brown Jade, Fairy Hill and Sir Oracle battled down the back stretch and turned for home in the same lineup.

Jocky Archie Robertson on Military and little Bobby Dotter on Ptolemy then began their drive and forged past the fading Brown Jade.

Fairy Hill's victory was the second important triumph in three days for the William duPont Jr.'s Foxcatcher Stable. Its Rosemont won the $7,500 San Antonio handicap Saturday and is an outstanding favorite in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap next Saturday.

The Derby purse was divided as follows: $45,425 to Fairy Hill; $10,000 to Military, which was carried adroitly through the jam at the turn by Jocky Albert Robertson; $5,000 to Ptolem, and $2,500 to Brown Jade.

The race was run under ideal weather conditions. A bright sun and 75 degree temperature brougnt out well known society, business, and motion picture figures, who made it a spring fashion parade.

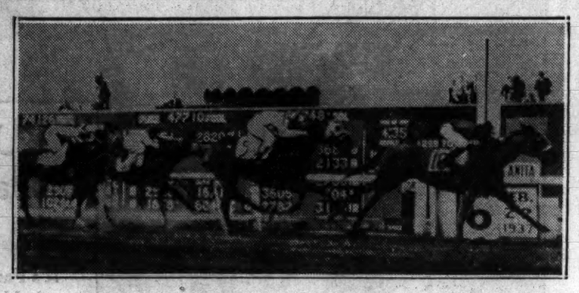
IT'S DERBY DAY ON COAST



Fairy Hill wins $50,000 Santa Anita Derby by a length from Military before 45,000 at Santa Anita. The time for the one and one-sixteenth miles was 1:45 4-5. [Associated Press Wirephotos.]

Raising Cain Is Expensive, J. Lou Finds

BY EDWARD BURNS.

J. Lou Comiskey, baseball's big I-can-not-tell-a-lie man, yesterday celebrated Washington's birthday by getting madder than ever about the matter of raising Cain, one of his recalcitrant pitchers.

Several days ago Mr. Comiskey was very irate because Cain had spurned salary raise offers because Cain wanted to stay in Carrollton, Ga., to milk his cow, Bossy. Mr. Comiskey said at the time that he had offered to raise Cain $1,000 and had been rewarded by a sassy letter from the player, whose first name is Merritt and whose nickname is Sugar.

Bonura Irks J. Lou.

Yesterday, upon receipt of a letter from Zeke Bonura, the Sox boss got even madder. He took his ledger in hand and found he had erred in reporting his offers to raise Cain.

"I can not tell a lie," said Mr. Comiskey after the review of his correspondence. "I offered Cain a raise of $2,000 instead of $1,000 as I said the other day. He was getting $5,500 on the contract I took over from St. Louis and it seems to me that raising Cain $2,000 is a pretty good percentage boost."

After Mr. Comiskey and we had had our fun with timely jokes about the cherry tree, truth and gags about raising Cain, the Sox owner was urged to talk about Bonura.

Zeke's Nice About It, Anyway.

"Bonura and I still are $3,500 apart," said J. Lou. "My personal feeling is that the $1,500 raise I have offered this player is enough. I might give a little were I depending solely on my own judgment, but Manager Jim Dykes has advised me that Bonura isn't worth any more than he got last year. Jim is a good front man for his players and when he talks that way I know he means it. So if Bonura is pepped up on information about my negotiations with Luke Appling, in which I went for a $3,500 ride over my first offer, he'll do well to cool off.

"I'll say for Bonura that unlike

Stuart Erwin, the film comedian, doesn't seem to think much of the Derby choice of his wife, Actress June Collyer.

Cain he didn't get saucy. Told me how he's in the best physical shape of his life and how he's just throbbing to play for the dear old White Sox and me personally. But he kept bobbing in and out with that request for $3,500 more than I am going to give him."

Zeke Speaks Up.

About the time Mr. Commy was talking about Bonura, Zeke was submitting to an interview in New Orleans. According to dispatches from that port Zeke said:

"Somebody has led Mr. Comiskey to believe I want $15,000. That is partly my fault, first because I had not, until a few days ago, written him telling him what I expect, and second, have not until now denied the erroneous report.

"But I want the fans and my friends in Chicago to know I am not unreasonable and I don't mind saying I am asking for a whole lot less than $15,000. Furthermore, I do not believe I belong on any holdout list."

J. Lou said he had reasons to believe Rip Radcliff's signed contract will be in within a day or two. A $500 raise in addition to one originally offered satisfied Rip. Even as J. Lou was mentioning it, Rip had pen in hand at Enid, Okla., and was affixing his sign to the document.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Michigan's basketball team routed Purdue here tonight, 31 to 16. The victory kept the Wolverines in the Western conference race with seven victories and two defeats. Purdue failed to make a point in the last ten minutes.

The first half was played slowly with Michigan in the lead almost until the last minute. The Wolverines were forced to be content with an 8 to 8 tie at the intermission, Young of Purdue sinking a free throw and Co-Capt. Jimmy Seward a long shot just before the period ended.

Purdue Goes Ahead.

Purdue took the lead for the first time as the second half opened on Johnny Sines' free throw, but Michigan again assumed command, 12 to 9, on Gee's two baskets. The Wolverines then spurted into an 18 to 11 lead which was cut down by Eugene Anderson's two baskets.

After a time out Michigan's attack again began to function and with six minutes left the Wolverines held a 26 to 16 lead. Dale Hutt of Purdue then went in for Young and on the first play Townsend threw a long pass to Gee under Purdue's basket. Fishman made good a free throw and Townsend took Gee's pass for a Michigan basket as the game ended.

Luck of the draw pitted Al Noto against his older brother, Johnny, in a first round flyweight bout in the Tournament of Champions at Chicago Stadium, last night. Al, winner of a Catholic Youth organization novice championship last December, making his first appearance in the open division, gracefully withdrew and Johnny advanced by default.

Survivors in the competition last night and tonight will not have to weigh in again when they report at the Stadium tomorrow for quarter-final matches. They must show up between 12 noon and 2 p. m. tomorrow for examinations and pairings.

All except four of the 197 champions from the various centers in the wide Golden Gloves territory passed the physical exam and weighing-in preliminaries last night.

After receiving instructions, the fighters visited restaurants within range of the Stadium and partook of broiled steaks and trimmings preparatory to returning to the west side for opening matches.

The show is on!

America's strongest young men—champions from seventeen states embracing Chicago and forty-three cities—marched into the Chicago Stadium last night and, to the accompaniment of stirring music from the mighty organ, were given a hearty welcome as they opened the first night's program of the tenth annual Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

These were not hit and miss battles. Each boy was a champion in his own right and when one of them went down he was out flat.

Still no one gave him anything except praise. It was considered sensational that he had traveled so far along the road to victory.

Big Boys Tonight.

Boxers in the four lower weight divisions and 32 of Chicago's novice scrappers furnished last night's fireworks. The big boys—welters, middies, 175 pounders, and heavies—will do the firing tonight. Ninety bouts are scheduled in three rings. Fighting will start at 7 o'clock.

Oklahoma City	6	0	Joliet	2	1
C. Y. O., Chicago	6	0	Minneapolis	2	1
South Bend	5	1	Ogden Star	2	1
Detroit	5	1	Burlington	2	3
Gary	5	2	Fort Worth	2	3
Fort Wayne	5	2	Kenosha	2	3
Centralia	4	1	Lafayette	2	3
Cleveland	4	1	Lexington	2	3
Grand Rapids	4	1	Peoria	2	3
Green Bay	4	1	Streator	2	3
Milwaukee	4	1	Dayton	1	2
Sioux City	4	2	Indianapolis	1	2
Bloomington	4	2	Cedar Rapids	1	3
Evansville	4	2	Quincy	1	4
Kansas City	4	2	Vincennes	1	4
Nashville	4	3	Kokomo	0	3
Omaha	3	1	Michigan	0	3
Danville	3	2	Atlanta	0	4
Davenport	3	5	Huntington	0	4
Springfield	3	3	Rockford	0	4
Terre Haute	3	3	St. Louis	0	4
Chicago sections	3	4	Wisconsin	0	4

This record includes defaults and byes.

The remarkable showing of the Oklahoma City team made up of five American Indians and three lads from the oil fields, was the sensation of the tournament.

The Oklahoma lads were brilliant boxers. They won all their bouts except one. Junior O'Neil, the Oklahoma City bantamweight, knocked out Bob Bender of Wisconsin Rapids in the second round for the sixth Oklahoma triumph.

Among the winners was William Joyce, slashing Gary featherweight. Bill knocked out Gene Marti of Kokomo in the second round. Later on he came back and whipped Joe Du Pont, C. Y. O. champion, in a sensational scrap which went the full three rounds. Joyce boxed skilfully and tossed terrific punches when they were needed.

Patsy Urso Beaten.

The Ursos of Detroit did only fairly well. The old campaigner, Patsy, was whipped the first time he climbed into the ring. Eli Castro of Kansas City eliminated him.

Castro advanced to tomorrow's quarter-finals by beating Levi De Cora of Sioux City, Indian, in three rounds. It caused Castro to loom up as the dark horse of the tournament.

Thirty-two novice bouts gave the customers as much satisfaction per punch as their more experienced brethren in the open division. These acolytes were restricted to the novice class because none had won a bout in a major tournament, but for all that they fought as stoutly as their elders.

It's a Tough Grind.

To the eager seekers in the open bouts, however, there was a far more important goal—a diamond studded golden glove. But the route thereto is such as only a real champion can travel.

Let's take a boy who made his bid on one of last night's three stages. He put his man down in the second round. The big throng cheered him.

Presume that our young tiger was not fortunate enough to draw a bye. Therefore he must come out fighting again before the night is over. And that second bout proved to be a far tougher one than the first, for his opponent also had beaten his opening foe.

Our hero wins the decision, but

PITT ATHLETIC STRIFE ADMITTED BY SUTHERLAND

Friction Between Coach, Athletic Director.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Dr. John Bain Sutherland, head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, returned to Pittsburgh tonight and answered reports of friction in the Pitt athletic department with the assertion that "certain matters will have to be straightened out to my satisfaction."

He admitted there had been differenccs between himself and W. Don Harrison, director of athletics, but would make no statement when asked directly if he was contemplating leaving the university.

"It is true that Mr. Harrison and I have not been agreeing on certain matters concerning the football team," Sutherland said, "and those affairs will have to be straightened out to my satisfaction."

Just what the differences are nobody seemed able to say definitly. But among the students and followers of Pitt there was discussion of reports that Sutherland wanted to lend football players money to attend a dance after they trounced the University of Washington in the Rose Bowl game last New Year's day and that Harrison refused to agree.

There also was some talk of the transfer of three members of Sutherland's coaching staf to Carnegie Tech. That, however, was discounted by Harrison.

TWO BOB was always close to the pace, came around field in stretch and finished very fast. GENIE PALATINE got away fast, showed speed but stopped when caught. REMINDING closed a big gap. "I Found It Through a Dodge Dealer's Classified Ad"

● "A Dodge dealer's classified ad in my newspaper led me straight to the biggest bargain in a used truck I ever saw," says George Trupp, nurseryman. "It was just the make and model I wanted. Spick and span inside and out. And on the trial spin, it performed like a new truck. So you can bet I snapped it up, especially when it was priced at least $45 below the market value. I knew full well that it was a dependable truck and that I could count on it being exactly as represented. Being offered by a Dodge dealer was assurance enough on that score for me. Dodge dealers certainly do have the bargains in dependable used cars and used trucks. I found that out when I bought mine."

TITLE BOUT SET, JACOBS MOVES TO PACIFY GARDEN

Suggests Schmeling as Foe of Chicago Winner.

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The possibility of a compromise by which the winner of the Joe Louis-Jim Braddock title fight in Chicago would meet Max Schmeling, the German challenger, in New York in September failed to interest Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden, tonight.

"I see no chance of a compromise along that or any other line," Col. Kilpatrick said after hearing about a suggestion put forward by Mike Jacobs of the rival 20th Century Sporting club.

Will Produce Schmeling.

Jacobs, just back from seeing negotiations completed for Braddock and Louis to fight for the championship at Comiskey park, Chicago, on June 22, consulted legal advice before issuing a statement in which (1) he denied doing anything to impair the Garden's contract for a Schmeling-Braddock title bout here; (2) stated he had been advised nothing can "lawfully" stop the Louis-Braddock match, and (3) offered what looked like an olive branch to the Garden.

"If, on account of conditions beyond my control, the Braddock-Schmeling fight fails to materialize," said Jacobs, "I am confident I can persuade the winner of the Braddock-Louis match to meet Schmeling within sixty days.

"My position with regard to the Schmeling-Braddock contract remains unchanged. I stand ready and willing to produce Max Schmeling. It is up to Madison Square Garden to produce Braddock.

Garden Girds for Fight.

"Nothing that was done in Chicago in any way impairs the Braddock-Schmeling contract, or my contracts with Madison Square Garden in connection with that bout. I could not in all fairness to Joe Louis prevent him from making a match with Braddock. The Braddock-Louis match will go through in Chicago, as scheduled, on June 22, and I am advised that nothing can lawfully stop this match."

To this Col. Kilpatrick's reply is that the Garden intends "to see this thing through," namely, to use every legal means to enforce its agreement for a Schmeling-Braddock fight.

LINDSTROM, FREE AGENT AGAIN, IS READY TO PLAY

Not Upset Over Release by Dodgers.

Freddie Lindstrom, who became one of the National league's greatest heroes, via Chicago's south side and later Loyola academy, was not saddened last night by the fact that earlier in the day the Brooklyn Dodgers had given him his unconditional release.

The 31 year old blond who made his entrance into major league baseball as a protégé of the late John J. McGraw, and later went to the Pittsburgh Pirates, thence to the Cubs, and ultimately to the Dodgers, stated last night that he is convinced there still is a lot of baseball left in him.

Ready to Sign.

He stressed the point to the extent of announcing that he is more than willing to sign up with any major league team in need of a man who possesses speed, hitting ability, and an all around knowledge of the game.

Freddie, who made his big time debut in the world series of 1924, recently was mentioned as a candidate for the manager's post with the Louisville Colonels, but that possibility eventually glimmered. He is still being mentioned for a front office job with the Jersey City club.

Broke in with Giants.

For himself, however, the Chicagoan feels he is still able to fill a playing job with a major league team. Freddie practically was raised on the big time, starting his career with the Giants in 1924, when he was 18 years old. Following the 1932 season, he was traded to Pittsburgh, and in 1935 came to the Cubs. Last year he was signed by the Dodgers, but appeared in only a few games, injuries overtaking him with the result that he finally requested that he be placed on the voluntary retired list. A month ago he was granted a request for reinstatement.

"There must be a spot for me in the 'big time'," he said last night. "I'm in good condition right now, and I'm going down to Florida to improve myself still further in the sunshine. I've got a little place down there that will give me all I need for training. But I will not sell myself to the minors except in a managerial or on a profit sharing basis."

90 Fights on Golden Gloves Card Tonight

where is he? Close to the run for home? No, he still has the grueling journey through the backstretch. There remains tomorrow night. Again he must win two bouts, and still the little mitt of gold with the diamond is not his.

He must return to the Stadium on March 5.

What awaits him there? Two more bouts, and that's where the true Golden Gloves seeker proves himself. If he brings off those two victories he can go back home and show the folks the highest prize in amateur boxing.

He won't have to show it to a lot of them, for there were dozens of home town delegations at the Stadium last night, cheering their favorites to the echo. Some of those citizens went out of the big west side arena confident that their young hopes will be up for the final curtain in the grand finals on March 5.

Some Must Lose.

Others left a trifle sad, but with the knowledge that little Homer or Ludwig will be back next year with a better chance of bringing home that prized jewelry.

From the beginning of the show until shortly after 11 o'clock, the customers kept twisting necks from one ring to another in attempting to follow the action. And they came to know that the Tournament of Champions is faithful to its name. It does not confine itself to the midlands of our country.

They saw boxers from way down there in Texas, from the Rocky mountains, from the Alleghenies and for the first time, a brave band from the northland country of Minnesota. Truly, it was as big a national cast as boxing ever had seen, and one which spoke its lines with left jabs and right crosses as it settled down to the three day task of bringing the play to a grand climax.

Who Knows?

Names in this newest gloves festival began to have a familiar ring last night. It will be all the more so after tonight's scraps.

Perhaps we have been watching a fellow who will be drawing million dollar gates in the future.

Who knows?

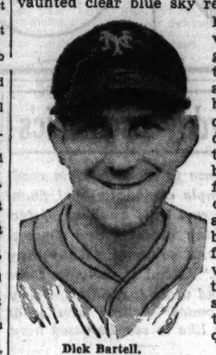
HAVANA, Cuba, Feb. 22.—Cuba's vaunted clear blue sky retreated behind a network of gray clouds today and a spanking breeze cracked down from the north, bringing refreshing coolness and a number of unforseen developments to the Giant swanky training quarters.



Dick Bartell.

It blew Dick Bartell right into bed with a heavy cold that weakened him to such an extent that the shortstop decided further dickering over his contract would be futile. So, with a physician ministering to him on one side and Secretary Eddie Brannick advancing solicitiously from the other with a pen in hand, Bartell surrendered and signed his contract.

Joe Moore also has fallen victim to a heavy cold, but thus far hasn't let it alter his salary stand. Moore, along with Hank Leiber and Harry Danning, still remains unsigned, but all three, as well as the missing Roy Spencer, are expected to capitulate before long.

AMBERS WINS OVER AL ROTH AT NEW YORK

In the Wake of the News

TROUBLED FINANCE.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Feb. 22.—Friend Arch: Well, Arch, as I look out my bedroom window at the restless Atlantic tossing its mighty waves to break in foamlike surf on our broad expanse of sandy beach [that'll be about all of that nature stuff], it reminds me, I don't know why, that I've been so busy working hard for you that I haven't communicated much, except those two extremely personal telegrams, with the home office.

But now I feel we ought to discuss the high price of beef under Secretary Wallace's scarcity program, secondarily because it concerns the nation and primarily because it concerns my expense account. In short, do you feel I ought to continue eating steak dinners along the route on my return trips from Hialeah?

As explained before leaving Chicago, I thought you ought to allow me a larger sum in the expense account for trips to Hialeah and the figure we reached was satisfactory then. I haven't seen the stock yards quotations at Chicago, but beef must have risen considerably for when people began arriving in greater numbers about Feb. 15, steak dinners at many places went up 50 cents per dinner.

Of course, Arch, you may think I better stick to sea food, but on the other hand, one attempting to improve the breed of thoroughbreds really needs the muscle value of steak to cope with the situation. Again, you might think I could eat here at Brownie's or at "Ma" Malone's, but that makes it pretty late after the 23 mile drive from Hialeah. Brownie's steaks are all right, too, but you still have to stand in line to get into his place.

"Ma" Malone's, as you remember, is out at the beach near our cottage. It's one of my favorites, too, because you can get spare ribs and sauer kraut there even if she did take out the draft beer bar when she enlarged. [I mean when she enlarged the place]. And that's 25 miles from Hialeah. So if you'll drop me a note I'll appreciate knowing whether it's fair to the paper to add 50 cents to my expense account on days I work for you at Hialeah.

I was sorry about those two telegrams asking a small advance on my semi-monthly honorarium, but here's how it happened. I was holding my own pretty well improving the breed of thoroughbreds and of greyhounds, although I had not accumulated any unearned increment, when I undertook to improve the breed of roulette wheels. Well, the little pill on two separate nights simply wouldn't drop into the 17 hole, but I kept thinking it would.

You know gamblers say 17 is a sucker number. I wouldn't know so well about that but it certainly was for two nights. Since then it's improved greatly, so if you happen to see Dorothy Stone before she sends the next honorarium, tell her it's not necessary to put on air mail and special delivery stamps as I asked her to do on the last pay check letter.

President Harridge and Henry Edwards of the American league are at Miami Beach. Will probably see them at Hialeah. When you go to the track you wonder if anyone's left in Chicago to keep the home electricity burning. Hoping you are the same. Regards.

Harvey T. Woodruff.

P. S. I'm not in dire need now, but soon will send in the first instalment of the good old expense acct. Meantime, please let know about that 50 cent raise in steak prices. HTW.

GOPHERS WIN, 44-25

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 22.—[Special.]—Minnesota clung to a chance to tie for the Big Ten basketball lead tonight by defeating Iowa, 44 to 25. Aside from the first half, when Minnesota was prone to coast, the result was never in doubt. The Gophers led, 26 to 19, at the half.

Minnesota drew away swiftly in the second half, running the count to 39 to 22.

Gordon Addington led Minnesota with 13 points. Stephens was Iowa's most effective performer, making four baskets and three free throws for 11 points.

N. U. WINS, 44-29

Northwestern ended Ohio State's conference title hopes last night when Dean Smith led the Purple to a 44 to 29 victory at Patten gym. Smith made 21 points on eight field goals and five free throws, enjoying able passing assistance from Sophomore Jim Currie. McMichaels collected 10 points on three field goals and four free throws. The Wildcats made good on 14 out of 19 free throw attempts.

Northwestern led, 20 to 9, at the half. Ohio State pulled up to 22 to 13, but Smith launched a personal point-a-minute rally. He scored 15 points in the last half.

The shooting of Smith and McMichael and the smooth ball handling of Currie were the bright spots in an otherwise loose performance.

Hull led Ohio State with three baskets and three free throws, all in the second half. Tippy Dye was held to three field goals.

CHRISTY GIVEN DECISION OVER PAT ROBERTSON

Jimmy Christy, 132½, won an eight round decision over Pat Robertson, 129¼, last night at Marigold Gardens. In the seventh round they accidentally knocked their heads together and Christy bled profusely from a cut high on his forehead. Robertson went down for no count in the seventh round from a right hand punch to the chin. Robertson, however, staggered Christy several times in the early rounds.

Johnny Brown, stable mate of Christy, beat Sammy Scoglio and Harry Booker defeated Art Greer, each in four rounds.

U. OF WISCONSIN SKIER DEFEATS NORWEGIAN STAR

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 22.—(AP)—A University of Wisconsin youth outjumped Sverre Kolterud today in the Lake Placid Snowbirds' ski tourney to give the Norwegian skier his first setback in American competition. Paul Bietila won the class A jump on Intervales hill with a leap of 61½ meters, approximately 185 feet, as Kolterud, winner of the downhill and Slalom events, finished third with a jump of 58 meters. Bietila's jump gave him 214.2 points and the Dunn trophy. Because of the cancellation of the cross-country race scheduled this morning no combination trophy for the three day meet was awarded Kolterud of the Norsemen Ski club, New York, therefore received individual awards for his firsts.

GEORGE COYLE LOSES

Coyle, the only 1936 champion to return to the glove wars, was left-jabbed to defeat by the 22 year old Arkansan, who is a sophomore at the University of Mississippi and represents the Memphis Commercial-Appeal in the tournament. Medlock was one of 56 boxers to gain the semi-finals in seven novice and open classes in all weight divisions.

TAKES THE "STARCH" OUT OF WHISKERS!

"PEPPER" MARTIN, dynamic outfielder and a leading base stealer of the St. Louis Cardinals, says: "Williams sure takes every bit of 'starch' out of my whiskers. And that's a record, too, with a heavy stubble like mine."

YOUR BEARD need not be as wiry or thick as "Pepper" Martin's or Lou Gehrig's to make shaving a real job.

Cutting off 40,000 hard, horny bristles every morning is enough to make any face sore and tender—unless you use a "twin-action" shaving cream . . . like Williams.

First, Williams thick, wet lather dissolves the film of oil that covers each whisker—then soaks every bit of "starch" out of your beard.

HOME-RUN KING Lou Gehrig recently established a world's record by playing in his 1,800th consecutive game. He says: "My beard's like barbed wire—only Williams 'Twin-Action' Shaving Cream takes out that stiffness. And a dash of Aqua Velva feels cool and refreshing after my morning shave."

Soaks Whiskers Softer

Made by a special homogenizing process, Williams Shaving Cream has a greater capacity to hold water than ordinary creams. 1. It soaks the "starch" out of your whiskers quicker. 2. It instantly softens scaly outer skin—allows blade to shave off each hair at the base. Try a tube.

'L' LINES ASK BIDS ON TRAINS BUILT OF METAL

Design Streamlined, Articulated Type.

Railroad car builders have been requested by the Chicago Rapid Transit company—the elevated lines—to submit cost estimates for constructing two streamlined, articulated all-metal trains of the finest type ever built, the road announced yesterday. Engineers for the Rapid Transit company prepared the specifications.

The car builders are to submit bids after which Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who has jurisdiction because the road is in bankruptcy reorganization, will be asked to approve purchase of the trains.

Suitable for either elevated or subway railway operations, the new trains will be, in effect a single car divided into five units, with seating capacity for 196 passengers. Each train will be 182.8 feet long, the front and rear units being 40.10 feet long and the three center units 33.8 feet each.

Maximum Speed Increased.

Each train, or car as it is designated by the Rapid Transit engineers, will have twelve motors, which would be used both for power and operation of the control equipment. Maximum speed would be approximately 50 miles an hour, compared with the approximately 40 mile an hour maximum speed of existing trains.

The type of metal to be used will be left to the car builders, but it is expected it will be light weight high tensile steel. The weight fill be about 180,000 pounds, or about 60 per cent of the weight of a four car train of the type now operated.

As in the latest types of street cars and buses introduced in Chicago recently, the new trains will be capable of fast acceleration and deceleration, which will be controled automatically. Both acceleration and breaking will be at the rate of 3 miles per second.

Units Will Be Connected.

Each of the units will be connected by steel rods, which will give the effect of a single car. The ends of the interior units will ride over single trucks in similar fashion to the articulated railroad passenger trains. A swivel at the connection between each unit will permit the train to bend as it rounds a curve.

Entry and exit into the cars will be by doors in the middle of each unit. There will be no vestibules or platforms. Operation of the trains may be had at either end and power may be drawn either from third rail or trolley.

The specifications provide for attractive interiors, with the finish in metal or fireproof materials. Forced ventilating would be used and the use of air conditioning will be considered. Each unit will be brilliantly lighted.

Insulation To Reduce Noise.

Insulation of heavy rubber or some other material will be employed to reduce noise and the fact that the five units will run as a single car will eliminate the noises resulting from clashes of couplings in present trains.

Officials of the company said the two trains will be placed in operation for experimental purposes so that ideas can be developed for the purchase of equipment to replace obsolete cars. The cost of streamlined light weight trains of somewhat similar size has been ranging from $200,000 to $250,000 and the cost of the new trains is expected to be between these figures.

Pure Oil Profit Lower; Butler Bros. Has Gain

F. S. Cunningham.

Two of Chicago's leading business organizations—the Pure Oil company and Butler Brothers—yesterday issued their annual reports for 1936. Pure Oil experienced a decline in earnings because of higher costs, but Butler Brothers reported the largest profits since 1928.

The report for Pure Oil and subsidiaries, issued by Henry M. Dawes, president, disclosed net income of $7,658,372 for 1936, compared with $8,150,027 in 1935. Last year's profit was more than $5,000,000 above the average of the preceding four years.

Profit Equals $1.63 a Share.

Net earnings for 1936 were equal to $1.63 a share on common stock outstanding after dividend requirements on preferred stock. In 1935 earnings were equal to about $2 a share.

Gross operating income for 1936 was $106,114,326 on nearly 14 million dollars above the $92,416,785 for 1935. Operating and general expenses rose more than 15 millions to $86,316,307, against $71,066,726 in 1935.

Dawes reported that sinking fund notes were reduced by $3,500,000 during 1936 through the exercise of common stock purchase warants attached to the notes, that production of crude oil was 20,407,000 barrels, and that gasoline sales showed an increase of 12.95 per cent.

Butler Brothers' Report.

In its sixtieth anniversary report, issued by Frank S. Cunningham, president, Butler Brothers showed net profit of $1,908,100 for the year ended Dec. 31 last, equal to $1.70 a common share, against $1,284,907, or $1.17 a share, in 1935.

Cunningham reported that the two groups of owned retail stores—Scott and Burr—increased their combined earnings from $95,676 in 1935 to $149,794 in 1936.

With reference to the current year and outlook, Cunningham said:

"The year 1937 starts off well. Our gain in volume in the first six weeks was 17 per cent above the same weeks of last year. There appears to be an upward surge in consumer demand, which, for the present at least, is overriding obstacles that at other times would have checked progress at least temporarily."

Other Earnings Reported.

	1936.	1935.
Lockheed Aircraft....	$ 100,125	$ 217,986
Lamaque Gold Mines..	842,518	72,615
Reading company.....	6,515,071	5,714,173
Sterling Products.....	8,669,061	8,308,074
Walworth company....	519,218	*270,248

*Net loss.

Lockheed earnings were equivalent to more than 15 cents a share on the 657,546 shares outstanding, compared with 49 cents on 444,744 shares at the end of 1935.

Warns Nation Facing Trouble in FHA Loans

A warning that the government may face a difficult problem because of Federal Housing administration loans was given yesterday by Howard Holderness, Greensboro, N. C., vice president of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company, at the mid-year meeting of the American Life convention financial section at the Palmer house.

"The FHA should be discontinued," he said. "There is an abundance of money which the life companies and building and loan companies are willing and desirous of lending at a reasonable rate and on terms that are economically sound.

Many May Default.

"The FHA will insure loans up to 80 per cent, and there is a move in congress to get this increased to 90 per cent. If we use the past as a criterion there will be a lot of grief for the government on these FHA loans in the next depression, for a large number will go into default.

"This will necessitate foreclosure and acquisition of property and further issuance of obligations guaranteed by the United States government."

Gross interest earnings of life insurance companies will not approach the 1929 figure for many years to come, Don F. Roberts, treasurer of the Acacia Mutual Life Insurance company, Washington, D. C., told the convention.

Interest Income Lower.

"A very substantial portion of our seasoned investments has been and is still being refunded at lower interest rates," he said. "New money invested is bringing a lower rate of return than the average being received from the investment account as a whole. We should do everything within our power to keep expenses down in the hope that we can overcome, at least in part, the effects of lower gross earning."

Markets Reopen Today After Holiday

Business will be resumed today on the leading American stock and commodity exchanges after the holiday yesterday in observance of Washington's birthday. Banks also will be open as usual this morning. Most live stock exchanges throughout the country did not take a holiday yesterday. Markets in Europe and in Canada were open as usual yesterday.

Everyday Economics

In response to requests from readers for simple explanations of financial terms and brief analyses of factors affecting business and finance, THE TRIBUNE presents "Everyday Economics." Read it daily in these columns and write to "Editor, Everyday Economics," telling him what you would like to see discussed here.

Difference in Stocks, Bonds.

"I'm glad you have started 'Everyday Economics' to give a hand to those of us who are interested in high finance but don't know enough of the fundamentals to understand it clearly," writes Mrs. J. C. C. "If you promise not to publish my name I will confess that I'm not even sure I know the difference between stocks and bonds. Is this too elementary to write about?"

In general, the distinction is that stocks represent ownership of the business and the bonds represent debt. But there are many fine shadings between the two.

Ordinarily the stockholders are regarded as the owners of the company and the bondholders are the creditors. But what about preferred stock? In most cases the holders of preferred stocks, like the bondholders, do not share in increased earnings. Dividends on the preferred are usually set at a specific rate as is the interest on the bonds. This kind of preferred stock, therefore, is really not stock at all but more closely resembles a cheap variety of bond or debenture.

Recent amendments to the federal bankruptcy laws have introduced a new philosophy into the relations between stockholders and bondholders, under the "77 B" amendment the old idea that the bondholders' claims should be satisfied before there is anything left for the stockholders has given way to the newer theory that all classes of investors in a bankrupt firm should take a licking, the bondholders giving up something in order to keep the stockholders from being frozen out. Thus the stockholders now seem to be regarded as a group of junior creditors.

New York City contributes its bit to loose financial terminology by calling certain classes of its bonds "corporate stock."

Steel Mill Operating Rate Rises to 82.5% of Capacity

Steel production climbed to 82.5 per cent of the country's capacity this week, compared with 81.6 per cent a week ago, a gain of 0.9 of a point or 1.1 per cent, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday.

Senators Study Vast Fund for Social Security

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—(AP)—The senate finance committee ordered a study today to see if it is necessary for the social security system to accumulate a gigantic reserve fund of 47 billion dollars. It has been estimated that the reserve will reach that figure by 1980 if the present law remains unchanged. Some critics have maintained that such a reserve would be unnecessary and unmanageable.

The committee directed three of its members, Chairman Harrison [D., Miss.], Senator Byrd [D., Va.], and Senator Vandenberg R., Mich.] to join with social security board officials in setting up an advisory council composed of disinterested experts to make a study of the old age pension section of the act.

Quiz Social Security Chiefs.

Senator Vandenberg was supported by Senator Byrd in seeking the study as the committee interviewed social security officials on the subject.

Vandenberg presented to the committee, and later to the senate, a list of presidents of 60 insurance companies who he said were unanimous in agreeing "a full reserve plan is not necessary, and the government pension can be operated on a pay-as-you-go basis with a mere contingent fund."

Vandenberg said it would be easier for the taxpayer to meet the needs of each year than to accumulate the reserve and then pay interest on it. He and other Republicans have presented a resolution calling on the security board to submit to congress a plan for either increasing federal old age benefits or reducing pay roll taxes. The resolution also calls for extension of benefits to groups now excluded.

Could Speed Up Pensions.

A. J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board, told the committee it would be possible, under this plan, to start old age benefits sooner and to pay such benefits in more liberal amounts during the early years. He said it also would be possible to reduce pay roll taxes. Extending the system to cover excluded classes is "largely a problem of developing appropriate administrative processes," he told the committee.

Altmeyer warned that "if no interest bearing reserve is accumulated and no other revenue is provided the pay roll taxes required would probably have to be increased to 10 per cent by 1980."

FIELD'S TO PAY BACK DIVIDEND; PROFIT SOARS

Percy Wilson Named as Treasurer.

Marshall Field & Co. yesterday reported a gain of more than 1,300 per cent in earnings during 1936, and voted to clear up accumulated dividends of $23.50 a share on the prior preferred stock.

The report, issued by James O. McKinsey, chairman, showed consolidated net earnings of $2,878,745 for 1936, equal to 67 cents a common share, compared with profit of $199,176, or a deficit of $1.35 a common share in 1935. Last year's earnings were the largest since 1930 when net earnings totaled $4,724,728, or $1.82 a common share.

The $23.50 dividend will be paid on 9,819 prior preferred shares not exchanged under the recapitalization plan approved last Dec. 26. It totals $230,746 and pays dividends on the stock to March 31.

Dividend on New Stock.

The company also declared an initial dividend of $3 a share on the 286,371 shares of new 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock. The disbursement covers the period from Oct. 1, 1936, to March 31, 1937. Both payments are to be made March 31 to stock of record March 15.

McKinsey announced that Percy Wilson, general manager of the company's real estate division, has been elected treasurer to succeed Horace O. Wetmore, who resigned to become vice president of Blyth & Co., Inc., investment house. Wilson will continue to supervise the real estate division.

The sharp gain in earnings for 1936 was made in the face of lower net sales and was accounted for principally by a profit for the reorganized manufacturing division, against a heavy loss in 1935.

Net Sales Lower.

Net sales last year totaled $104,204,936, compared with $108,902,643 in 1935. The decline was due to the discontinuance of items and units in the manufacturing and wholesale divisions. Excluding the sales of these discontinued lines for both years, there was a gain of 17 per cent in sales for 1936 over the preceding year.

Current assets on Dec. 31 amounted to $42,740,218, including cash of $8,159,787, against current liabilities of $10,768,243. This compares with current assets of $47,735,791, cash of $11,287,204, and current liabilities of $9,836,203 at the close of 1935.

The report did not disclose the amount received from the sale of the Davis Store to Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., but showed a loss of $2,372,238 sustained on the sale of leaseholds and equipment of the Davis Store and two other stores disposed of during the year.

Readjustment of the Merchandise Mart, valued at $22,631,946 for buildings and equipment and $2,907,462 for air rights and land, accounted for the increased loss for the real estate division.

NONOPERATING RAIL UNIONS MAY FIX PAY DEMAND

Members of the 16 nonoperating railroad brotherhoods, who are holding a two day meeting at the Morrison hotel, are expected to agree today on a request for a wage increase. The five operating brotherhoods several weeks ago demanded a 20 per cent blanket wage boost from the railroads.

George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives association, who presided at yesterday's session, said he expects there will be no serious difficulty in arriving at agreement as to the amount of the increase. About 1,000 rail workers attended yesterday's session.

Harrison said no decision has been reached as to whether a flat or a percentage basis would be selected for the increase proposal. It is estimated that if the 16 nonoperating brotherhoods join with the 5 operating brotherhoods in asking a 20 per cent increase, the added cost to the railroads would be about $360,000,000 a year. There are now about 1,100,000 employés in the 21 brotherhoods.

METAL PRICES SOAR ABROAD; STOCKS FOLLOW

Markets Influenced by Race to Rearm.

Spurred by the demand of nations rushing to rearm, prices of copper and tin soared yesterday in wild trading in London, both metals advancing $30 a ton. The upturn in metals caused shares of companies producing metals or manufacturing war materials to stage a rally.

Markets in this country were closed. However, the London advance has put the price of export copper on a basis of 17 cents a pound in the United States, or 2 to 3 cents over the domestic price.

World War Buying Rivaled.

Scenes reminiscent of the feverish war days of 1914 took place yesterday on the London Metal exchange. Brokers did the largest business in history in copper, the day's turnover being 10,000 tons. Closing prices in London were as follows: Copper, standard, £69 5s; tin, £251 17s 6d; lead, £30 5s, and zinc, £29 17s 6d.

Prices of American Stocks.

Prices of leading American shares advanced in London. United States Steel closed at 117⅜, compared with the New York close on Saturday at 114¼. International Nickel closed at 74½, compared with the Saturday New York close at 72¼.

FOREIGN WHEAT MARKETS QUIET; PRICES MIXED

Liverpool Ignores 4 Cent Drop Here Saturday.

With domestic markets closed yesterday foreign wheat markets were quiet. Winnipeg futures closed ¼ cent lower to ¼ cent higher than on Saturday, Buenos Aires finished ⅝ to ⅞ cent lower, and Liverpool 1¼ to 1¼ cents lower. The Liverpool market, however, was stronger than had been anticipated, failing to reflect fully the 4 cent decline last Saturday in American markets.

Cash wheat trading at Winnipeg was quiet. Oats were firm toward the close as a result of scattered buying by mills. Rye and barley prices dropped a cent on early liquidation.

Timken Roller Bearing.

Investors' Guide: I am interested in the Timken Roller Bearing company. Kindly send me the facts about the stock as you see it.—E. S.

Answer: The outstanding maker of roller bearings, this company does a world-wide business. A policy of manufacturing only products of superior quality and passing on to consumers a large share of savings from more efficient operations has tended to hold down domestic competition.

Timken plants are located in Canton, Columbus, Mount Vernon, and Wooster, O., convenient to industries served. The company also has interests in British, French and German companies.

The largest market for Timken bearings is in the automobile industry where sales are made to practically every manufacturer except General Motors, which has its own facilities for producing bearings.

Sharp improvement in earnings during the last three years has been the result of efforts to diversify business as well as increased activity in the automobile industry. Bearings have been adapted to both passenger and freight equipment of the railroads, and a large proportion of bearings required on new light weight, haigh speed trains has been supplied by Timken.

A rock bit, introduced in 1934, is widely used in quarries and mines. The company is a large producer of electric and alloy steels, using about half of its output and selling the other half.

Net income declined from a 1929 peak of $14,926,000 to $2,571,000 in 1931, and a loss of $483,000 was sustained in 1932. The recovery curve showed net income of $2,173,000 or 90 cents per share in 1933, $3,486,000 or $1.45 a share in 1934 and $7,484,000 or $3.10 a share in 1935.

For the first nine months of 1936 net income was up to $6,631,000 or $2.75 a share, compared with $5,820,000 or $2.41 a share in the corresponding 1935 period. Net for all of 1936 is estimated to have been equal to more than $3.75 a share.

The estimate of 1936 earnings is based on dividend distributions of $3.75 a share during the year, including an extra of 75 cents and a quarterly dividend of 75 cents paid in December. Including extras, dividends amounted to $3 a share in 1935, $1.15 in 1934, 70 cents in 1933, $1.37½ in 1932 and $2.50 in 1931.

Sole capitalization outstanding consists of 2,411,380 shares of no par common stock. There is no funded debt. Financial position is strong.

BANKERS TO TAKE PART IN UNLISTED TRADING PLEAS

The Investment Bankers' association will take a more active part in determining whether unlisted securities be handled by over the counter dealers or whether they be traded on the unlisted departments of established stock exchanges, Edward B. Hall, president, announced yesterday.

He said this will be accomplished through a newly appointed committee which will determine when the association will oppose or support applications before the Securities and Exchange commission for admission or removal of securities from unlisted trading privileges on stock exchanges.

Hall said the committee will study applications for admission or removal of unlisted stocks to determine how the investor's best interests will be served. He explained that it is the policy of the association to encourage trading for any security in its natural market.

Report Roosevelt Plans to Modify U. S. Price Law

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Responsible officials said today a new wage-and-hour program under consideration by President Roosevelt envisioned relaxation of the Robinson-Patman price discrimination law. Informed persons said the proposed industrial program formulated by White House advisers would revamp the law in line with a suggestion to set up voluntary fair practice agreements among business men.

REAL ESTATE BOND CONTROL AIM OF NEW BILL

Formation of a new state bureau of real estate investments to supervise and regulate mortgage bond issues is planned in a bill to be introduced at Springfield today by Representative Ole E. Benson of Ottawa, according to George S. Lavin, attorney, who drew up the proposed legislation following four years of study. It is called the Illinois realty investment act.

The bill provides that the superintendent be authorized to act as depositary of realty investments whenever real estate is being reorganized in the federal courts, foreclosed in the state courts, or becomes distressed. Subject to the act would be every realty investment of $25,000 or more sold to twenty or more persons, and all real estate and mortgages securing such issues and all persons connected therewith.

The dollar rose in London and Paris yesterday, as New York markets remained closed. In London the pound closed at $4.89½, compared with $4.89⅜ on Saturday. In Paris the franc finished at 4.652 cents, against 4.655 cents on Saturday.

WEATHER CUTS LIVE STOCK RUN; PRICES ADVANCE

Meats Rise on Fears of Temporary Shortage.

Live stock and meat prices advanced sharply yesterday as snowy, icy highways and floods cut receipts at the stockyards. Arrivals were among the smallest for a Monday in many years, receipts totaling 25,000 head, compared with 46,875 the previous Monday and 51,370 two weeks ago.

Wholesale fresh meat markets were jolted out of the lethargy that has characterized meat trading since the Lenten season began. Some grades rose to the best levels in several weeks under brisk competition among retailers, who feared a temporary shortage.

Pork loins advanced 50 cents to $1.50 per hundred pounds, top light loins at $20.50, equaling the highest price since Jan. 12. Advances in beef, veal, lamb, and mutton ranged as high as 50 cents.

Receipts of hogs totaled 7,000, the smallest since last February. Prices advanced 25 cents, both the top quotation and average price at $10.50 and $10.30, respectively, gaining this amount. Gains of 50 cents to $1 occurred in lights and pigs.

Both cattle and lambs soared to new peaks for the winter. Top steers at $14.65 were the highest since January last year, while the lamb top at $11.15 was the highest since last June. The small run of cattle brought $15 to 25 cents higher rates, some of the "cheaper" grades of hefers showing a 35 to 50 cent advance.

Advances of 25 cents were general in lambs. Old sheep were steady. Full wool lambs sold at $10.75 to $11, summer shorn stock at $10.00, fall shorn at $9.50 and lambs clipped 30 days ago at $9.15.

Wealthy Greek Gambler Dines with Wally on Riviera—Father of Ten Is Slain in His Rifle Gallery

A NIGHT AT GOLDEN GLOVES

Spectators at last night's Golden Gloves tournament in Chicago Stadium were unaware of an approaching photographer. At the right (below) is a series of pictures illustrating the big night in the life of one of the 364 amateur fighters here from forty-four cities.

The winner! Announcer Maestro lifts hand.

Surprise elation, entertainment. Each of the spectators enjoyed a different reaction to the action in the three rings of the greatest amateur boxing show Chicago ever sees.
